

Let's Talk Cincy

Episode # 176

Air Date: 1/27/24

Synopsis:

We profile an organization, a church and a business providing help to people in Cincinnati who are in need year-round. Plus, a museum that preserves Cincinnati's role in providing information to Europe during World War 2.

Seg. 1

Experts say we are seeing a growing demand for food, housing, and other assistance for folks in need. But organizations providing safety nets are determined to continue their mission. So today I want to spotlight a few.

The first is a small church in greater Cincinnati called God's Harvest lending a helping hand thru outreach and a project called love's kitchen.

Seg. 2

A great community partnership is providing much-needed resources for people overcoming homelessness. An act of kindness called Design With A Heart.

Seg. 3

We spoke with an official with Saint Vincent de Paul about the year round support the organization provides to people in need.

Seg. 4

Let's look back into Cincinnati history that impacted the world. The year was 1944, during World War 2. Cincinnati became home to Voice Of America, the radio network that provided people living in Europe with news about the war.

The National Voice Of America Museum of Broadcasting is in West Chester.
