NOTE: KRVN-FM is a farmer/rancher owned radio station which is operated with AM Station KRVN. Approximately 88% of KRVN's broadcast day is agriculture-oriented news and public affairs programming. Although the KRVN-FM programming described in this report responds to issues of concern within the station's service area, the licensee places emphasis on the KRVN facilities and program service to provide issue-oriented programming to the stations' audience.

DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAMMING

"THE RIVER MORNING SHOW": 6-10am Monday-Friday with host Lana Greene. This daily program of news and entertainment incorporates Community Calendar; the Chamber of Commerce news, works with the high schools on different projects, such as the annual FFA labor auction and girls softball fund raisers for travel, by talking with the participants on the air; lets the listeners be aware of city and county events of interest; and does interviews with an ear for the unusual or variations on themes.

COMMUNITY INTERVIEWS: Timely 3-minute interviews are conducted with area community leaders including mayors, city administrators, sheriff and police departments covering current events affecting the community and broadcast throughout the day. Some topics include telephone scams, gang awareness, planned power outages and community celebrations such as Cozad Hay Days, Gothenburg Harvest Festival, and the Old Fashioned Fourth of July in Lexington.
