

January – March, 2024

Treasure Coast Broadcasters, Inc

Strategies in Tightening Job Market
Jan 13 & 14, 2024 7-8AM

WPSL/WSTU Host Sue Ellen Sanders talks with Mary Murphy, Business Navigator, Career Source of the Research Coast, and Caitlin Ballard, Information Officer, City of Fort Pierce.. With the unemployment rate around 3.5% on the Treasure Coast, finding both good jobs & new employees are a challenge.. City of Fort Pierce is bringing 100+ employers face to face with job seekers – a different interaction than online—to match employers with doctors, engineers, skilled trades workers. Helps identify trends in job growth and where need to invest in training. Event is Jan 24 at Fenn Center, listeners directed to sign up online.

The Race to Inventory Nature
Jan 20 & 21 2024 7-8AM

WPSL/WSTU Host Sue Ellen Sanders talks with Ken Gioelli, Agr Extension Agent, U of Florida about the BioBlitz at Oxbow Eco-Center in Port St Lucie Feb 1. BioBlitz is a race to create a snapshot of the varieties of life found at a specific location. Uploaded photos and tallies create a species count & valuable information for future conservation. Kids encouraged to participate, just need a cell phone and $10 registration fee on Eventbrite.

Health of Middle & H S Students
Jan 22 , 2024 8:05-8:20A

WSTU Morning Host Evan Nine talks with Martin County Schools Superintendent Michael Maine about plan to comply with new state law to help middle & high school students get more sleep. Research shows kids who sleep more get better grades & miss fewer days of class, while not getting enough sleep impacts the ability to learn & overall health. In 2024-25 school year, middle school will begin at 9:20A, high school at 8:30A. For complying with the law early, Martin County School District gets state money it plans to use for a school bus tracking system for use by parents.

Beware Scams Claiming to be IRS
Feb 27, 2024 8:05-8:20A

WSTU Morning Host Evan Nine talks with Martin County Sheriff's Department Information Officer Christine Weiss about recent scams claiming to be from the IRS. Specifically, a letter in a cardboard envelope from a delivery service with IRS masthead saying "in relation to your unclaimed refund..." or one from Taxpayer Advocacy Panel about a tax refund. Listeners warned these a "phishing" for your personal info. Do not reply. Call the Sheriff's Office if have questions.

I