Had remarks from Dianne Feinstein, top democrat in the committee, explain why she voted, and also discussed the firing of Sally Yates. The Acting Attorney General was fired for standing up against Trump and his executive order of the travel ban.

Bren Braverman reported on the campus news of the Protest for Peace event and commented on the Firing of Sally Yates, the Former Acting Attorney General. She reported this on 1/31.

Sydney did a Black History Month Spotlight of not well known Black or African American people. Did a mention and detailed story of Madame C.J. Walker. Will be doing these every Friday on my show.

II. Campus Events

SGA elections are going on at the moment. Will be reporting on these people on either Tuesday or Monday over the air for people to be aware of the elections.

Reported on the Peace for Protest event. Protesters gathered on the Haley Concourse to stand up against the immigration and refugee ban of Donald Trump. It was a large crowd and it was seen as both positive and negative. I interviewed students of both sides of the event.

Reported and interviewed student's responses to President of Auburn University, Jay Gouge, about the travel ban and how it affects AU students, faculty, and staff. Advised them to not leave the country, check with the international programs office with a number to reach to discuss the green cards and immigration. Students found this email to be positive and uplifting. It did not show any sides and it was encouraging as the President states that Auburn is an International University. Also interviewed an associate Ethics and Philosophy professor Dr. Helena Theixos. Wanted to play interview on my show but needed editing help.

W. Kamau Bell came to Auburn University on 2/1 to kick off Black History Month. Tried to get an interview but event was very crowded and a lot of people were in line to get a picture. He discussed how we need to more talks on race, be more open and mindful, and be aware. Faculty, staff, and students alike tended and most people enjoyed the event.
