One of the coolest ways to get kids involved is a program called FIRST - For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology and it's all about problem solving with robot building. Today we're talking to two former FIRST students who now give their time to mentor!

Link: Amazon/Theburnzone.com

Category: Public Awareness

Description:

After seven years of faithfully following her spiritual teacher, Renee Linnell realized she was in a Buddhist cult and had been severely brainwashed. She had graduated magna cum laude with a double degree. She had traveled to nearly fifty countries alone before she turned thirty-five. She was a surf model and a professional tango dancer. She had started five different companies and was getting an MBA from NYU. How does someone like her end up brainwashed in a cult? Renee Linnell's The Burn Zone (She Writes Press, 2018) is an exploration of how we give away our power to others when we feel alone, lost, seeking, or doubtful of our self-worth—and a guide on how we can ultimately emerge from intense trauma stronger than ever. Part inspirational story, part cautionary tale, this is a memoir for spiritual seekers and those who feel lost in a world that makes them feel like they don't belong. Readers will learn to spot the red flags that signal dangerous self-empowerment groups, charismatic leaders, or even toxic friends/partners/lovers; how to embrace the value in being different and the fact that "your difference is your destiny;" and how to love your whole self (contradictions, flaws and all).

We see stories all the time of people whose lives are changed by tragedy only to be given the threads of a normal-ish life again via plastic surgery. Thanks to the same media we see horror stories or people become the butt of jokes when they over do it. A study conducted at Chapman University and published in the journal Body Image found that about half of women and men were not satisfied with their appearance. Furthermore, overall life satisfaction was strongly linked to the level of confidence one has in their looks. Dr Schimpf highlights the trends and psychological flags he sees in people looking to make changes with a scalpel.

Valley Girls & Guys has officially committed to raising $500,000 over the next 5 years to help build the new Cancer Center at Valley Medical Center in Renton. The goal may be very ambitious, but the impact of this center is huge. With this new center will come ground breaking new screening, diagnosis, and treatments for all types of cancers. THIS WILL SAVE LIVES. We will also be helping to create a "Patients Assistance Fund" to assist the most vulnerable cancer patients in their time of need.
