GREETINGS AND HAPPY SEPTEMBER,

If you missed it last month, this section of the magazine is a space to highlight what's going on behind the scenes at SDPB and include additional information that might not fit in the magazine elsewhere. This is my favorite part of the magazine because I get to speak to you personally and help build anticipation for the coming content-filled pages.

This month our feature article will celebrate our beloved series, Dakota Life, which has been telling South Dakota stories for the past 24 years and is celebrating its 25th season. To kick it all off, we'll be visiting the town of Sisseton for the premiere of their own episode. Read the story on page 4 and then flip to page 11 for more info on the Sisseton screening.

Additionally, we want to meet you! You might be asking how this is possible, and I'm here to give you the answer. Throughout this month we will be hosting numerous in-person events where you're invited to meet the SDPB staff, participate in activities, or get a preview to upcoming content. Information regarding this can be found on pages 28-29.

Behind the curtain, we are looking forward to fall programming, including high school sports and general election news. We are so excited to jumpstart the fall season with this issue and we hope you enjoy.

Cheers,

Kylin McKean, Editor

CELEBRATING

25 YEARS OF DAKOTA LIFE

It's that time of year again. This month we kickstart the beginning of the 25th season of Dakota Life. Every year for the past 24 years, we've ventured out to find stories and discover the history of the many towns across the state that contribute to the charming character of South Dakota. This season we venture into 9 towns to learn what it is about these places that makes them a treasure to our state. Featured in the 2022-2023 season are the towns of Sisseton, Leola, Mission, Parkston, Miller, Belle Fourche, Lead, Buffalo, and Howard.

Dakota Life has brought viewers a personal look into histories all over the state of South Dakota since September of 1998. The first three episodes focused on stories like the Jewel of the Black Hills, where we explored the Opera House of Lead; Prairie Spires, where we highlighted the architecture and history of Prairie churches; and Dakota Dogs, where we met working dogs across the state. Before it was known as Dakota Life, it was known by two other titles: Scrapbook and South Dakota Outdoor Guide which focused on all things outdoors including fishing, skiing, snowmobiling, and more. 25 years ago, the focus and mission of this series shifted after a 4-year hiatus. Thus, what viewers now know as Dakota Life was born.

DAKOTA LIFE CELEBRATES THE STORIES OF SOUTH DAKOTANS AND THEIR PERSONAL CONNECTION TO THEIR LAND THEIR COMMUNITY AND THEIR CULTURE, THESE ARE THE STORIES THAT MAKE SOUTH DAKOTA UNIQUE.

What perhaps is more loved than even the many remarkable places and people featured on this show is the life behind it. Julie Overgaard, Executive Director of South Dakota Public Broadcasting describes the show as such: “Dakota Life tells the story of who we are. The history that shaped us. The people who influence us. The places that inspire us. The interests we share. Dakota Life helps me find joy in being South Dakotan!” Non-news and feature-driven, Dakota Life checks the boxes of magazine shows, but there is a lot of work happening behind the scenes to make sure you can experience the spark of South Dakota.

Greg Beesley, one of Dakota Life’s Segment Producers, gets to have a hands-on experience with the show, traveling from town to town capturing the special aspects that people enjoy seeing. Beesley shares that one of the most exciting parts of his job is getting to premiere the finished product with the residents of these locations and watch them light up at the thought of their stories being shared. “For me, Dakota Life means telling all of the amazing stories we do and getting to educate other South Dakotans about parts of the state they may not have visited and hopefully entice them to take a trip and visit a different part of our great state,” says Beesley.

As we mark this anniversary and look ahead to 25 more years of Dakota Life we hope to continue sharing the stories that make each community unique, and that make each community uniquely South Dakotan. Watch season 25 and discover something new about your neighbors. We begin the year with a visit to Sisseton.

Lion: The Rise and Fall of the Marsh Pride is a groundbreaking documentary that tells the epic story of the famed Marsh pride of lions as it battles for survival. In a world where lions and humans are increasingly at odds, the film charts the rise and fall of the pride, which has been documented by the BBC for over 30 years.

The U.S. and the Holocaust is a three-part series that tells the story of how the American people grappled with one of the greatest humanitarian crises of the twentieth century.

“History cannot be looked at in isolation,” said Ken Burns. “While we rightly celebrate American ideals of democracy and our history as a nation of immigrants, we must also grapple with the fact that American institutions and policies, like segregation and the brutal treatment of indigenous populations, were influential in Hitler’s Germany. And it cannot be denied that, although we accepted more refugees than any other sovereign nation, America could have done so much more to help the millions of desperate people fleeing Nazi persecution.”

By examining events leading up to and during the Holocaust with fresh eyes, this film dispels the competing myths that Americans either were ignorant of what was happening to Jews in Europe, or that they merely looked on with callous indifference. The truth is much more nuanced and complicated, and the challenges that the American people confronted raise questions that remain essential to our society today:

WHAT IS AMERICA'S ROLE AS A LAND OF IMMIGRANTS?

WHAT ARE THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF A NATION TO INTERVENE IN HUMANITARIAN CRISES?

WHAT SHOULD OUR LEADERS AND THE PRESS DO TO SHAPE PUBLIC OPINION?

WHAT CAN INDIVIDUALS DO WHEN GOVERNMENTS FAIL TO ACT?

Combining the first-person accounts of Holocaust witnesses and survivors and interviews with leading historians and writers, the film tackles a range of questions that remain essential to our society today, including how racism influences policies related to immigration and refugees as well as how governments and people respond to the rise of authoritarian states that manipulate history and facts to consolidate power. Watch all three parts of this emotional and eyeopening documentary on South Dakota Public Broadcasting.

HIDDEN BRAIN

TERRY
HILLMAN,
DENNY
MENHOLT
RUSHMORE

“SOUTH DAKOTA PUBLIC BROADCASTING GIVES [THE PUBLIC] AN AVENUE TO WATCH, TO LEARN, TO LISTEN TO WHAT THEY WOULDN'T GET ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE MEDIA,” SAYS TERRY HILLMAN

South Dakota Public Broadcasting exists, in part, because of the support we receive from individuals who benefit from our programming. Another source of support comes from businesses, corporations, and organizations that partner with us to fulfill our mission. We are grateful for their financial assistance that helps pay for the programs and services SDPB provides. Among our many corporate partners is Denny Menholt Rushmore Honda, which has underwritten SDPB for several years.

Terry Hillman, Menholt Rushmore Honda's Sales Manager, shares why companies help fund SDPB. “It gives us a chance to give back to the state in a different way. Most of our advertising is done on the national networks. [Underwriting with SDPB] gives us a chance to support a program that helps to educate the state about itself and gives it an avenue to watch different programs.”

Enlightening is a word Terry uses to describe SDPB. He says “You just learn things. You see people and children that have, I'm going to say, an epiphany, but they just learn things about the state and the people that they would not have learned otherwise. It creates good conversation once they see it and it is great.”

Terry explains that companies that support organizations with a community-minded mission is something that benefits the area as a whole, and that's why Menholt is a supporter of SDPB. “When you advertise on public television, I think that you find a different audience than you'll find anywhere else. I like to think that you maybe have an audience that's a little bit more intrigued, searching maybe for a few more answers.”

Terry believes that SDPB brings a flair to the area. “If you're looking to spend some advertising dollars, I would take a hard look at South Dakota Public Broadcasting mainly because they have a diverse audience that's not your typical audience. They're searching for some answers. They're searching for something different.”

108 MAX LANE

108 Max Lane is a portrait of the Robison family ranch in McAllister, Montana. Max Robison is a fourth-generation rancher and the second in his family to ranch in the Madison River Valley. He will likely be the last. As land prices soar, the centuries old tradition of small-scale family run ranches is fading out, yet still holds relevance for the American way of life. The film follows Max Robison through a visual journey of changing seasons in a life and process that is both raw and genuine.
