SDPB's Supporting Role in the Classroom

Get ready to get fit!

Through fit, you can access and experience a suite of resources for parents and kids, all designed to help families make fit choices and stay healthy.

For parents

The Sanford fit/WebMD website gives parents the tools and resources they need to become healthy role models. Log on to explore healthy recipes, fit family challenges and connect with a community of parents and experts for support. Go to webmd.com/parenting/raising-fit-kids.

For kids

The website also offers an experience just for kids. Let them log on and discover entertaining and educational games, videos and challenges. No matter their age, the site has something for all kids to help them make fit choices every day and stay fit for life. Go to fit.sanfordhealth.org.

On the go

Take fit with you wherever you go! Though a series of free and engaging apps, you are never far away from fit activities. MOVE2Draw connects fun, friends and fit and is a simple and interactive way for kids to move and create their own unique drawings. eMOODicam helps not only capture the moment but also the emotion by allowing kids to bring their feelings to life and share with their friends in an easy-to-use app. Download in your app store today!

Wine and Dine with the Midwest's Legendary Fiddlers Three

Tom Schaefer

Friends of SDPB hosts a sizzling trio of strings when renowned fiddlers Owen DeJong, Kenny Putnam and Tom Schaefer perform together at Fiddles and Friends at Strawbale Winery near Renner, South Dakota on Saturday, August 22 from 5:30-8:30 pm.

Putnam, a member of the Red Willow Band who also played with Roy Clark, prepares us for a fun evening:

SDPB: "What's special about playing with Owen and Tom?"

Kenny Putnam: "They are the best players and fellas I've known for 40 years. Owen was an early inspiration of mine back in Vermillion in 1973 and Tom knows more about fiddle playing than I ever will."

SDPB: "What songs and styles can we expect?"

KP: "A little swing, country, Irish, Hawaiian and whatever else we decide."

SDPB: "Anything else you'd like us to know?"

KP: "The difference between a fiddle and a violin is, a fiddle's fun to listen to!"

Tickets are $25 and include wine and Skipping Stone's wood-fired pizza. Tickets are available at shop.SDPB.org, Strawbale Winery, or Friends of SDPB in Brookings at (800) 333-0789. Proceeds benefit Friends of SDPB.

Fred Rogers, host of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood.

Results from a recent landmark National Bureau of Economic Research study on the scholastic merits of Sesame Street (Early Childhood Education by MOOC: Lessons from Sesame Street) are proving what parents, educators, and public media supporters have known since Big Bird first bobbed down the famous avenue in 1969. Not only does Sesame Street promote school-preparedness in preschoolers, but according to analysts, kids with access to the show are more likely to advance through school at appropriate grade-levels.

Public media's supporting role in America's classrooms has a long legacy. In 1950s South Dakota, radio station KUSD broadcast music lessons to rural schoolhouses where instruments and band teachers were scarce. SDPB-TV began in 1951 as KUSD, a closed-circuit broadcast at the University of South Dakota to accommodate a growing student body enrolled under the GI Bill. Decades later, Sesame Street, Mr. Rogers, and Reading Rainbow premiered to provide children with school readiness skills and opportunities to experience cultures of all kinds on American television.

Changes in technology have only increased public media's opportunities to supplement PreK-12 classrooms. As WordGirl, Cyberchase, and Sesame Street's Game of Thrones spoof attest, public media is particularly adept at tapping into the contemporary to provide engaging educational programming.

Word Girl.

"I always recommend the PBS Kids website to my students as an awesome resource for use in their future classrooms," says Gera Jacobs, USD professor of Early Childhood and Elementary Education and Past President of the National Association for the Education of Young Children. "It has high quality content that will help children learn as well as be entertained," says Jacobs.

SDPB's Education and Outreach webpage, SDPB.org/learn, connects teachers and parents to PBS Learning Media and SDPB's Digital Learning Library. Combined, these digital libraries contain over 100,000 videos, interactives, and lesson plans, hundreds with a South Dakota focus and correlated to South Dakota and Common Core curriculum standards. Searchable by grade level and discipline, the libraries are connected to programs and resources produced by SDPB, PBS, and the Center for Native American Indian Research and Native Studies (CAIRNS). Lesson plans include everything from crafting a geological flipbook of Badland rock layers to high-quality videos of clam and cow eye dissections – a bonus for districts with budgets too tight for field trips or costly dissection specimens.

Additionally, SDPB.org/learn is a resource portal for collaborative projects throughout South Dakota and the nation. For example, students in Jacqueline Myers's 10th grade speech class in New Underwood filmed themselves reciting Lincoln's Gettysburg Address to share for SDPB's Learn the Address project. "My students were so engaged. Seeing their hard work published online for a larger audience was a powerful motivating tool," says Myers.

While teaching handouts and videos proliferate on the Internet, not all receive passing grades from instructors. Myers says she appreciates SDPB's engaging content as well as the quality control. "That the resources come from SDPB gives me a feeling of security," says Myers. "I can send my students to these resources without being afraid of them being redirected to any inappropriate material."

At the center of SDPB's educational and outreach efforts is "Science Steve" Rokusek. Rokusek is popular with kids and area educators alike for his wildly entertaining science demonstrations that use items like a leaf blower and flying toilet paper to teach velocity and air pressure. Rokusek's lively demonstrations derive from his years teaching science to high schoolers. "I noticed all students do better with a variety of approaches to providing content," says Rokusek. "Incorporating movement gets kids to focus and can provide better outcomes."

As a developer of educational content for SDPB's online resources, Rokusek is mindful of realities of educators, students, and school facilities. "The rule of thumb is that kids have one minute of attention span for every year of age," says Rokusek. "It can be challenging for teachers to keep them engaged at all times. We provide a variety of ideas, activities and video clips so teachers can incorporate their curriculum quickly and without trouble." According to Ryan Zens, director of Fit and Fun, a Rapid City pre-school and after-school program, "In teacher trainings, Steve does hands-on stuff we can take back and use right away. His projects use recycled materials, ice, wires, light bulbs - things that we have at our facility that we can definitely do."

And while media-rich content is desirable, Rokusek focuses on accessibility for educators who are end-users of SDPB resources by providing "glitch-free" content. The SDPB.org/learn website provides text-only documents and downloadable videos to ensure materials are compatible with most technology.

Rokusek says relationships with educators are still foremost. "I like to keep close connections with teachers either face-to-face at conferences or with our weekly newsletter," says Rokusek. "Teachers are one of our children's greatest assets. Throughout the school year teachers are with our children almost every day. At SDPB, we strive to support teachers by providing accessible, age-appropriate resources that are classroom ready."

The Life of Pie

A delectable new documentary, A Few Good Pie Places, debuts Tuesday, August 25, 7pm (6 MT) on SDPB1. The show taste-tests flaky favorites throughout America, sampling Big Domed Apple Pie in California, Coconut Cream in Pittsburgh, a “pie shed” that operates on the honor system in Vermont, and the annual Pie Day contest in Braham, Minnesota. To visit more exquisite bakeries, patisseries, and panaderías throughout the United States, stay tuned for A Few Great Bakeries on Tuesday, August 25, at 8pm (7 MT).

More splendid cooking programs can be found at SDPB.org/food, where Midwesterners can make the most of local fare, including rhubarb, catfish, and horseradish, with recipes and insights from South Dakota Magazine food blogger Fran Hill.

American Revolutionary: The Evolution of Grace Lee Boggs - Chinese-American philosopher, writer, and activist, Grace Lee Boggs, 98, has been rooted for 75 years in the labor, civil rights, and Black Power movements. With a thick FBI file and unflagging tenacity, Boggs continues to work for societal transformation.

SDPB2, Friday, August 14, 6pm

Neuland – “New Territory” – Immerses viewers in a Swiss integration class where for two years adolescent immigrants struggle to learn a new language and culture and understand their innermost hopes and dreams.

SDPB1: Monday, Aug 17, 9pm (8 MT)

Point and Shoot – Matt VanDyke is transformed from a timid 26-year-old to a motorcycle-driving rebel, fighting in the Libyan revolution.

SDPB1: Monday, Aug 24, 9pm (8 MT)

The Storm Makers – A chilling exposé of Cambodia’s human trafficking underworld weaves the chronicle of a girl sold into slavery at 16 with the story of two underhanded traffickers who prey on the poor and illiterate.

Slow Dance with Cheryl Ladd

If you like piña colodas, you may enjoy 60s & 70s Slow Songs (SDPB1 Aug 8 & 16) hosted by Huron native and film/TV actress Cheryl Ladd. The program showcases slow-dancing radio classics like Rupert Holmes's "Escape," Robert John's "Sad Eyes" and Perry Como's "Where Do I Begin."

SDPB quickens the tempo on Rock, Pop, and Doo Wop (SDPB1 Aug 12 & 15) when Ronnie Spector sings smash Ronettes-era hits like "Be My Baby" and "Baby I Love You." The show also features electrifying renditions of "Da Doo Ron Ron" and "Then He Kissed Me" from Crystals girl group singer La La Brooks and performances by Jay Black of Jay & the Americans ("Cara Mia") and Len Barry ("1-2-3").

County music legend Roy Clark hosts Country Pop Legends (SDPB1 Aug 10 & 12) featuring performances from crossover luminaries like Glen Campbell, Crystal Gayle, Tammy Wynette, and the Bellamy Brothers ("Let Your Love Flow").

And celebrate five decades of folk artistry and passionate politics with 50 Years with Peter, Paul, and Mary on SDPB1 Aug 14.

Or if you are into yoga, health food, or improving your brain, SDPB

TV can help you escape with a week of rejuvenating lifestyle programs.

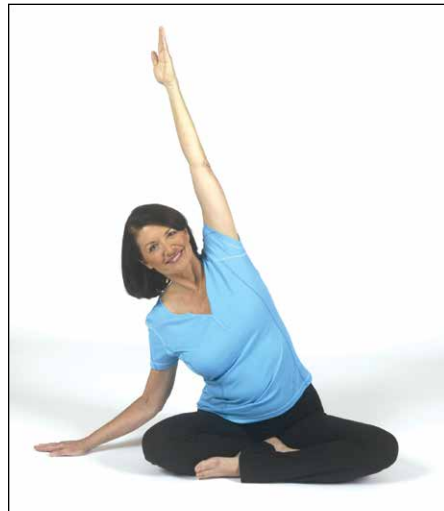

Viewers can ease pain and increase strength with Peggy Cappy's Easy Yoga for Arthritis, learn healthful eating habits on Disease Proof with Joel Furman, MD, (SDPB1 Aug 8) and discover the gut-gray matter nutrition connection on Brain Maker with neurologist David Perlmutter (Aug 8, 9, & 16 on SDPB1).

Check the listings for further details. Special lifestyle and music programming is provided in part by supporters like you. Thank you.

Sherlock & Watson Hunt a Mystery on the Moors

Sherlock (Benedict Cumberbatch) and Dr. Watson (Martin Freeman) track a legendary giant hound on the moors near Baskerville, a top-secret military compound where chemical and biological weapons experiments are allegedly conducted on genetically engineered animals. Henry Knight (Russell Tovey) claims to have seen the hound's footprints in the very location where it killed his father decades before in Masterpiece Mystery! Sherlock: The Hounds of Baskerville.

SDPB Governing Boards Meeting in August

The SDPB governing boards will meet in the Freedom Forum Conference Room in the Al Neuharth Media Center on the USD campus in Vermillion. The South Dakota Board of Directors for Educational Telecommunications meets Thursday, August 13 at 1pm. For more information call 1-800-456-0766.

The Friends of SDPB Board of Directors, the network's fundraising and advocacy arm, meets Friday, August 14 at 10am. For more information call 1-800-333-0789. Board meetings are open to the public.

Sound Check

If silence is golden, how rich SDPB Radio audio engineers must be.

For the engineers who record live music acts on-site, coughs, feedback, and uncooperative acoustics are routine hazards of a job in which the goal is to capture a clean recording while preserving the energy and spontaneity of a live performance.

SDPB Radio records and produces hundreds of hours of local, regional, and national music acts, including high school All-State Chorus and Orchestra concerts. Our sound engineers, including contract engineers based in Sioux Falls and Rapid City, work hard to record the South Dakota and Black Hills symphony orchestras, JazzFest, and Sioux Falls Jazz and Blues Society to provide the live music SDPB Radio listeners have come to expect and enjoy on South Dakota Season Ticket (Wednesdays, 10am/11MT, during Morning Classics) and Jazz Nightly (Weeknights, 8 pm/7 MT.) Copies of live concerts, refined in-studio with post-production by SDPB engineers, are often made available to the public as well as the artists.

Communist Daughter

Recently, the number of live performances recorded by SDPB has increased significantly. Acts like blues/soul artist Kyshona Armstrong live from Augustana College, indie rockers Communist Daughter at the Black Hills Music Festival, Condor at the 605 Summer Classic, and a bevy of Americana, roots music, and plains folk are broadcast on SDPB's On Record with Matt Weesner (Saturdays, 9pm/8 MT) and No Cover No Minimum Radio (Saturdays, 11pm/10 MT). Listeners can also stream live acts on-demand by downloading the SDPB App for iOS or Android at SDPB.org/app.

Neutrino Day

Hundreds participated in science experiments, games, and discussions during the Sanford Underground Research Facility's Neutrino Day activities held July 10 and 11 in Lead. The two-day science extravaganza commemorated the 50th anniversary of the Solar Neutrino Experiment at Homestake Mine – the first to successfully detect and count the solar neutrinos that help us understand how stars produce energy.

SDPB Radio's Dakota Midday Innovation broadcast live from the underground lab and featured Rapid City native Emily Graslie, 26, who is Chief Curiosity Correspondent for the Chicago Field Museum. Graslie also discussed the role of science and art with SDPB Radio News Director Cara Hetland at the Homestake Opera House.

SDPB's Science Steve performs science demonstrations for kids at Neutrino Day.

World-renowned astrophysicist Dr. Ray "Rayjay" Jayawardhana also guested on Dakota Midday and gave the keynote speech on neutrino particles and the value of research conducted at the underground lab. SDPB's "Science Steve" Rokusek entertained and educated emerging young scientists with wild science demonstrations.

SDPB's participation in Neutrino Day was made possible by the John T. Vucurevich Foundation.

Turn your Subaru into Sesame Street or your Jeep into Jazz Nightly by donating your car to SDPB. We accept any vehicle, running or not, including cars, trucks, boats, RVs, motorcycles, and more. We work with our public radio colleagues at Car Talk Vehicle Donation Services to ensure your donation delivers the highest possible revenue to SDPB and that your experience is convenient and efficient.

For more information about how to donate your vehicle, call our vehicle donation program partners at 855-845-1960, or visit sdpb-cardonations.org to get your vehicle on (or off!) the road.

Rally on the Radio

Tune into SDPB Radio for a series of stories as the Sturgis Motorcycle Rally celebrates its 75th anniversary, August 3-9. The rally, which first took place on August 14, 1938 by the "Jackpine Gypsies" motorcycle club, has grown into a multi-million dollar event that attracts hundreds of thousands of biking enthusiasts from throughout the world.

Our reporters will look at the economic impact across the state as bikers often travel back roads. We'll also hear the stories about the history of the rally, the bikers who come back every year and how law enforcement handles the crowds. We will feature some lighthearted stories and also some stories about darker topics like drug and human sex trafficking during the week. The series airs throughout the week on Morning Edition/All Things Considered and Dakota MIDDAY.

Sturgis Motorcycle Rally 2014, Main Street.

Great seats are still available!

Paula Poundstone is heading to South Dakota.

See Paula Poundstone Live!

Wait, Wait ... Don't Tell Me! is laugh-out-loud radio, and comedian Paula Poundstone helps crack the "wit." Now, you have the opportunity to get tickets to see the Emmy winner live, and support Friends of SDPB.

The popular entertainer will perform at the Washington Pavilion in Sioux Falls on Friday, Oct. 16.

Poundstone is the first woman to win a Cable Ace Award for Best Standup Comedy Special, and the first woman to perform standup at the White House Correspondents dinner.

She has had numerous standup comedy specials and television appearances, and just released her second comedy CD, I Heart Jokes: Paula Tells Them in Boston.

Tickets can be purchased at the Washington Pavilion Box Office or by going online to WashingtonPavilion.org.

Check out the SDPB App

SDPB has a new app that makes it easier for you to interact with your statewide network.

The free SDPB App helps you connect with live SDPB Radio and stream SDPB programs on your mobile device. You're able to find information on the latest SDPB events and kids and family activities. News from SDPB Radio and programs from SDPB Television are delivered conveniently to your device anywhere any time. During the school year, tune into SDPB's high school achievement events like Football Championships, Chorus & Orchestra or State Basketball Tournaments.

The free download is available in the app store for your Android or Apple device.
