Dr. John Sall Estate Presents Major Gift

Dr. John Sall of Sioux Falls was fascinated by the world around him and an ardent advocate of education. Through his estate, the Friends of SDPB has received a $495,000 gift.

“He was interested in education and enlightenment,” said longtime family friend Steve Loper of New Jersey. “He wanted to make sure he contributed something.”

Dr. Sall was born on April 4, 1947, and died on July 6, 2010, at the age of 63. As a child, he suffered from Guillain-Barré syndrome and underwent extensive physical therapy to overcome the resulting muscle weakness. He eventually recovered, but battled medical problems throughout his life, Loper said.

“He was very bright.” He graduated at the top of his medical school class and became a doctor. He went on to become founder and a partner in the Central Plains Clinic.

Loper said Dr. Sall was a true renaissance man. He was a very busy doctor, but he had many other interests.

He loved to read and would often bring dozens of magazines along when he traveled so he could catch up on his reading. “After he died, his mail was forwarded here,” Loper said, “and I was getting two or three magazines every day.” His interests ranged from Smithsonian to medical journals.

“He was an avid gardener and had a nice little garden behind his home,” Loper said. “Of course, he was very busy at work and by the end of the summer the weeds would catch up with him and it looked like a jungle.” When Dr. Sall visited the East Coast, one of his favorite destinations was Longwood Gardens, a horticultural showplace in Delaware.

Dr. Sall also took time out for travel. One of his favorite trips was to Scandinavia, especially since he had Norwegian roots.

“He loved photography and would always send copies to friends.”

Another hobby was coin collecting.

Most importantly, Loper said, “he was a very generous man. Anyone who knew him would say that.”

“He was very generous to patients and if they had trouble paying, he would get fees waived, especially for families who had young children.”

In the final years of his life, he was forced to cope with the complications of diabetes and by 2005, his health went on a downward slide until his death in 2010, Loper said.

John Sall’s legacy lives on. He designated that 30 percent of his estate go to South Dakota Public Broadcasting. As a member of Friends of SDPB, he indicated that his favorite programs were the PBS NewsHour, Antiques Roadshow and radio’s Morning Edition. His generosity is making a big impact in this region. In addition to personal bequests, he also left money to the University of South Dakota Medical School, St. John’s University, O’Gorman High School and Minnesota Public Radio.

Owen DeJong and Jim Clark Keep the Notes Flowing on SDPB Radio

If you were to imagine SDPB Radio's weekdays local music programs as orchestras, the dueling maestros are Owen DeJong and Jim "Uncle Jimmo" Clark.

DeJong has hosted Morning Classics since the mid-1990s. He's an accomplished violinist, and has been playing for 54 years.

"When I was not even 5 years old, my Aunt took some violin lessons, and she didn't like it, and somehow my family ended up with that violin. It was kept up in a closet, and once in a while, my Mom and Dad would let me take it down and just kind of scrape on it and make some sounds."

At age 9, he started taking lessons at Concordia Conservatory in Fargo, North Dakota, and his musical education has continued ever since. His introduction to "fiddle" came when he was asked to play in a Country-Western themed production at the USD "Strollers" show in 1972.

"Afterward, we decided to keep the band together and play gigs. One thing led to another, and here I am today!" Since then, he has played old-time music and country fiddle throughout South Dakota as part of the Poker Alice band, the Public Domain Tune Band and other combos.

Though his first master's degree from the University of South Dakota was in English, years later, DeJong returned to USD to receive his second Master's, in Violin Performance. He joined SDPB radio in 1997, and shares his passion for classical music with fans throughout the state.

His philosophy behind Morning Classics is to inform and enlighten. "If there's a significant event going on, or if there's a significant composer's birthday, I'll build a program around that. In general, but not always, I like to start each show with something kind of short, then save the longer works for the second and third hour. My ideal goals are that my show should both entertain and educate."

Jim Clark

Jim Clark is known to his fans as "Uncle Jimmo" and his fans ("jazz babies") are found throughout South Dakota.

"I got my start in radio in 1970, at the tender age of 15, at WILT-AM, a 50-watt station in Tafuna, American Samoa" where his family lived at the time.

"As a kid, I was aware of Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, and Dave Brubeck, but didn't listen to their music. As a teen-ager, I was drawn to rock music like most young people my age, particularly to the Beatles. At WILT, we had three jazz albums in the library: A Charlie Byrd live recording, another live recording by Herbie Mann, and Miles Davis's Sketches of Spain. I took all three home, listened to them and liked them very much. I guess that was the starting point."

After working at radio stations around the country, and sampling jazz over the years, Clark finally put all his focus into jazz.

"When I finally committed to jazz, that was it ... there was no turning back."

He believes in the universality of the music.

"The great thing about jazz is that a performer can literally come from anywhere in the world. Jazz by its very nature is democratic and egalitarian, but it's also based on meritocracy. I like to think that the best players will eventually be recognized. Jazz is rooted in the big city but anyone anywhere can enjoy it through recordings and, if they're lucky, in live performance. That's why it's so important to support our local jazz musicians."

Since he came to South Dakota in 2001, the man known as "Uncle Jimmo" has gained a dedicated core audience across the state.

"My loyal listeners mean everything to me.

Without them

"My ideal goals are that my show should both entertain and educate."

- Owen DeJong

I'm nothing and what I do would be pretty much pointless. Therefore, there is a responsibility and obligation on my part to present the best show I possibly can. I don't take this responsibility lightly. I want to let my listeners know my sincere appreciation for staying with me for the past fourteen years, through thick and thin, and that I'll try to continue to strive for excellence. My listeners are the best!

"All I can say is thanks!"

"My loyal listeners mean everything to me."

- Jim Clark

True Heroics, Epic Struggle

It was April 1975. During the chaotic final days of the Vietnam War, as the North Vietnamese Army closed in on Saigon, South Vietnamese resistance crumbled.

It happened so fast. The lives of thousands of South Vietnamese allies were hanging in the balance. Americans faced an impossible choice – who would go and who would be left behind to what was expected to be a cruel future.

Last Days in Vietnam, a film presented by American Experience, tells a story of chaos, heroism and tragedy. The Oscar-nominated film, directed by Rory Kennedy, airs in conjunction with the 40th anniversary of the fall of Saigon on April 30, 1975.

The 1973 Paris Peace Accords had forged a tenuous ceasefire between North and South Vietnam, and mandated the removal of almost all U.S. forces. As North Vietnam violated the ceasefire in 1975, President Gerald Ford asked Congress for an emergency appropriation to aid the beleaguered South Vietnamese government. The White House expected that neither Congress nor the American people would support it. Says then-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, “We knew we were not going to get the $722 million. By that time, it made no big difference, [but] President Ford said first he owed it to Vietnam to make a request.”

By early March 1975, huge swaths of territory were overrun daily and, by the end of the month, the North Vietnamese Army had surrounded the capital, preparing to launch its final assault on Saigon – 11 months ahead of schedule.

On the ground, American officers found themselves faced with a moral dilemma: whether to follow official policy and evacuate only U.S. citizens and their dependents, or to go beyond orders and save some of the Vietnamese men, women and children.

At the risk of their careers and possible courts-martial, a handful of individuals took matters into their own hands. Engaging in unsanctioned and often makeshift operations, they waged a desperate effort to evacuate as many South Vietnamese as possible. Over the final days, they used rafts, cargo planes, and helicopters to help tens of thousands escape.

Screenings are supported by a grant from WGBH Boston, which produces American Experience for PBS. Exclusive corporate funding for American Experience is provided by Liberty Mutual Insurance. Major funding provided by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. Additional funding for “Last Days in Vietnam” provided by The Arthur Vining Davis Foundations: Dedicated to Strengthening America’s Future Through Education; The Documentary Investment Group; Gretchen Stone Cook Charitable Foundation; Roxanne E. & Michael J. Zak; and by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and public television viewers.

Dakota Life Goes from Earth to Sky

Dakota Life goes from earth to sky in April with stories about a thrilling medical moment in Vermillion, a historic Grant County church and the WW II contributions of a Sioux Falls woman.

The April episode premieres on Thursday, April 2, at 8pm (7 MT), with an encore on Sunday, April 5, at 1pm (Noon MT).

The monthly half-hour program, the signature features magazine for SDPB Television, looks at the fascinating people, places and things that make up our great state. Here are some of the highlights for April:

Keeping the Faith: In 1976, Jenny Peterson of Vermillion lost her sight and 100% of her skin after a severe allergic reaction to a medicine she was given. In 2010, after medical advances were made in corneal transplants, she regained her vision and has written an inspirational book about keeping her faith, using notes from a journal her husband kept.

Brown Earth Settlement – A small historic church is all that remains of the Flandreau Colony's attempt to homestead in the Brown Earth Settlement in Grant County in the mid-1880s. Today, the church looks very much the same way it did when the Dakota built it, including dirt floors, original chairs, and a historic working organ.

Civil Air Patrol: Sylvia Henkin – Sylvia Henken, 93, a prominent figure in the Sioux Falls community, will receive the Congressional Gold Medal awarded to the Civil Air Patrol in recognition of members' service during WW II.

Dakota Life airs several times during the month to give viewers a chance to tune in. Past episodes are available at SDPB.org/DakotaLife. The program airs statewide on SDPB and nationwide on RFD-TV.

Historic Church at the Brown Earth Settlement.

Experts Examine Juvenile Justice in South Dakota

South Dakota Focus will explore plans for "Juvenile & Criminal Justice Reform" in South Dakota on Thursday, April 9, at 8pm (7 MT), with an encore on Sunday, April 12, at 1pm (Noon MT).

Guests include:

- Pennington County State's Attorney Mark Vargo.
- Hughes County Sheriff Mike Leidholt.
- South Dakota Department of Corrections Secretary Denny Kaemingk.
- Brad Patterson, Director of Clinical & Prevention Services for Sioux Falls' Carroll Institute.
- Judge Steven Jensen, Presiding Judge of the First Judicial Circuit.

SDPB's signature public affairs program airs two to four times a month on Thursdays, generally with an encore on the following Sunday at 1pm (Noon MT). Tentative topics for April include Job Training on April 16, a salute to Vietnam Veterans on April 23, and a look at responsible social media use on April 30.

Strike up the All-State Band

The 2014 South Dakota All-State Band concerts are making music on SDPB1 Television on Saturday, April 18, at 8pm (7 MT).

More than 150 of South Dakota's best young musicians will be featured in the two-hour special. The talented high school instrumentalists, selected via audition, represent high schools from across South Dakota. The musicians were taped during the All-State gathering in Sioux Falls in March. The students are divided into two bands, presenting two fabulous concerts. Check out www.SDPB.org/Band for more on the two-day event.

High school achievement events are presented in partnership with the South Dakota High School Activities Association.

Major sponsors of high school activities coverage include Dacotah Bank and Midcontinent Communications. Additional sponsors include Farmers Union Insurance, Independent Insurance Agents of South Dakota and SDN Communications. Also, Sanford Health, Touchstone Energy Cooperatives and Spearfish GMC Cadillac. Also, Dakota Plains New Holland; Delta Dental of South Dakota; Fischer, Rounds & Associates; South Dakota State University; and Vance Thompson Vision. And South Dakota Crop Improvement Association, Subway and Taco John's.

SDPB Radio Wakes Up Your Saturday

Waking up on Saturdays is easy with SDPB Radio. The morning schedule is full of fascinating, fun and amazing news and information from The People's Pharmacy at 6am (5 MT) to This American Life at Noon (11 MT).

Saturday, April 11, starts the Spring SDPB Radio Membership Drive and special programming is coming your way.

People's Pharmacy looks at the latest in health research and offers some tips for managing your health with a minimum of drugs.

Weekend Edition brings two hours of news and fascinating features with host Scott Simon at 7am

(6 MT).

A special two-hour Wait, Wait ... Don't Tell Me! from 9am to 11 (8 to 10 MT) offers the hilarious side of the news, plus a chance to get tickets to panelist Paula Poundstone's show coming to Sioux Falls next fall (see page 20).

Science helps us explain a lot of things, and Radiolab, at 11am (10 MT) takes an amazing look at the science in our lives.

At Noon (11 MT), America's best storyteller, Ira Glass, mesmerizes with the tales of This American Life.

The Membership Drive continues through Noon (11 MT) April 18, after the three-hour Car Talk Marathon.

See a Funny Lady

Paula Poundstone, a panelist on Wait, Wait ... Don't Tell Me! will be in Sioux Falls on Oct. 16. Tune in April 11-18 to find out how to get tickets and support Friends of SDPB.

These programs and more are part of public radio in South Dakota. Your financial support makes these programs possible. So we'll be asking April 11-18, and we hope you're listening and cheering us on.

Thank you.

Jad Abumrad and Robert Krulwich bring science to our everyday lives in Radiolab

Brothers Ray and the late Tom Magliozzi are the voices behind The Best of Car Talk.

Inside Dakota Midday with Karl Gehrke

SDPB Radio: Dakota Midday, weekdays, Noon (11 MT)

On Feb. 27, his third anniversary as host of Dakota Midday, Karl Gehrke reflected on his role with the show, his goals and what he's accomplished.

"The show is issue driven. It's the conversation you have when you're a citizen of South Dakota. The issues may be arts or politics or health or topics in the news, but they're all part of the South Dakota conversation."

How does he select topics?

"I ask myself 'Is this important to South Dakotans?' Everything else is secondary. My aim is to enlighten and to inform people about:

"What is happening in South Dakota.

"Life in South Dakota.

"What matters to South Dakotans.

"What's entertaining to South Dakotans.

"I'm helping to put the issues in context."

Memorable interviews

Like his program, his most memorable interviews include a wide variety of interests: a talk with former Gov. Frank Farrar, an interview with motorcycle racer Brittney Olsen, a conversation with Aberdeen teen Matt Guthmiller, who flew around the world.

On Farrar: "He was in his 80s, still flying, still running, talking about his experiences ... it was a conversation with an interesting guy who also happened to be a governor of South Dakota."

About his role on Dakota Midday

"I'd never done a live interview show when I applied for the job." He did have nearly three decades of public radio experience on his side. "I'd done interviews for years, but I never did it live."

His try-out at SDPB Radio cemented the job for him, although he's pretty humble about it. "I guess I wasn't the worst person. I didn't swear, I wasn't rude to the guests."

Since his early days, he believes he's gotten better at the job, "I'm more comfortable and more at home."

And he's discovered the secret to live interviews: "The best interviews are people who are passionate about what they do. They love talking about what they do and I love hearing about it."

So do we.

Karl Gehrke

Join South Dakota's conversation on Dakota Midday on SDPB Radio, weekdays at Noon (11 MT). And tune in April 13-17 to learn about a special offer for the Dakota Midday Book Club.

Funny Lady – See Paula Poundstone Live

Wait, Wait ... Don't Tell Me! is laugh-out-loud radio, and comedian Paula Poundstone helps crack the "wit." Now, you have the opportunity to get tickets to see the Emmy winner live, and support Friends of SDPB.

Tune-in to a special two-hour Wait, Wait at 9am (8 MT) on Saturday, April 11, and you can support public broadcasting and choose premium tickets – in the first 10 rows – as your thank you gift. We'll even have an offer for an exclusive meet-and-greet!

The popular entertainer will perform at the Washington Pavilion in Sioux Falls on Friday, Oct. 16.

Poundstone is the first woman to win a Cable Ace Award for Best Standup Comedy Special, and the first woman to perform standup at the White House Correspondents dinner. She has had numerous standup comedy specials and television appearances, and just released her second comedy CD, I Heart Jokes: Paula Tells Them in Boston.

Friends of SDPB says Farewell to Donna Bauer

A farewell to former Friends Board member Donna Bauer, who died Jan. 31 at age 79.

Mrs. Bauer, who lived most of her life in Mitchell before moving to Sioux Falls in 2013, was an ardent support of Friends of SDPB and a true community asset, volunteering her time for many Mitchell organizations.

Mrs. Bauer became a member of Friends of SDPB in 1993, and during the next 22 years, she was a passionate supporter of public broadcasting, including as a member of the Visionary Society for 17 years and remembering Friends of SDPB in her estate. She served on the Friends of SDPB Board of Directors from 2002-2011. We are grateful for her extraordinary generosity and dedicated service to public broadcasting in South Dakota.

Several people have made contributions to Friends of SDPB in her memory. They include Lee Ball, Bismarck; Gladys Baldwin, Mitchell; Margaret Bush, Brookings; Dr. & Mrs. Don Dailey, Mitchell; Nathan & Mary Dally, Sioux Falls; and Carol Johnson, Watertown.

YFS Kids Fair!

Join SDPB at the Youth & Family Services Kids Fair in Rapid City on April 24-26.

SDPB will join dozens of groups and organizations to offer activities, photo opps with Buddy the SDPB Kid and more.

SDPB's Science Steve will dazzle the crowd with amazing science demos, and kids can learn about animals with an animal tracks coloring activity.

When: 8:30-4:30pm Friday, April 24, and Saturday, April 25; and Noon to 4pm Sunday, April 26.

Where: Rushmore Plaza Civic Center

Why: Activities, fun, and more.

The Visionary Society

The SDPB Visionary Society offers annual donors of $1,000 or more unique opportunities and a leadership role in supporting South Dakota's network: SDPB.
