Dr Leonard Reeves comes back to remind us of our resolve to live a healthier life in 2013.

Name of individual and position

Dr Leonard Reeves assistant dean of The Medical College of Georgia The Rome Campus.

Address & Phone #

415 east 3rd Street Rome, Georgia 30161//706-295-6325

Narrative describing the program

Dr Reeves discussed starting your new year on a good foot. He stresses the importance of setting goals that are easy to accomplish. If you tackle a mountain you get weary from trying to climb it. He says to start with your food and choose healthy veggies and fruits along with some lean protein. Use the smaller plate method and downsize the portions. Get some exercise and be active everyday instead of once in a while. Wear your seat belt and make time for entertainment of some sort. Meditate or read some kind of spiritual message. It helps to keep the mind active and at the same time involved. He states having a hobby and volunteering in your community helps to guide you in the right direction.
