

WZXZ-CD
Quarterly Children's Programming Commercial Time Limitation
Certifications 2023

I, Scott Saldana, Manager of L4 Media Group LLC, hereby certify that the following is true, correct and complete to the best of my knowledge, information and belief:

- 1) During the course of WZXZ's license renewal process and based on communications with Federal Communications Commission ("Commission") staff, it was discovered that WZXZ's quarterly Children's Programming Commercial Time Limitation Certifications going back to the station's previous license renewal did not contain the signature of a station employee.
- 2) This supplement covers quarterly Children's Programming Commercial Time Limit Certifications for 2023.
- 3) In addition, the covered certifications mistakenly reference Section 73.760 of the Commission's rules. Notwithstanding that typo, the quarterly Children's Programming Commercial Time Limit Certifications in WZXZ's online public inspection file were intended to and do address compliance with Section 73.670 of the Commission's rules.
- 4) All children's television programming aired by the WZXZ-CD during the time period covered by this supplemental certification complied with the limits on commercial material aired during children's programming under Section 73.670 of the Commission's rules, including programming broadcast on both weekdays and weekend.
