Mental Health Rest	K-LOVE's Positive People	March	Weekly Feature	60 seconds 8:41	Take the Day Off - Recharge Physically, Spiritually & Emotionally God's Way - Richard Hunt So many of us - always busy, always connected, never unplugged. Dallas Pastor Robert Morris experienced an embarrassing moment of just what over-doing-it can lead to! "I was so tired and when I opened my sock drawer, I didn't have any socks. And I actually felt myself beginning to cry," admits Pastor Morris. "So, I talked with a friend of mine and said, 'I think I'm losing my mind.'" And he said, "You're not losing your mind, Robert. You're just tired." The uncomfortable sock incident led Morris to look again at the 4th Commandment in the Bible, where he says God tells us, actually commands us, to take a break, honor Him, and recharge. Morris is the founding lead pastor of the 17,000 member Gateway Church, which has multiple campuses in the Dallas/Ft. Worth Metroplex. Clearly a man of God, but also a man who needs recharging like everyone does, he decided to share his experience and solution with a guidebook, Take the Day Off; Receiving God's Gift of Rest. Anchored directly on the 4th Commandment, the book shares blessings people have received because they gave God, and themselves, a day a week to reconnect and reset as needed. Pastor Morris also offers practical ways to do this. Though Old Testament-based, the Ten Commandments were never rescinded - and combined with the

					power and grace offered by Christ - they are a great example of the thematic elements that run through both the Old and New Testament. Pastor Morris believes that in many cases God will allow us to get more done in just six working days than we ever could have accomplished pushing through a full seven days. Morris agrees that the Bible can serve as a kind of owner's manual for our bodies, minds, and spirits. "God's the one who invented it. I mean it could have been a nine-day week. It could have been a five-day week. God created the world in six days and rested on the seventh. And I think he also did it as a witness."

This is something Tim Tebow would tell you is a result of God's provision and the work of thousands of faithful volunteers. You probably heard that Tim Tebow and Demi-Leigh Nel-Peters were married in South Africa in January. You may not have heard how they met. In our podcast, Tim shares that his wife's younger sister was special needs. Tim and Demi-Leigh actually met in 2018 at a Night to Shine event. She was there with her sister, Franje, who passed away in May of 2019. In our very long-distance interview with Tim, who was in Albania for a Night to Shine prom, he told us the importance of celebrating the lives of people with special needs. "A lot of them, they've never been celebrated, they've never been clapped for, they've never been cheered for, they've never been down a red carpet. In our society a red carpet signifies beauty and worth and status - and that's why every single Night to Shine, all around the world, is going to have a red carpet because in our society, it means
