GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES PLAN TO CLOSE LINCOLN HILLS	NEWS	1/4/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	WISCONSIN - The state started placing troubled children and teens at Lincoln Hills School in Irma nearly 50 years ago. Sometime in the near future, they'll all go elsewhere. Governor Walker announced a plan to close Lincoln Hills School and Youth Prison Thursday afternoon. After inmate on staff assaults, low staffing concerns and an FBI investigation into youth mistreatment, lawmakers thought it was time to make a change. But is it a change for the better? "I know everyone who works there right now is thinking the same thing, what a relief," said youth counselor Kal Tesky. Relief. That's what Tesky felt when he heard Lincoln Hills School and Youth Prison will be closed and repurposed as a medium security adult facility. Juveniles will go to one of five smaller, regional facilities. Tesky was assaulted by an inmate in July. Six months later, he still isn't feeling like his normal self.

AARP OFFERING FREE TAX HELP	NEWS	1/10/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - You can get help filing your taxes for free again this year. Trained and certified volunteers through the AARP Tax Aide Program will help people with low to moderate income, especially those age 60 and up. Filing happens at the Oneida County Senior Center near Trig's in Rhineland on Mondays and Wednesdays in February and March.
Water main break means more construction for Rhineland street	NEWS	1/9/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - The 21- Block streetscape project in Rhineland should've meant no new big road repairs for years. Instead, just months after it was done, crews plan to tear up Stevens Street again. "I have not seen the pavement buckle like that," said ArtStart employee Melinda Childs. "It's actually pretty cool. Hopefully aliens don't crawl out of it." After more than a year of construction from the downtown streetscape project, the pavement on Stevens Street bubbled up from a burst water line Monday night.
Local teachers benefit from tax write-off for school supplies	NEWS	1/10/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - When he signed the Republican tax overhaul last month, President Trump told Americans the new law included "tremendous things" for businesses and workers. But the new law left several parts of the tax code unchanged, and one of the untouched items untouched left many teachers happy. House Republicans originally wanted to scrap a tax break for teachers who were buying supplies for their classrooms. But negotiators saved the write-off, meaning teachers will get to save a little bit of money when keeping their rooms stocked for school.

Rhinelanders Cafe and Pub starts $150,000 renovation to add bar with 24 craft beers	NEWS	1/12/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Rhinelanders Cafe and Pub last saw a major renovation in the early 1970s. But as of this week, a $150,000 remodeling project is underway. "[That's] the last significant renovation was when the former owners doubled the size of the business and took the small café and expanded it," said Owner Mark Gutteter, who bought the restaurant about 10 years ago.
Weather delays practice runs for Vintage Derby racers; race ready to go on as scheduled Friday	NEWS	1/11/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	EAGLE RIVER - Wednesday night's warm up and Thursday's snow made for some tense moments on the roads. But it should help make for better racing at the World Championship Derby Track in Eagle River. The Vintage Snowmobile Derby races start Friday. Derby Track owner Chuck Decker said this weather definitely won't hurt the track, but it will make more work.
Drs. Foster and Smith lays off more than 50 people	NEWS	1/16/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Three years ago Petco bought Doctors Foster and Smith in Rhinelanders with the intention of keeping all local jobs in place. But Tuesday, the company announced it would lay off 55 people. Those employees worked in marketing, merchandising, and ecommerce support. Petco issued a statement saying the positions will go to the National Support Center in San Diego. Now, dozens of people at one of Rhinelanders's largest employers are out of a job. Petco purchased Doctors Foster and Smith back in February of 2015. Petco will still employ more than 450 people in Rhinelanders in the pharmacy, customer care, and Live Aquaria businesses as well as the distribution center and retail store. Petco said the change came because they want to expand "key operational areas" in Rhinelanders. Laid off employees found out Tuesday.
Vilas County Safe Ride sees success in first month	NEWS	1/15/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	VILAS COUNTY - The Vilas County Safe Ride program completed its first month at the beginning of January. The program started on December 4. Vilas County Safe Ride coordinator Dan Ullsperger said the first month went well. "Having 15 in the first month I think is very, very successful. We're looking forward to having more in January and February. I think it will just keep growing and growing," said Ullsperger. He hopes to have 30 to 40 rides per month in the future. The Safe Ride program is meant to eliminate drunk drivers from the roads. A bar has to join the Vilas County tavern league. Then it can buy vouchers for the rides to hand out to customers who need a way to get home.

Vilas County committee denies joining major opioid lawsuit with 5-1 vote	NEWS	1/16/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	VILAS COUNTY - All but 11 counties in Wisconsin filed a lawsuit against pharmaceutical companies for contributing to the opioid crisis. The lawsuit says certain companies use "deceptive marking" and have "created a false perception of the safety of opioids." Vilas County is one of the 11 that hasn't joined yet.
Three Lakes Library Looks for Babysitters	NEWS	1/18/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	THREE LAKES - A public library will do just about anything to help out its loyal patrons. But what happens when the library needs help? The Demmer Memorial Library in Three Lakes needs help storing books during an upcoming renovation. Over 3,000 books need to be cleared out of the library during the construction period and library card holders will get the chance to check out up to 100 books for an entire year. The idea of book babysitting made perfect sense to library director, Erica Brewster. "If we could get a hundred people to check out 100 books, that would be a third of our collection that we wouldn't have to physically pickup and move and put in a new location," said Brewster.
School administrators plan to change the Rhinelander middle school class schedule	NEWS	1/17/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Rhinelander middle school students could experience a new class schedule this fall. School administrators have worked for a year and half to change the 20-year-old master schedule. James Williams Middle School Principal Richard Gretzinger says the main focus of a new schedule is to give students a 30 minute free or "enrichment" period. "Sometimes students get caught up in getting to go to one class to the other to the other. If we can break up that day for those students and give them some movement, brain breaks and activities... Studies have shown that they will be effective through the day," said Gretzinger.
How to Treat Pets in the Winter Months	NEWS	1/17/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Local veterinarian, Dr. Alison French, actually sees a decrease in vet visits in the winter months due to less outdoor exercise and fewer injuries. But less time outside with pets is not necessarily a good thing. French recommends you give your pets plenty of water and take walks outside even in the coldest temperatures. Just like humans, animals dehydrate faster in the cold. Make sure you refill your pet's water bowls. "Make sure they have fresh water. So if they're outside all the time make sure they have a heated water dish," said French.

"[It's] designed specifically for kids on the autism spectrum and those with sensory processing needs, but any kids and families who feel like they just want a little more laid back, hands-on story time it would be appropriate," said children's librarian Katie Kubisiak.
New shadowing program in Three Lakes gives students work experience	NEWS	1/18/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	THREE LAKES - A new program at the Three Lakes School District gives students a chance to test drive their future careers. The mentorship program lets students shadow a professional for a day. Juniors and seniors can work with professionals in fields they're interested in. Senior Maggie Servent is one of the ten students in the program. She shadowed a pharmacist in Eagle River. "I'm a little more at ease knowing that this is definitely something I'm going to enjoy once I get out into the real world and have this job," said Servent.
Trial for 2011 Three Lakes shooting	NEWS	1/22/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - A 14-member jury saw a bullet found at the crime scene, heard a panicked 911 call from the victim, and listened to Donald Dal Ponte's daughter describe his injuries during the first day of Edwin Hughes' jury trial in Oneida County Court on Monday. Hughes is charged with playing a role in a 2011 attempted robbery and shooting in Three Lakes. On February 9, 2011, two people entered into Dal Ponte's Three Lakes home and demanded money from him, according to prosecutors. One held a gun to Dal Ponte's legs as an intimidation tactic, then shot him. Prosecutors say Hughes is that man.
Construction on Lincoln Hills replacement prisons could begin in 2018	NEWS	1/28/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	WAUSAU - Construction on youth prisons to replace Lincoln Hills could begin before the end of the year, Gov. Scott Walker said on Thursday. Walker wants to build five smaller, regional prisons for young criminals and close the youth prison at Lincoln Hills. His $80 million youth prison plan still needs to be approved by the state legislature, and Walker said Thursday he hopes lawmakers will pass the proposal in the next two months. Then, the state could get bids on building new youth prisons around the state. The Department of Corrections won't move inmates from Lincoln Hills until they have somewhere to go.

On Thursday in Wausau, he talked more about the $50 million fund, which would be under the control of the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation. "Our hope would be not just to help existing ideas, our hope would be that it would kind of generate some interest knowing there's a separate account that's just for, specifically for, rural parts of the state of Wisconsin," Walker said. The money would be available to help develop new and small businesses in the state's rural counties. The plan was a pleasant surprise to some rural lawmakers

Wetlands Legislation Causes Controversy	NEWS	2/2/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	NORTHWOODS - Wetlands serve many purposes in the Northwoods. They help prevent floods, serve as habitat for fish and wildlife, and are an attraction the community can enjoy. Wisconsin's wetland landscape could change if Republican lawmakers pass a bill allowing some wetlands to be filled without a permit process. Republicans say the DNR's permit requirements for filling in state wetlands are lengthy and costly, and slow the growth of business. However, the talk of deregulation has some community members worried about the future of the wetlands in the Northwoods. "Wetlands are beautiful and they provide a great service," said Bob Martini, a former DNR employee.

On Jan. 11, City Clerk Val Foley announced Frederickson was ineligible to appear on the ballot due to a lack of valid nominating signatures. Frederickson turned in 75 signatures, more than the required 50, but Foley threw out 56 of the signatures after a challenge by mayoral rival Alex Young. Young contended, and Foley agreed, that an error in dating the nomination papers by Frederickson--and others collecting signatures for him--invalidated some of the pages.

Kallio served in the navy for six years. She and her husband both suffer from service related PTSD. "We've had a few concerns about the mental health care system and how they're going to be doing upgrades and increasing demand for mental health, for veterans my age coming back. There's a whole new era of us coming in," said Kallio. Public Affairs Officer Brad Nelson wanted to inform veterans about the quality of care available to them.

County board members prepare for active shooter situations	NEWS	3/22/2018	6:40A, 7:40A, 8:40A 12:30P, 1:30P AND 4:30P AND 5:30P	:20	RHINELANDER - Just like many small community courthouses, Oneida County doesn't have any way of keeping guns out of the building. In response, on Tuesday, the Oneida County Board approved a mandatory active shooter training session for all employees. "You have to keep your eyes open," said Oneida County Human Resource Director Lisa Charbarneau. Charbarneau has learned not everyone who walks into the Oneida County Courthouse has good intentions. "We do deal with not so pleasant things, whether that be social services, removing children from homes, we have inmates in and out for issues in the court," said Charbarneau. The courthouse has an open door policy with multiple entrances open to the public.
