

COMMUNITY NEEDS AND ISSUES

Based upon WPBF's involvement in its community and input from community leaders and various organizations, WPBF has determined that the following issues are the concerns of the community:

➤ Politics

All political issues, races, and governmental concerns on local, statewide and national levels.

➤ Crime / Court

Street crimes, gangs, and the use/sale of illegal drugs are issues of serious concern. Issues and actions that take place every day in our courts affect the daily lives of our viewers.

➤ Community

Events, concerns, and the day to day issues that affect the local community.

➤ Health / Safety

Issues facing the health of viewers in our area. Medical breakthroughs. All issues dealing with safety are important to the viewing audience.

➤ Economy

How the overall economy of the nation, state, county, and city affects individuals' ability to manage on their current incomes is an overwhelming concern. How local/state and national leaders will lead on the economic front is also a concern.

➤ Sports

News and information relating to the sports world local, national, and international.

➤ Environment / Weather

Concerns and issues that involve the environment, weather and what is being done to address these issues.

He's also pledged to create a task force to reunite more than 600 children who were separated from their parents at the southern border, under Trump's "zero tolerance" policy. But immigration advocates and attorneys point out the Obama-Biden administration oversaw millions of deportations and an expansion of family detention, raising concerns about what's in store over the next four years. Correspondent Jessica Gomez traveled to Las Cruces, New Mexico to sit down with U.S. Federal Judge Robert Brack, who's applied to be on Biden's family reunification task force. He says he wants to part of the solution because he's been part of the "damage" for so long. Politics	Matter of Fact	N	01/17	1200-1230	30	On the day he's sworn in, President-Elect Joe Biden says he'll begin reversing President Trump's immigration policies. He's also pledged to create a task force to reunite more than 600 children who were separated from their parents at the southern border, under Trump's "zero tolerance" policy. But immigration advocates and attorneys point out the Obama-Biden administration oversaw millions of deportations and an expansion of family detention, raising concerns about what's in store over the next four years. Correspondent Jessica Gomez traveled to Las Cruces, New Mexico to sit down with U.S. Federal Judge Robert Brack, who's applied to be on Biden's family reunification task force. He says he wants to part of the solution because he's been part of the "damage" for so long. Then, they solemnly swear to uphold the U.S. Constitution, but what happens when elected officials are accused of violating the oath of office? Corey Brettschneider is a professor of political science at Brown University and author of "The Oath and the Office: A Guide to Constitution for Future Presidents," he tells Soledad Americans must demand the oath's enforcement or risk democracy falling apart. Plus, after years of amplifying misinformation, disinformation and conspiracy theories, and after banning President Trump from their platforms, the immense power of social media has never been clearer. But a collective understanding of the First Amendment and censorship- has never seemed more unclear. Soledad interviews Olivier Silvain, a professor of law at Fordham University about "Big Tech's" role in ensuring our discourse is rooted in facts. And before Twitter banned

Community	Matter of Fact Listening Tour	N	2/16	800-900pm	60	The Matter of Fact Listening Tour THE HARD TRUTH ABOUT BIAS centers on the urgent conversation around race, equality and justice. Hosted by acclaimed journalist Soledad O'Brien, this special brings together thought leaders from the worlds of news, sports, entertainment and academia to explore the relationship between race and privilege and the impact of bias in reinforcing racial inequities. This one-hour program examines how stereotypes are created and how they impact our views, beliefs and ultimately our actions. Through provocative story-telling the show creates a unique opportunity for viewers to engage in a respectful dialogue on race and social justice. The Matter of Fact Listening Tour, an extension of the award-winning weekly series, features authors, researchers, community leaders, artists and business owners in a compelling forum designed to bring original and substantive insights to this critical national discussion.

	Fact			1030		said we must act now. Will this push the new POTUS to aggressively pursue new gun laws? Shannon Watts, of Moms Demand Action tells Soledad her organization wants Biden to use Executive Orders if Congress won't act. Then, are you over pandemic precautions? Americans felt that way in 1918. Correspondent Joie Chen takes a historical look at the parallels between America's most dangerous pandemics. Plus, poet Sonia Sanchez reflects on her legacy in the Black Arts Movement. She's written more than a dozen books dating back to 1969, and she'll release a new book of poems next month. At 86, she tells Soledad why she's still hopeful her words can bring peace to the world. And, a brief look at the lengthy history of filibusters. And finally, packing on the pandemic pounds. How much did the numbers on the scale go up for Americans on lockdown?
