Rhinelanders City Hall, Oneida County Courthouse planning active shooter training	NEWS	10/3/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Both in front of and behind her Rhinelanders City Hall desk, clerk Val Foley deals with all kinds of issues every day. "People are very understanding, but it's those people that are not that could potentially show up," Foley said. Foley says it's rare to need to call police in her job, but it has happened over her 17 years in the office. She's trained for things like fire drills and tornadoes, but it wasn't until Foley went to an active shooter class this summer that got her thinking, 'What if?'
Rhinelanders Golf Committee meets with consultant to try and solve deficit	NEWS	10/3/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Rhinelanders's Golf Course Advisory Committee met with its hired consultant Tuesday, hoping to solve a serious deficit. The committee hired Green Golf Partners for consultation help to try to figure out a way to make the course profitable.
RHINELANDER - Recent Stanford graduate Bob Harlow decided to run for governor to serve the state his family has called home for three generations.	NEWS	10/3/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	Harlow is one of eight Democrats who have declared a run for governor. Harlow wants healthcare for everyone, a $15 minimum wage, and a debt-free college experience for those who choose to pursue a degree. "These are things we need to achieve as a state and we can as long as we have a government that is working for the people of Wisconsin instead of rich republican donors," said Harlow. Harlow said wants to get into public service regardless of the political climate of the state, but he thinks it's especially important now.
Minocqua gun store, like after other mass shootings, sees spike in business	NEWS	10/2/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	MINOCQUA - Business picked up at Tim McAuliffe's gun and ammunition shop, North Coast Arms and Ammo, less than 12 hours after Sunday night's Las Vegas shooting. That didn't surprise McAuliffe, who has owned the shop in Minocqua for 31 years. Every time there's a major public shooting in America, his business surges. "There's usually a spike in business," McAuliffe said. "It isn't instant, but like today, [there have been] a lot of magazines that have [gone] out already." McAuliffe said customers worry they might lose a window to buy guns.

Community Blood Center sees significant increase in donors after Las Vegas shootings	NEWS	10/4/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Lines to donate blood stretched for blocks in Las Vegas after Sunday night's shootings, which killed more than 50 people. Seeing those images likely inspired many people in Wisconsin to give blood, too. The Community Blood Center reports it saw a 70-percent increase on Monday and Tuesday of people calling to schedule appointments over the prior three weeks. The Center also saw a 30-percent increase in appointments for calls the CBC made to potential donors. The CBC says many people who called specifically said they wanted to donate because of Vegas.
Three Lakes Center for the Arts provides space for creative community	NEWS	10/4/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	THREE LAKES - For years, a group of people in Three Lakes wanted a place to showcase artists, young and old, who make creativity a part of their lives. But they didn't really have a place to do that until a dedicated group stepped in. The group rented little spaces to give artists a place to hang their work--that is, until a generous couple from Chicago donated money to buy a building for a permanent space. Today, the Three Lakes Center for the Arts has grown into so much more.
Northwoods United Way kicks off annual fundraising campaign	NEWS	10/3/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Gov. Scott Walker designated September and October as United Way months in Wisconsin to help launch the organization's annual fundraising campaign. Northwoods United Way supports children and families in Oneida, Vilas, and Forest counties. "That can vary from providing scholarships for swim lessons for people that can't afford it to people that might need some help in parenting, those sorts of things," said Northwoods United Way Executive Director Nancy Sattler.
Aircraft touching down in Eagle River will now find a smooth landing	NEWS	10/6/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	EAGLE RIVER - A brand new two million dollar runway replaced the bumpy 40-year-old original. After two and half months the new runway was finished Tuesday and the grand opening ceremony took place Friday. "[There were] lots of complaints from pilots flying in [on the old runway] said that it was too rough and potentially causing damage to the planes." said Airport Manager Rob Hom. Chief Pilot Jerry Dahl was one of the first people to land on the new runway. He has been flying into Eagle River's Airport since 1984.

Rhinelanders Parks Director pushing for ice rink outside Trig's	NEWS	10/5/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Many people didn't like it when Rhinelanders workers tore down the deteriorating hockey boards at Pioneer Park last summer. The city still flooded the rink, though, and people still came. This winter, people might have a second outdoor skating option in Rhinelanders. Parks Director Jeremy Biolo wants to turn the open green space in front of Trig's into an outdoor rink. Biolo first came up with the idea in late 2016, but it was too late in the year to do anything about it.
Sparkling Interest: Nicolet College hosts 600 students for Heavy Metals Tour	NEWS	10/4/2017	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - As he fired up his welding torch Wednesday afternoon, Alex Novak felt a bit of deja vu. "[I try to] teach them that industry is where the money is--you can make money there," Novak said. The Nicolet College welding student lit up the eye masks and minds of eighth graders. His demonstration was part of a daylong "Heavy Metal Tour," which hosted middle school students on the same field trip Novak once took when he was their age. "It just gives them an idea of what they want to do and just... They always have options," Novak said.
