Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming
Doug is a young pre-teen who has Walter Mittyish-type fantasies in recounting his daily activities with friends and family. The overall educational value of the show lies in the basic life lessons offered by the program that encourage youngsters to have self-confidence, be honest, and offer assistance when friends and family are in need. Doug, the central character, is very identifiable to the 6-12 year old target demographic and experiences typical issues and behaviors that members of the show's pre-teen audience will relate to. The Doug character is a sensitive, insecure pre-teen whose innocence and trusting nature are the basis for many of the episodes. His cadre of friends represents typical types of pre-teens, making each of the episodes resonate with the audience. Doug also includes other important lessons for this demographic in the areas of social learning and personal growth by using a journal to express his feelings, insecurities and thoughts about people, places and relationships. The use of the journal offers children an opportunity to see the value of expressing one's thoughts in seeking satisfactory resolutions to problems and a means by which to communicate one's private feelings. The program's structure also offers the audience methods they can use to deal with situations of conflict, confusion and experiencing new things.

30 minutes	3 years	7 years	Y
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming
Gullah Gullah Island is a charming show designed for pre-schoolers. Each episode offers a mixture of curriculum-based and social learning for young children ages 3-7. Episodes usually address an overarching theme accompanied with a series of play songs designed to reinforce the learning concepts. The program offers strong educational messages for young children in terms of social learning, focusing on relationships, accepting responsibility, and learning about the environment. The show involves a family on an island called Gullah Gullah. The program includes a nuclear family and an extended family. The show also includes a fantasy character called Binyah Binyah who offers additional storylines involving pets, responsibility and friendships.

	From	To
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming
Allegra's Window is an early childhood vehicle that introduces youngsters from the ages of 2 1/2 to 5 to the adventures of a young pre-schooler by the name of Allegra. The show explores basic life lessons for pre-schoolers. Allegra's exploits take her into the world of making new friends, becoming more grown up and mature, and identifying and verbalizing the feelings and emotions that are experienced by this demographic. The underlying themes of the show incorporate musical concepts and terms with characters, situations, and original songs. The component of expressing yourself through song offers both a charming and instructional tool for youngsters to begin to identify with the main characters and express their own feelings.
