KQCW – TULSA CW
4th Quarter Report
April 1 through June 30, 2022

1. CRIME

- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 4/12 (9PM) (1:55)
Tulsa Police Department and Crime Stoppers are rolling out a new camera system that they say will help them solve crimes. The cameras can capture license plates and vehicle descriptions to help officers find people suspected of crimes.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 4/27 (8AM) (:45)
Tulsa Police recover a gun near where Tyra Whitaker was found buried in a shallow grave in East Tulsa. Prosecutors have charged Terry Brooks with murder for killing Whitaker along with two other women. The Dive Team found the gun very close to where they found Whitaker's remains, but they won't know if it's the murder weapon until it goes to the crime lab for tests. Officers say they've taken measurements and pictures of the gun, and believe it's been there for several days, possibly months. Lieutenant Justin Farley says this is a grueling process and they'll likely be back today to finish searching the pond.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 5/10 (9PM) (:30)
Tulsa Police says a Crime Stoppers tip helped them catch a convicted felon with 126 guns in his home. The tipster told officers that Richard Green had several weapons. Investigators discovered he threatened several people with guns at his business. TPD's Special Investigations Division got a search warrant and found dozens of weapons in his home. The department shared photos on Facebook. All of the weapons are being held as evidence. Tulsa Police says that if Green is convicted of a crime, the guns will be destroyed.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 5/16 (9PM) (:41)
Tulsa Police is investigating a man's death as a homicide after he was shot 16 years ago. 67-year-old James McClaine was shot at an apartment complex in January of 2006. The medical examiner says McClaine died last week from the injuries he got 16 years ago, which makes his death a homicide. Investigators now need to figure out what evidence they have and find out if the crime can be prosecuted since so much time has passed. The Tulsa Police Department investigates cases like this about once a year.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 6/15 (8AM) (:39)
The Tulsa Police Department releases its annual report, giving us a glimpse at violent and property crimes in Tulsa. This report shows a number of crime statistics returned to normal levels, after a chaotic 2020. Tulsa Police says the report shows the department's Homicide Unit is solving almost 92 percent of all cases compared to an estimated national average of just 50 percent according to the 'Marshall Project.' TPD hopes to provide more detailed data in the future by digitizing records for citizens to access crime trends themselves.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 6/22 (9PM) (:32)
Tulsa is getting 25 new solar-powered license-plate reading cameras. Several are going up at 61st and Peoria. A few will be put north of I-244 and some more will be placed near 31st and Garnett. They can capture the make, model, color, and even dents or bumper stickers and send those images to police in real time. Flock Cameras also capture license plate numbers, and if the plate is registered as stolen, officers can recover it. The cameras go up next month.

2. CHILDREN AND YOUTH

- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 4/8 (7AM) (:40)
A woman who teaches school children in Muskogee about how to spot and report sexual abuse says the presentations have been very successful. Shelly Stout goes to every elementary school in Muskogee each year to give her presentation about sexual abuse. She says that after her class, many kids ending up coming forward, saying they've been a victim. She says 21 kids have come forward, and she's thankful for help from the local police in getting cases prosecuted. Shelly and Lieutenant Emily Pippin with the Muskogee Police Department say preventing abuse from happening in the first place is the most important.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 4/8 (8AM) (1:49)
A Tulsa man is supporting kids with autism by sending birthday cards to them. While April is National Autism Awareness Month, for him, every month is about awareness.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 5/12 (7AM) (:29)
Cherokee Nation Principal Chief Chuck Hoskin Junior has created a fund for youth who are aging out of the foster care system. Chief Hoskin and Deputy Chief Bryan Warner created a 500-dollar-per-month stipend for Cherokees who are leaving the system. To be eligible, they must be living within the Cherokee Reservation and be employed, seeking a job, or be in college or some form of training. The monthly payments can start the month the participant turns 18 and will end at 21 unless they are in a training or degree program.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 5/23 (8AM) (1:20)
Tulsa Crime Stoppers and the department's Community Engagement Team is meeting with fifth grade students from McClure Elementary for the last time this school year. Organizers are bringing in the armored personnel carrier vehicle that's typically used during standoff situations. The police helicopter will also be on site for students to see. After looking at both assets used by Tulsa Police, leaders say the students will meet for one last round table discussion with officers. Organizers say officers and detectives from Cyber Crimes and the Traffic Unit have been talking with the students about safety and answering questions about how police perform their jobs. 'Project Trust' is the department's program designed to start conversations and help build trust with youth in Tulsa. As part of the program, officers meet with one class for six weeks to discuss and answer questions about policing. Leaders are hopeful the program can continue to build relationships between Tulsa Police officers and youth living here in the city.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 6/1 (9PM) (:25)
Tulsa City-County Library's Summer Reading Program started today. Each age group must read a certain number of books for a chance to win prizes. The program is free and open to all ages.

- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 6/6 (9PM) (:37)

We now know the name of the new pedestrian bridge in Tulsa. It will be called 'Williams Crossing' after getting a donation from the company Williams. The pedestrian bridge will connect the trails by Tulsa's Gathering Place on Riverside with the trails on the west side of the river. Construction on this bridge began in the spring of 2021 and is scheduled to be completed in the summer of 2023. According to the City of Tulsa, the bridge will feature several sitting areas, shaded sections, and separate lanes for cyclists and pedestrians.
- KQCW CHANNEL 19 NEWS – 5/3 (8AM) (1:15)
Tulsa city leaders will break ground on a new, state-of-the-art building for the Gilcrease Museum. This building will feature 91 thousand square feet of exhibition space, replacing the previous museum. The buildings which were part of the earlier museum were torn down earlier this year. Construction on the new building will start this summer and is expected to take 2 to 3 years. This renovation is an 83.6 million dollar capital expansion project, which is part of the Vision Tulsa package passed by voters back in 2016. The City of Tulsa and the Gilcrease Museum say the renovated museum could attract an additional five hundred thousand visitors to Tulsa each year. Leaders say this museum will have the capacity to host larger, traveling exhibits. In addition to the facility, the project would include 14 miles of biking and hiking trails. Tulsa Mayor GT Bynum, Lt. Governor Matt Pinnell and Osage Nation Principal Chief Geoffrey Standing Bear will attend today's groundbreaking.
