List of Issues Q3 2023

The following issues were addressed on WSJV 28.1 during the third quarter of 2023. Specific titles, times, dates, and duration of public service announcements are listed below.

1. Safety: Messages from the American College of Emergency Physicians highlighted the importance of eliminating distractions and wearing a helmet to prevent serious scooter injuries. While a series of Ad Council PSAs pointed out the danger of texting and driving. The CDC warned about the health risks of misusing antibiotics and how it can lead to antibiotic-resistant infections. Messages from the FDA reminded parents to promote a safe home by disposing of unused prescription medications. The Hearing Health Foundation cautioned that listening too long and too loud can lead to permanent hearing loss. While the US Department of Health and Human Services and the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration provided advice on talking to kids about alcohol and other drugs. PSAs from the National Pest Management Association reminded viewers of the safety and health risks posed by common household pests. And the American Academy provided a phone-ready quiz to help parents decide if they're ready for a cell phone.
2. Health: Messages from the American Cancer Society encouraged parents to vaccinate their children against HPV to protect them from up to 6 different cancers later in life. While announcements from SPARK urged parents of autistic children to enroll in their research program to accelerate the understanding of autism. The American Heart Association reminded viewers about the importance of organ donation. And the Ronald McDonald house reminded viewers that they're there for families when a child is sick in the hospital.
3. Community & Family: The Foundation for a Better life reminded us of the importance of being there for others and to show gratitude to others through kind gestures. To help feed, educate, and support children around the world, Child Fund International and UNICEF provided viewers with the means to get involved. In our communities here at home, our first responders put their lives on the line to help where they're needed most; sometimes suffering injuries or paying the ultimate price for their service. The First Responders Children's Foundation is there for families who suffer a loss. Their messaging showed viewers how to thank first responders by supporting the foundation. Trisha Yearwood and Garth Brooks encouraged people to support Habitat for Humanity. And messages from Make a Wish empowered viewers to grant wishes for sick children. Across the U.S. Pets provide companionship and enrich our lives. We can save them from neglect or euthanasia by adopting shelter animals. Messages from the Shelter Pet Project and Best Friends Animal Society showed viewers how. They also encouraged people to adopt kittens to help alleviate shelter overcrowding. A little praise goes a long way in helping children succeed. Boys Town's public service announcements offer parental advice on how to use praise to raise confident children.
4. Environment: The trees in our forests are vital for our survival—purifying our air and water and protecting against harmful erosion. But our forests are threatened by fires, insects, and disease. Through a series of public service announcements, the Arbor Day Foundation demonstrates how trees can address many of our social issues and invites viewers to be a part of the solution by supporting efforts to replant our damaged forest land. And it's not just forests that are important to our lives, our country's wetlands and waterfowl play an important role as well. Ducks Unlimited conserves, restores and manages our wetlands. Through PSAs, Ducks Unlimited teaches about the importance of our wetland habitats. Wild Aid reminded us that we can protect the environment by carpooling. Plus, a series of PSAs encouraged viewers to keep America beautiful by recycling. And messages from the National Wildlife Foundation and the San Diego Zoo Wildlife Alliance spoke of the importance of understanding and protecting our wildlife.

5. Education: For some kids, staying in school can be a challenge. Communities in Schools provides support to help kids stay in school. Their PSA encourages the public to get involved and help keep kids in the classroom. The Milton Hershey School offered a special place for disadvantaged kids to learn. And the PGA showed how their First Tee program can help kids develop positive skills and character.
