The consolidation means that the county will perform poll worker recruitment, polling place recruitment, election day operations, ballot recovery, and vote tallying for the city. Among the offices on the ballot for the city's portion of the election are Los Angeles mayor, city controller, odd-numbered City Council districts and several school board seats. The Secretary of State's Office will hold the public drawing to determine the order that the candidates' names will appear on the March ballot. The city will hold its own random alphabet drawing in February to determine the order for the May 16 general election, should a	LA County Office	02/26/2017 06:40 AM	015:06
