The OSBI says most crimes are down across Oklahoma, with just a few exceptions. The agency puts all crime into three categories: Crimes Against People, Property, and Society. Its numbers show assaults, vandalism, and drugs top the lists of crimes law enforcement responded to the most this year. But, OSBI also says with the exception of Human Trafficking and a few other crimes, everything else is down. TU Law Professor Stephen Galoob says the crime rate is different than crime itself and doesn't account for incidents that go unreported. The Tulsa County Sheriff's Office says its deputies handled and increase in burglaries this year, but all other major crime categories went down.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 12/7 (9PM) (1:15)
The families of murder victims attended the annual Tulsa County Tree of Remembrance Ceremony tonight. The District Attorney's office invites people to hang an ornament on the tree to honor their loved one and make sure they are not forgotten. The holidays are joyful and fun for many, but for those who have lost a loved one to a violent crime, it can feel lonely and sad. The families say it's important to keep those memories alive. This is the fourth year Vicki Clem has come to the Tree of Remembrance Ceremony to hang an ornament and read a poem to honor and celebrate the life of her son, Roy. She says this event is bittersweet, but it does give her a chance to be with others who've gone through the same thing, because only they can truly understand. But, mostly, she wants people to remember Roy's life, that he could do just about anything he put his mind to and mattered to many. Ornaments placed on the tree tonight will be saved and then put up again for years to come.

She and her husband decided to start the organization "Will's House" after her 8-year-old adopted son died in 2017 due to medical issues. As a part of the group's expansion efforts, they are getting programming ready to open the facility in January. O' Hara says having a home to offer services will allow them to support families in more ways. Prior to this addition, they had to go into people's homes to help them. The new site will also help them build relationships with kids across their different developmental stages. O' Hara says the home is handicapped accessible and it can be customized for a person's needs.
