Issues and Program Report

3rd Quarter 2018

The following is a listing of some of the significant issues responded to by NHPR along with the most significant programming treatment of those issues for the period listed above. The listing is by no means exhaustive.

Topic: Economy
Date:	Time:	Duration (mm:ss):	Program Title	Description
9/17/18	6:00 a.m.	:48	Morning Edition	Raise Up New Hampshire is starting a new initiative to advocate for increased wages, benefits and paid family leave.
9/18/18	5:00 p.m.	:21	All Things Considered	New Hampshire's unemployment rate held steady at 2.7% in the month of August. The state added just under 2,000 jobs...that was offset by a similar sized increase in the total workforce.
8/6/18	9:00 a.m.	60:00	The Exchange	N.H. Economic Roundup: Job growth in the Granite State is still healthy - while wage growth remains slow. Consumers seem in the mood to spend, but some local retailers say they lack shoppers. And New Hampshire's housing crunch just gets tighter especially for renters.

Topic: Education
Date:	Time:	Duration (mm:ss):	Program Title	Description
8/22/18	9:00 a.m.	60:00	The Exchange	What are the biggest issues facing students as they head back to school? We talk with school counselors about academics, safety, emotional health, and how they try to help children succeed in school and at home.
9/22/18	8:35 a.m.	4:45	Weekend Edition	Tariffs are in the news a lot these days. How do they work, and what effect do they have on consumers? For answers, we turn to Civics 101, NHPR's refresher course on how our democracy works.
9/19/18	8:00 a.m.	:46	Morning Edition	Keene State College welcomed 18 Steinway pianos Tuesday. NHPR's Britta Greene was there as the instruments were rolled off a truck, into the school's classrooms.

Topic: Politics
Date:	Time:	Duration (mm:ss):	Program Title	Description
8/24/18	9:40 a.m.	20:00	The Exchange	We sit down with Steve Negrón, candidate running for the Republican nomination in the Second Congressional District. A former officer of the U.S. Airforce, a small-business owner, and the grandson of a Mexican immigrant, he is a state representative from Nashua.
9/18/18	9:00 a.m.	60:00	The Exchange	Former Congressmen David Jolly, a Republican, and Patrick Murphy, a Democrat, are travelling nationwide as part of their "Let's Fix Washington" initiative. Jolly and Murphy, who were one-time rivals for a Senate seat, discuss how Congress got to its current state of division and gridlock and how, through bipartisan leadership, the nation's political systems can function more effectively.
8/14/18	9:00 a.m.	60:00	The Exchange	Democratic Gubernatorial candidate Steve Marchand talks about the issues in his campaign, from energy to education, and answers your questions. Later in the hour, NHPR's Josh Rogers updates us on the New Hampshire Governor's race overall.

Topic: Health
Date:	Time:	Duration (mm:ss):	Program Title	Description
9/18/18	7:30 a.m.	:37	Morning Edition	The U.S. Senate passed bipartisan legislation Monday targeting the misuse of opioids and other addictive drugs. The bill includes the Opioid Crisis Response Act, which New Hampshire Democratic Senator Maggie Hassan helped develop.

9/18/18	5:30 p.m.	:27	All Things Considered	State health officials say the number of cases of Legionnaire's Disease allegedly linked to a hotel in Hampton has grown to 18. Sixteen of those sickened have been hospitalized, with one reported fatality.
9/21/18	7:00 a.m.	:39	Morning Edition	The Department of Health and Human Services says it will hold six public input sessions across the state in order to hear concerns of residents on the topic of mental health. This comes as it continues to work on the state's Ten-Year Mental Health Plan.

Topic: Environment
Date:	Time:	Duration (mm:ss):	Program Title	Description
9/17/18	5:00 p.m.	:59	All Things Considered	Officials say fish in a brook near the Coakley Landfill Superfund site are not a risk to public health.
9/27/18	4:30 p.m.	:52	All Things Considered	The U.S. Senate held a major hearing on PFAS chemical contamination Wednesday, with testimony from a local advocate. New Hampshire's senators questioned federal regulators on the need for more research, stricter standards and cleanup plans for PFAS. It's a huge class of industrial chemicals that have been linked to serious health issues.
9/28/18	8:30 a.m.	:34	Morning Edition	New Hampshire's drought is officially over. Data from the U.S. drought monitor shows that dry conditions peaked in mid-July, when nearly two-thirds of the state was in a moderate drought.
