Botanical Gardens Adult Education Seminars

The South Texas Botanical Gardens & Nature Center, at 8545 S. Staples St., presents three adult education seminars in September. Up to 30 participants may attend in-person, with spaced seating in Education Station, facemasks recommended, reservations required. ZOOM also is available. Classes are free with membership or general admission, $5 others. For reservations or ZOOM link, call 361-852-2100.

Adult education is planned and coordinated in cooperation with Nueces Master Gardeners.

9:30 am, Saturday, September 10: PREPARING FOR LESS WATER.

This year's drought reminds us we always need to be prepared to conserve water in our landscapes. Joanne Salge, Nueces Master Gardener and Xeriscape Corpus Christi chair teaches practical application of water conservation principles with easy ways to transition existing landscape into water-smart areas, able to economically survive year-round, especially in hot summer months.

9:30 am, Saturday, September 17: TROPICAL LANDSCAPE—LESSONS LEARNED FROM FREEZE!

Nueces County Extension Horticulture Agent Kevin Gibbs talks about tropical landscape options, with insights on plants surviving the unusually cold weather; and plants still in freeze recovery process.

9:30 am, Saturday, September 24: STOP THE BLEED.

Too often gardeners focus on plants more than themselves, but garden safety should always be a priority. Learn about garden first aid and safety from Spohn Hospital Shoreline's Jennifer Carr to prevent your garden endeavors from becoming a trip to the ER.

Help Prevent Grass and Wildfires

The Real Country Crew has joined with the Refugio Volunteer Fire Dept. to give you tips on how you can help prevent grass and wildfires. Most every county in the state of Texas is currently under a burn ban due to extreme drought conditions. All it takes is one spark and it can be devastating. Some simple ways you can help are to keep trailer tires properly inflated, ensure safety chains aren't dragging causing sparks, don't drive into tall grass if your car has a catalytic converter, one spark from a flipped out cigarette can cause a huge problem. Volunteer fire departments need help. Fuel costs are through the roof. People are needed to volunteer and fight fires. Support people are needed in feeding and making sure the firefighters are hydrated. If you can help please donate or volunteer at your local volunteer fire department.

Texas Hill at The Dobie West Performing Arts Theatre

The band Texas Hill will be at The Dobie West Performing Arts Theatre, 304 Houston Street in George West on Saturday, November 12th. The show runs from 7-9:30 pm.

BYOB will be allowed, with set-ups for sale. Small insulated 6 pack coolers will be allowed, but please, no large or rolling ice chests. $25 pre-sale tickets are available online at www.dobie-westtheatre.com or at the George West Chamber of Commerce, 361-449-2033. Tickets will be $30 at the door.

The Dobie West Theatre is a 501(c) (3) non-profit that promotes the arts in South Texas.

Texas Hill is a gritty amalgam of overlapping tastes and distinct voices that meet in the middle as a bold harmonic trio. Craig Wayne Boyd offers a voice full of gospel-tinged country smoke, Adam Wakefield blends a rootsy bluegrass-and-Americana rasp, and Casey James wraps it with a blue-eyed soul quality and deft blues guitar chops. The result is a band that's both rock solid and highly adaptive. Texas Hill is instantly identifiable, thanks to its well-developed signature sound: a proud, in-your-face harmonic wall. But each of the three singers can, and does, take over the lead, inevitably pushing the group in his own unique direction while those harmonies allow the whole ensemble to hang on to its sonic center.
