Rev. Bryan Clark

Discover God's Design and Purpose for Sex

Has your sexual experience left you with more pain than pleasure?

The key to your sexuality is to view it through the eyes of the God who created you. God's concern is not that you will experience too much but rather that you will settle for too little. Bryan Clark candidly explores what God has to say about sex. This book will clear the confusion and allow you to experience pleasure to the highest degree. Discover why God created sex and why it matters to Him, why sex apart from God can never fully satisfy, and how you can experience true intimacy.

"An honest look at the biblical basis for believing that 'sex is only for marriage' that is anything but dull and archaic. With truth and humor, Clark speaks to teens, singles, and marrieds alike about the hot-button issue of our day. His uncovering of the hunger for God behind sexual sin is both moving and convincing. Truly a joyous celebration of sex, not a boring manual!"

Debbie and Michael W. Smith,
Contemporary Christian singer/songwriter and Dove Award winner

"Since God invented sex, we ought to hear His side of the story; and Bryan Clark does an excellent job presenting it clearly from the Word of God. You won't be disappointed."

Warren Wiersbe, author and conference speaker

"In a generation where sex is so pervasive and misrepresented, Bryan Clark reminds us of what God intended when He created us as sexual beings. He exposes the false promises of sexual gratification outside of marriage and brings us back to our true need of fulfillment through Jesus Christ. In an easy-to-read style with great illustrations of biblical truth, this book serves as a beacon of light on how to fully enjoy the intimacy God offers a couple in a marriage relationship."

Gene Getz, author and senior pastor of Fellowship Bible Church North, Plano, Texas

BRYAN CLARK (pictured with wife Patti) is senior pastor of Lincoln Berean Church in Lincoln, Nebraska. Clark graduated from Moody Bible Institute, received his master's degree in Christian Education from Talbot Theological Seminary in California and his doctorate of ministry degree from Denver Seminary. He has been a featured speaker on Back to the Bible and has written for Back to the Bible's Bible Minute, AWANA Pathway Series, Haven of Rest and Leadership Journal.

feminism: mystique or mistake?

Does Feminism Encourage Women to Be Victors or Victims?

Former Feminist Diane Passno Discusses God's Liberating Plan for Women

WHEATON, IL (AUG. 7, 2000)—A movement that was launched to help women overcome social injustices and create laws to punish men who raped, give women equal career opportunities, and let women have the privilege of voting has turned into an organization that is pro-lesbianism, anti-men, and anti-children. Where did feminism go wrong?

Diane Passno, a feminist in the 60s and early 70s, has written "Feminism: Mystique or Mistake?" (Tyndale House Publishers and Focus on the Family) to explain the roots of feminism, explode the myths of the current feminist movement and show women God's liberating and victorious plan.

"Feminism is bankrupt as a movement and has become meaningless to thinking women today," says Passno. "Christian women have a message to tell the world about true liberation, the wonderful way in which the Lord views our gender. And we need to be the articulate instigators for change in our culture."

As the executive vice president over Focus on the Family's counseling and women's ministry department, Passno sees daily the negative toll the feminist mindset has taken on women. It has affected every area of their lives including romance, career, their relationship with God, and their responsibilities as a wife and a mom.

Because a victim mentality helps them further their cause, feminism today often encourages women to mire in their circumstances instead of succeeding as victors. "Unfortunately, the feminist movement continues to portray women as victims. This is becoming increasingly annoying, especially for those who have made their mark as successful businesswomen," says Passno. "People who see themselves as victims do not assume responsibility for their behavior. What they do is always someone else's problem or fault."

In her new book, Passno offers hope to women to become a victor through God's liberating plan instead of living life as a victim. "A truly liberated woman never places herself in situations where her self-respect and nobility of spirit will be compromised," she says. "No one has any power over you whatsoever if you have the Lord."

"Feminism: Mystique or Mistake?" will be available August 2000 in hardcover format at the sale price of $15.99 (ISBN: 1-56179-790-1)

Take A Toll On American Families
Congress shortsighted on bankruptcy reform

ROCKVILLE, Md. – “After filing for bankruptcy, the average American pays almost 65 percent more each month to live in the same home and drive the same car,” said Steve Rhode, president and co-founder of Myvesta.org. “Most people assume that the only cost of bankruptcy is the price of the lawyer. However, in addition to increased financial costs, families pay an emotional cost in terms of lost opportunities due to lack of self-esteem, shame and financial fears.”

Myvesta.org, the nation's only nonprofit comprehensive financial crisis center, calculated that families who don't have marks on their credit pay an average of $1,100 each month for their mortgage and auto loans. A post-bankruptcy family pays $1,800 for the same items because of higher interest rates. (Full calculations on page two.)

Just looking at these two purchases helps to uncover the hidden financial costs of bankruptcy. A bankruptcy filer's $700 extra monthly cost for just home and auto loans adds up to $42,000 over five years. If that same amount were available to invest in a conservative retirement fund with approximately a 10 percent return for 15 years, it would grow to about $150,000.

“The financial cost is big, but the emotional cost can be even bigger,” said Rhode, who filed for bankruptcy in 1990. “People say there's no stigma in filing for bankruptcy, but that's not true. It took me over a decade to talk openly about my bankruptcy, even though I used that experience to build an organization that helps thousands of people solve financial problems every week.”

Rhode went on to say, “We often see an emotional aftermath in clients who have financial problems. They lose self-esteem and confidence, personal characteristics that trickle down to affect them in many ways. Some clients stay in low-paying jobs thinking that new employers will not hire them. Others think they are stuck having to accept high interest rates after bankruptcy because their credit is trashed.”

Myvesta.org developed the Crisis Relief Team® and other programs to help people avoid bankruptcy. The Crisis Relief Team performs a complete review and analysis of a person's

Women's Health Specialist Dr. Cathy Carlson-Rink discusses
 The #1 Reason for Chronic Tiredness in Women

WHY ARE WOMEN SO TIRED?

Are you one of millions of women in North America plagued by constant feelings of fatigue and exhaustion?

An expert in women's and children's health says taking a simple qi or iron deficiency could be the first step on the road to recovering your energy and vitality.

"Fatigue is the most common symptom of iron deficiency -- a deficiency that affects 25% of all women in North America," says Dr. Cathy Carlson-Rink. "By discovering and then correcting that deficiency with diet changes and proper iron supplementation, women can gradually restore iron levels and bring about a resurgence of energy," she says.

To determine whether you have an iron deficiency, simply answer "yes" or "no" to the following questions:

- Are you lacking energy?
- Are you pale?
- Do you have dark circles under your eyes?
- Do you have a decreased ability to exercise?
- Do you have ridged finger nails and/or brittle hair?
- Do you have shortness of breath with exertion?
- Do it feel like your pulse is pounding or your heart racing?
- Do you have a hard time concentrating?
- Do you suffer from dizziness or buzzing in your ears?
- Do you have increased infections?
- Is your tongue sore?
- Do you crave starch, ice, clay or dirt?
