Ag Reigns as Dakota Life Starts 17th Season

Dakota Life, SDPB Television's signature newsfeatures magazine, begins its 17th season in September with a look at agriculture.

The 17th season premieres on Thursday, Sept. 4, at 8pm (7 MT). The program will look at a farm equipment expo in Huron; the SDSU professor who paved the way for wheat farmers with a disease resistant plant; and a plowing contest that takes us back to simpler days.

Dakota Life examines the people, places and history of South Dakota each month. The half-hour program travels throughout the state to strengthen our knowledge about the state and the bonds between people who live here. This year, the program also features the Landscapes of South Dakota, SDPB's yearlong effort to share many facets of our unique identity as the state celebrates 125 years of statehood.

Over the next few months, Dakota Life will explore the Harney Peak Observatory renovation, the restoration of the stained glass in the State Capitol, sacred Lakota sites, heroic South Dakota teens, the Asian carp invasion, a world-class music festival and many more stories, ranging across the state.

The program airs several times throughout each month to give viewers an opportunity to tune in. Past programs are available on-demand at SDPB.org/DakotaLife.

Before and after photos show the School for the Blind, now a resort and business center in Sioux Falls.

Program Looks at Economics of Preservation

A study of South Dakota projects to restore historic buildings has found that renewing and reusing historic sites rather than demolishing them benefits the state.

We'll learn about the project in a new SDPB Television production Putting History to Work The Economic Benefits Of Historic Preservation. The half-hour program premieres on Thursday, Sept. 4, at 8:30pm (7:30 MT) with an encore on Sunday, Sept. 7, at 1:30pm (12:30 MT).

The study was commissioned by the South Dakota State Historical Society's State Historic Preservation Office to examine the economic impact of rehabilitating buildings.

The Center for Urban Policy Research at Rutgers University's Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy found that preservation:

- Creates jobs.
- Brings revenue to communities and the state.
- Encourages tourism.

MOUNT RUSHMORE'S ROOSEVELT COMES TO LIFE

There's some magic in the air when President Theodore Roosevelt comes to life.

"Theodore Roosevelt is just as entertaining of a guy as anyone you would meet," says Clay Jenkinson, "Everything is over the top and it's just exhausting to be him for even an hour or two!"

Jenkinson, one of the top humanities scholars in the nation, and consultant for famed filmmaker Ken Burns, brings Teddy Roosevelt to the stage in Rapid City in September. His goal is to give the audience a taste of what it would have been like to be in the presence of someone from the past.

The North Dakota man has a close connection to the 26th President of the United States. Jenkinson is a history professor at Dickinson State University and the Chief Consultant for the Theodore Roosevelt Center at the school, not far from Theodore Roosevelt National Park and the lands where Roosevelt was a cowboy and rancher.

Growing up, Jenkinson had no experience in performing. But in 1987, he was asked to portray Thomas Jefferson, and his career with impersonations began. After thousands of shows, Jenkinson is an expert on more than a dozen historical figures.

Mastering someone else's life isn't an easy process. It involves reading biographies, memorizing monologues and tracking down any other research material he can get his hands on.

"I'm a speaking encyclopedia of that person's life," says Jenkinson. He has performed all over the world, in venues as prestigious as the White House and as ordinary as kindergartens.

Roosevelt was born in New York, but headed west to Dakota Territory in 1884. He invested in two ranches and developed a great love for the Badlands and frontier of North Dakota. His life in the Wild West was colorful – arresting thieves, stopping stampedes, and even punching out a gunslinger in a bar. Roosevelt developed the skills that led to the formation of the Rough Riders, fame in battle and election as Governor of New York and then as Vice President. He became President when William McKinley was assassinated in 1901.

Jenkinson has been called upon by PBS documentary filmmaker Ken Burns to be an expert in three of his productions. He has taken part in documentaries on Thomas Jefferson, the National Parks, and the most recent film, The Roosevelts An Intimate History.

A free preview screening of Burn's 14-hour documentary, The Roosevelts, will be shown at the Rapid City Performing Arts Center at 7pm Saturday, Sept. 6. Following the preview, Jenkinson will take the stage.

"I don't try to do a one man show, because I think that that's a mistake," says Jenkinson, "What I want to do is address the audience as if they were in front of the character."

Not only will Jenkinson perform a monologue, but the audience also has the opportunity for a Q&A with Jenkinson as himself and in character as President Theodore Roosevelt.

In Operation Maneater, veterinarian Mark Evans uses technology to tackle three deadly predators: the great white shark, Nile crocodile and polar bear. When these animals attack humans, both sides lose. As more people are killed or maimed, more animals are killed in retaliation. Evans wants to find ways to break this circle of violence and protect both humans and animals. Follow him as he tries out ingenious high-tech solutions to the most hostile wildlife conflicts on Earth.

In the summer of 1910, an immense wildfire devoured more than 3 million acres across the Northern Rockies. American Experience The Big Burn follows the catastrophe that defined the U.S. Forest Service and the nation's fire policy for the rest of the 20th century and beyond. The Big Burn, inspired by the best-selling book by Timothy Egan, is a tale of heroism and sacrifice, arrogance and greed, and, ultimately, humility in the face of nature's power.

Vaccinations are in the news and NOVA examines the controversy in Vaccines – Calling the Shots. Diseases that were largely eradicated in the United States a generation ago – whooping cough, measles, mumps – are returning, in part because nervous parents are skipping their children's shots. NOVA goes around the world to track epidemics, explore the science behind vaccinations, and shed light on the risks of opting out.

The valiant defense of Fort McHenry on the night of September 13, 1814, during the Battle of Baltimore inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." Great Performances celebrates with "Star-Spangled Spectacular: The Bicentennial of Our National Anthem." The poem that Key set to music quickly spread and became the rallying cry for the new nation. In 1931, Congress declared it our national anthem. This PBS special goes to the Baltimore Harbor front to commemorate the anthem's creation and the courageous battle that inspired it.

Theodore Roosevelt
A Cowboy's Ride to the White House is the exciting story of a physically challenged young man from Harvard who came to the western frontier in 1883. Theodore Roosevelt bought a ranch, and learned how to ride, shoot and hunt in the Badlands of North Dakota. He acquired the skills that would make him a war hero and American President. Filmed on location at the Roosevelt ranches, Theodore Roosevelt's story is brought to life by nationally acclaimed historians H.W. Brands, Douglas Brinkley, Clay Jenkinson, and great-grandson Tweed Roosevelt.

SDPB's Meet the Candidates series begins in September, giving all South Dakota Legislature candidates who choose to participate a chance to talk about their campaign platforms.

SDPB Television has traveled across the state this summer to record candidates for the South Dakota House and Senate. Each gets two minutes to talk to South Dakotans. The interviews are organized by area into about four one-hour programs and the series appears on SDPB2

Television, one of SDPB's three television channels. Each program airs on SDPB2 several times over the course of a week and all of the interviews will be available on demand at SDPB.org/Election14.

The series gives voters not only a look at their own representatives, but also a look at the candidates statewide who may be voting on legislation that affects all South Dakotans. Tune in and Meet the Candidates.

Children's Show Star Visits Book Festival

SDBookFestival.com

You'll find a little piece of Sesame Street in Brookings and Sioux Falls during the annual South Dakota Festival of Books.

Sonia Manzano, best known as Maria on the beloved children's program, is SDPB's special guest and is one of the authors featured at the four-day celebration of the written word.

Manzano presents "Turning Real Life into Fiction" at:

- The brand-new Young Readers Festival at 11am, Thursday, Sept. 25, at the Children's Museum of South Dakota in Brookings.
- The Festival of Books at 10am, Saturday, Sept. 27, at the Washington Pavilion in Sioux Falls.

Manzano will talk about her new novel for young adults: "The Revolution of Evelyn Serrano." During her visit to South Dakota, the TV actress and author also will visit middle schools in Brookings and Sioux Falls.

The Sept. 25-28 activities, which feature dozens of authors, are a project of the South Dakota Humanities Council.

Other SDPB activities will include:

A booth Sept. 26-27 at the Holiday Inn City Centre in Sioux Falls.

A special Dakota Midday program live from the Holiday Inn City Centre at Noon (11 MT) Friday, Sept. 26. Host Karl Gehrke will interview Manzano and authors Dan O'Brien, Karin Slaughter and Joseph Bruchac.

The Festival of Books featured author is Kathleen Norris, writer of the acclaimed 1993 classic "Dakota: A Spiritual Geography." "Dakota" is the One Book North and South Dakota this year as the two states celebrate their 125th year.

Norris recently was interviewed on Dakota Midday as one of the Dakota Midday Book Club featured authors.

Kathleen Norris

That interview can be heard on-demand at SDPB.org/BookClub. In addition, SDPB Radio will reveal the four featured authors for next year's Dakota Midday Book Club at the network booth.

The annual festival, which alternates between Deadwood and Sioux Falls, gives readers a chance to meet and learn from a variety of authors. This year marks the first Young Readers Festival. For event details, go to www.SDBookFestival.com.

Sonia Manzano is SDPB's special guest for the Festival of Books.

SDPB Radio Explores Writing with Book Club

SDPB.org/BookClub

Tune in for SDPB Radio's Dakota Midday Book Club.

The South Dakota area is home to many fine authors and SDPB Radio focuses on area writers in the Dakota Midday Book Club. The club features a variety of authors during Dakota Midday and, four times a year, the club focuses on a featured author and featured work with a special in-depth interview.

You can read the book ahead of time to prepare or join the book club and get a copy from Friends of SDPB. The book club is open to Friends of SDPB supporters who donate $300 annually, or $25 per month. When you choose the book club as your thank you gift, you receive four books over the course of a year. You can even become an Evergreen Member, with automatic monthly donations, and your membership in the club will be renewed automatically. Go to SDPB.org/BookClub or call 800-333-0789 to join.

About six weeks to two months after you receive a featured book, Dakota Midday Host Karl Gehrke features the author on air, and listeners even have the option of calling in during the program with questions and comments.

The club, started last year, has featured authors Darcy Lipp-Acord, Patrick Hicks and Kathleen Norris in special interviews thus far.
