News: financial, consumer affairs & various	96.9 KWRB Consumer News	4-25-2022 1:40PM	60 Seconds	The college application deadline is closing in, and high school seniors are making their final decisions. But a sobering new survey suggests that applicants should think long and hard about how they will pay for their education. Sixty-three percent of borrowers say they regret going into debt. If you think grocery prices have gone up it's not your imagination. Nestle says it has increased prices in North America by eight and a half percent in the first three months of the year. The company said it is stepping up prices "in a responsible manner" and that there are more price hikes to come. United Airlines CEO Scott Kirby says it is "very unlikely" that the Biden administration's mask mandate for airlines will return. The Biden administration is appealing a judge's ruling that overturned an extension of the mandate, which – for the time being – is not being enforced.

Bartholomew, who has previously called for an end to war in Ukraine, said that he hoped this year's Easter would be "the impetus to open humanitarian corridors, safe passages to truly safe areas for the thousands of people surrounded in Mariupol." Lord we pray for a safe exodus for civilians and we pray for an end to the war. Yesterday marked two months of war in Ukraine, and Easter for Orthodox Christians, the vast majority of the country's population. Services this year in battle-worn areas were often sparse amid growing numbers of deaths, injuries and families fleeing their homes. Lord we pray Ukrainian families including refugees were able to observe Easter.

That's what's happening all over Kansas City--and now, in cities across the U.S.--as a sprawling tree-planting effort bears fruit. In 2013, Giving Grove, a Kansas City nonprofit, started cleaning up dump sites, empty lots, and other underutilized spaces, and planting orchards and gardens in them. The groves have flourished and made an impact on several levels. Besides replacing polluted and underused urban space, they provide food to the surrounding community, whose members care for the orchards themselves. In the nine years since Giving Grove sprouted, it has spread to ten other cities and planted some 330 orchards, many of them cultivated by youths who live in "food deserts."

He posted: I teamed up with the people at Youversion to release a 12-day devotional series, and it just went live today on the YouVersion app. Each day coincides with a different song from my album "Hymn Of Heaven". Each song on Hymn Of Heaven was written to inspire worship on the listeners hearts, and I pray that these Devo's do the same as you read.

				Football analyst Tony Dungy is defending his appearance with Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis at a pro-fatherhood event, saying he is driven by his faith to support an issue that should be bipartisan. "I am serving the Lord," Dungy tweeted. Dungy last week took part in an event and then immediately began receiving criticism on social media for appearing with DeSantis. Dungy, who formerly coached the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, said he has no regrets. He said, I am serving the Lord, so I'll keep supporting dads and families."

Ukraine's military said the Russian forces were pulling back from the northeastern city of Kharkiv and focusing on guarding supply routes while launching mortar, artillery and airstrikes in the eastern province of Donetsk in order to "deplete Ukrainian forces and destroy fortifications." Lord we pray for an end to this invasion of Ukraine. In China, Police raided the home of a youth leader associated with the heavily persecuted Early Rain Covenant Church while he was hosting a gathering for youth just days ago and detained him for interrogations, according to a report. He was released about 4 hours later but this is just another in a series of harassment by the Chinese government toward Christians. Lord we pray protection for Christians in China and an end to the persecution.

Officer Barron Dixon was actually off-the-clock and heading home after a shift when the call for help came in. He jumped into action without hesitation and was the first on the scene. Yakema Harris said her son had started vomiting after they arrived home from daycare and then stopped breathing. She called 911 and Dixon was the first to arrive. He immediately began CPR and was able to resuscitate the child. "His eyes just opened. And once his eyes opened, the gravity of it all just hit," Dixon said, describing it as "a rush of emotion." The boy was taken to a local hospital and was doing well, police said. Yakema Harris believes Dixon is her son's guardian angel. "I think he is an angel sent here from God," Harris told reporters. "His presence was very needed at that time."

"The shortage [is what's behind the wait], that's what they're telling us from the synod," Nancy Rupe, a Montana church's office administrator, who now runs the daily operations of the church with more than 260 active members, told The Christian Post. When asked what she thinks was the reason behind the pastor shortage, Rupe said she believes people are no longer as attracted to ministry as they were in the past and the COVID-19 pandemic was a big shock to the profession. Football analyst and Heisman Trophy winner Tim Tebow urged graduates of Trine University to make a positive difference in others' lives and not to get caught up in worldly pursuits, telling them that money and fame won't bring true satisfaction. Some of the most famous people in the world, he said, aren't happy. Tebow encouraged the graduates to 1) live by their convictions, not their emotions, 2) obtain the right perspective, and 3) be ready to make a difference.

Cluster munitions are controversial because they detonate in the air and release a cluster of smaller bombs which fall indiscriminately over a wide area, potentially putting civilians at risk. Lord we pray for an end to this ruthless attack on Ukraine. In the Democratic Republic of Congo, fighting between rebels and security forces puts civilians at risk. Tens of thousands have fled their homes since May 22, when the rebels launched their biggest offensive in a decade. Heavy fighting reached the outskirts of Goma, a provincial capital city. The Human Rights Watch has previously documented atrocities committed by the rebel group, known as M23. Lord we pray for an end to the fighting in the DRC.

Matthew posted: I'm honored to announce my first headlining show at the historic Ryman Auditorium with 'A Night of Worship at the Mother Church.' He says it will be on August 21st. He says he will have more announcements about this soon. According to a new Lifeway Research survey, half of Americans prefer to join a church that does not have the word 'Pentecostal' in its name. The survey found that 51 percent of respondents said that "a church with the word Pentecostal in its name was not for them." This was the denomination in which the highest percentage of people said they would not be interested in joining. The survey also asked about the inclusion of the terms Catholic which 48 percent did not like, Methodist was disliked by 47 percent and Baptist was disliked by 43-percent of respondents but it was even worse for Southern Baptists which showed 46 percent not wanting the words used in the name.
