Rhinelanders loses 10.88 million gallons of water due to water main break	News	1/9/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - You'd think it would be hard to hide nearly 11 million gallons of water. But a water main break in Rhinelanders helped do that for more than two weeks.  The break on Phillip Street spilled 10.88 million gallons of water into the lower end of Boom Lake. Water main breaks are fairly common, but this one was unique because it went undetected for somewhere between 14 to 18 days.
Field narrowed down in search for new Rhinelanders police chief	News	1/10/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - The Rhinelanders Police and Fire Commission has narrowed down the field in its search for a new police chief. Those candidates will soon be sent to a third-party consultant.

At the end of 2016, Ruby's Pantry gave $1,000 to the Rhinelanders Area Scholarship Foundation to create the Rhinelanders Ruby's Pantry Scholarship.
Snow totals make life difficult for highway department	News	1/10/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	ONEIDA COUNTY - Heavy snowfall always makes life difficult for highway departments across Wisconsin. That reality was no different Tuesday in the Northwoods, as several inches collected on the ground.  Oneida County Highway Commissioner Bruce Stefonek said it was an all-hands-on-deck kind of effort.
Walker focuses on filling open jobs during seventh State of the State address	News	1/10/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	MADISON - Inside a full Assembly Chamber, Gov. Scott Walker noted the job market is filled with opportunity.  "You see, without a doubt, Wisconsin is working," Walker said.  Walker focused heavily on employment through his 40-minute State of the State speech at the Capitol Tuesday afternoon.
New Chamber director excited for new year full of opportunities	News	1/10/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - The new year brings new changes to Rhinelanders.  Maggie Steffen started as the new executive director at the Rhinelanders Chamber of Commerce last week.  She replaces Bill Clow, who was let go by the Chamber board of directors last October.  As a Rhinelanders native and former executive director of Downtown Rhinelanders Inc., Steffen knows the area well and is excited to serve the community.
Former GAB member: Kinney did 'right thing' in resigning from Ethics Commission 'doomed to failure'	News	1/10/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - Two months ago, retired Rhinelanders Judge Robert Kinney fired off strong words while announcing his resignation from the state's Ethics Commission.  He criticized the attitude, secrecy, and inaction of the new board, which was created to oversee campaign finance, lobbying, and ethics laws in Wisconsin.  Kinney seems to share frustrations with another retired Rhinelanders judge, Tim Vocke.
Rhinelanders blood drive saves lives in local hospitals	News	1/11/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - John Knudsen first donated blood about 10 years ago. Now, he donates every eight weeks. He first donated when he was in the military.  "They asked for it because somebody else needed some," Knudsen said. "It just helps everybody else."  Blood donations save lives. That's why the Community Blood Center sets up a blood drive in Trig's Riverwalk Center in Rhinelanders every Wednesday.

Assembly Speaker Vos questions Gov. Walker's transportation plan, wants to keep all options on the table	News	1/11/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	MADISON - Republican lawmakers stood dozens of times to cheer during Gov. Walker's State of the State speech Tuesday afternoon.  But many Republicans stayed in their chairs and some kept fairly quiet when Walker talked about how to close a $1 billion gap in transportation funding.  Walker doubled down on his promise not to raise the gas tax or vehicle registration fees. Instead, he wants to delay some major road projects, borrow more money, and focus on maintenance and safety.
Oneida County Humane Society close to fundraising goal for expansion project	News	1/12/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - The Oneida County Humane Society wants its animals to have more room to move and live before they find a permanent home. But it needs to raise half a million dollars to make those much-needed changes to its facility.  To do that, it's asking for help from the community
Back of truck falls through layer of ice, driver manages to get out	News	1/14/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	PELICAN LAKE - When most of us drive out on the ice, we don't think we'll fall through.  That scary thought was a reality for Ken Wolfe, who grew up in Rhinelander.  On Friday, at around 3:15p.m., Wolfe went to Pelican Lake to meet his son and go ice fishing, but he never made it.
Republicans push for DNR changes	News	1/15/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	MADISON - Gov. Scott Walker promised to reshape the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources before he took office -- and he has.  Now more even changes could be in store as Walker and his fellow Republicans continue to push the agency further toward what the governor has called a customer service foundation.  Critics say it adds up to a diminished agency.
Rhinelander man arrested, accused of stealing car and U.S. mail	News	1/17/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - When police arrested Alexander Durand for stealing a car, they found he had been stealing mail as well.  The Oneida County Sheriff's Office arrested Durand, 21, Saturday for driving a car stolen from a house near Rhinelander. During that investigation, officers found a lot of other people's mail on Durand's property.  The mail was from all over Oneida County as well as other counties. The Sheriff's Office will contact the people whose mail has been found.
Large ice storm creates slick road conditions for northcentral Wisconsin	News	1/17/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	NORTHWOODS - Roads stayed fairly safe north of Highway 8 Tuesday, but an ice storm caused a lot of slick conditions south of there.  As of Tuesday morning, the state patrol dealt with more than 200 incidents around the region. But for the most part, drivers weren't crashing into each other.
Rep. Sean Duffy holds town hall meeting in Merrill	News	1/17/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	WAUSAU - Snowmobile riders in Marathon County didn't get much time to enjoy the trails so far this season. The county recreation department said Tuesday all snowmobile trails are closed temporarily.  The rain and warm weather made the trails too poor to use. Marathon County just fully opened its trails Jan. 7.  The snowmobile clubs plan to re-open the trails once we get more snow and cold.  For more info on the trail conditions in Marathon County visit the link below.

Bush still held the presidency. But after a committee approval Monday night, Werres can envision the park's fences going up soon at Pioneer Park.
State representatives talk state budget and wolf de-listing	News	1/26/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	EAGLE RIVER - In the next couple weeks, Gov. Scott Walker will release Wisconsin's budget for the next two years. Rep. Rob Swearingen (R-Rhinelanders) and Sen. Tom Tiffany (R-Hazelhurst) thought it would be a perfect time to host listening sessions in a number of Northwoods communities.  One of the sessions was at the Eagle River library Monday. Some people brought up the poor road conditions in the area. Tiffany says transportation funding is one of the items he will be looking at closely in the upcoming budget.
Wisconsin home sales increase in 2016	News	2/2/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	NORTHWOODS - Home sales increased throughout the state of Wisconsin in 2016. The Northwoods real estate market was especially successful compared to the past decade.  Coldwell Banker Mulleady Realtors broker Jim Mulleady said Northwoods home sales can be broken down into two categories: on-water and off-water.  Off-water home sales have seen a small but steady increase in 2016, but it has been on-water homes sales that have increased quickly.
Proposal could give Nicolet College transfer students one year of free tuition to UW-Madison	News	2/3/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - Students transferring from Nicolet College to the University of Wisconsin could get a year's worth of free tuition at the Madison campus.  Students regularly transfer from Nicolet to UW.

Oneida County highway crews poly seal potholes on Highway 17	News	2/16/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - Driving down Highway 17 in Oneida County should feel a little smoother this week. It's thanks to a crew that isn't too thrilled about unseasonably warm weather.  Oneida County Highway Department workers patched potholes with blow torches, pressure guns, and hot tar. The process is called poly patching. The workers blow out cold patch potholes, heat the tar to about 400 degrees, then fill in the hole and seal it.
Three lakes Students put their phones down for the "Face to Face 28" campaign	News	2/16/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	THREE LAKES - Three Lakes junior high and high school students put their phones down for what they're calling a "Face to Face 28" challenge. About 40 students handed in their phones on Thursday morning and won't get them back until Friday afternoon. "I thought I could do it and it wasn't a big deal, but when I actually did it I'm like okay I really need my phone now," said 16-year-old Kayla Crump. Even though they were nervous Crump and her classmates stayed committed. "We're just showing awareness because technology is kind of being over used," said 17-year-old Kloey Krusick. "It can be used but sometimes it's abused so we're trying to limit that." Shutting down their phones and of course the many apps-wasn't as easy as students thought. "[There weren't any] tears, [people were] more so worried about those snap chat streaks," said Krusick. Snapchat is an app on your phone that lets you send pictures and messages to your friends that disappear in 24 hours. Snapchat was what many students said they missed the most. Students who decided to lock their phone up all put $2 into a pool. Everyone who resists snapping for the full 28 hours gets a piece of the pie. Before the challenge some students felt they needed their phones for moments when they felt insecure. "Like today at the lunch table all my friends left and it was so awkward I just wanted to play on my phone to have something to do," said 16-year-old Hailey Baumann.
DNR Warden: Deteriorating ice conditions lead to fishing "at your own risk"	News	2/20/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	ONEIDA COUNTY - This weekend many of us may have seen images of a pickup truck falling through the ice on Lake Michigan. Some trucks even fell through the ice in Wausau.  So, how safe is the ice in the Northwoods?  DNR Conservation Warden Supervisor Dave Walz says this time of year the ice can melt fast, so anglers should be aware of it. He says it also depends on the lake.  "We've seen anywhere some still on the Rainbow Flowage 24 inches of ice out there this last weekend," Walz says. "A few other lakes we've seen it as thin as six inches of ice."  Walz said no one fell through the ice this weekend in the Northwoods.  No matter the temperature, even if it's below zero, it's never a guarantee that ice is safe.  "Just remember, it's never 100 percent safe out there," Walz said. "It's always at your own risk." Walz said you should always fish with a partner for safety.  The last day ice shanties can be on lakes is March 19.
Oneida County puts out weight-limit restrictions for roads on earliest date in more than 15 years	News	2/22/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - If you did a double take driving down county highways this week, it was for good reason. Oneida County posted its weight limit restriction signs Monday. That's the earliest those signs have gone up in more than 15 years.  Usually weight limits go into effect in mid-March. Counties put them on to protect roads as frost comes out of the ground. Oneida County Highway Commissioner Bruce Stefonek tried to wait as long as possible.

Local recovery service removes car from ice	News	2/22/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	ONEIDA COUNTY - If your truck cracks through the ice, your first thought might be, get off ASAP. There are workers who head the opposite way--onto the ice to help. That describes one local team who carefully went to work on the Willow Flowage in Oneida County in Little Rice on Tuesday. "This ain't no joke out here," said Tom Quandt, Jr., the owner of Bulldog Off-Road Recovery Service. "I do get nervous, and today's a day I'm nervous because of the ice conditions."
Oneida County considers combining Three Lakes, Sugar Camp ambulance services into centrally located garage	News	2/23/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - Two Northwoods communities might trade their own ambulances for what Oneida County thinks will be a better combined service. The county is asking Sugar Camp and Three Lakes to consolidate their ambulances for one, centrally located rig. A new garage would go up near County Highway A on Thunder Lake Road between the two towns. Oneida County Emergency Management Director Ken Kortenhof says that rig would be staffed 24/7 by the highest-level paramedic. The two towns had a combined 365 calls for ambulance trips to the hospital last year.
Flu season peaks earlier than last year in Wisconsin	News	2/27/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	WISCONSIN - Flu season peaked earlier than usual this year in Wisconsin. The flu season usually runs from October to May the number of cases peaking in March. This year, the flu started to peak mid-February. Last week alone there were nearly 1,000 cases in Wisconsin. At that time last year there weren't even 200 cases. Each year the flu virus is different, which means a different vaccine. The vaccine is not completely effective, but people who get the flu vaccine are still more likely to avoid the flu than those who don't.
More than $500k in funding approved for Rhinelander-Oneida County Airport	News	2/28/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - The Rhinelander-Oneida County Airport will finish upgrading its snow removal equipment building this year. Governor Scott Walker approved more than $500,000 for improvements Tuesday. The maintenance building was built in 1978 and expanded ten years later, but hasn't had many improvements since then.
Possible vehicle smoking ban	News	2/28/2017	6, 7, 8A and 5p	:20	RHINELANDER - Second hand smoke can cause cancer and other health related issues. Eight states have passed bills banning smoking in vehicles with children. As states crack down on where you can smoke, Corie Zelazoski wants to help protect children who often don't have a choice of being around it. "They don't have the right to speak up," said Zelazoski. Zelazoski is a Community Health Specialists with the Oneida County Health Department. She hopes a smoking ban in cars could be a part of Wisconsin's future. "There are 7,000 chemicals in second hand smoke, 70 of which are known to be cancer causing agents. And we know that our children are vulnerable and we want to keep them as protected as possible," said Zelazoski. Zelazoski lists second and third hand smoke causes lung and ear infections, asthma and even stunted growth. That's why Zelazoski hopes Wisconsin joins the eight other states in banning smoking in cars with children.
