7) Supplemental Recruitment Initiatives. The supplemental recruitment initiatives undertaken by SMCCD during the period covered by this report are set forth below:

(a) Initiative: Greenberg-Steinhauser Scholarship Program

SMCCD makes available 5-10 paid internship opportunities for all areas of radio station operations, including producing, sound editing, video editing, sound design, call screening, music library catalog work, on-air assistance and public information outreach. Scholarship recipients come from Santa Monica College and include students of the broadcast program. Recipients reflect a diversity of background, age and ability.

The internships continue throughout the year and are offered for semester-long periods. All interns receive training and exposure to the skills necessary to have a successful career in the broadcast industry.

(b) Initiative: Volunteer Program

SMCCD maintains an active volunteer program with over 100 weekly participants. Volunteers actively work in every area of broadcast operations. The program is available to all interested participants. The volunteers come from all parts of Southern California and all age ranges. All interns are introduced to various jobs in the broadcast industry regardless of whether they will work in that area.

(c) Initiative: UCLA School of Public Policy Speaker

On March 13, 2014, SMCCD's General Manager and the President of the KCRW Foundation, Jennifer Ferro, spoke to a group of UCLA students in a public policy class. This was a 2-hour presentation about public radio and the various jobs, challenges and career opportunities in public broadcasting. Several topics were discussed about the radio industry and non-profit management. Among the topics discussed were how to get started in the broadcasting industry and the current openings in the internship program at SMCCD.

(d) Initiative: Summer Internship Program

High school and college students apply to participate in the KCRW Summer Internship Program that runs from June - September. This marketing internship exposes students to all of the areas involved in public broadcasting. Interns receive monthly visits and talks from various members of KCRW explaining their work and answering questions. Interns also work directly with various departments in the operation. In 2014, seventy-two college and high school students interned with KCRW.

(e) Initiative: Santa Monica College Internship Fair

May 8, 2014 KCRW participated in the Santa Monica College Internship Fair, explaining the various roles in the public broadcast industry. Santa Monica College has 34,000 students from highly diverse backgrounds. Well over 3000 students attended this fair.
