DURATION: 00:56:46

FORMAT: The SDPB special, produced in cooperation with sports historian Dave Kemp, examines the evolution of high school girls basketball over the past century. Memorable coaches and players, and historic photos and footage help tell the intriguing tale. The one hour Play Like a Girl program is narrated by Cara Hetland, News Director for SDPB Radio. The show takes us from the early teams of the 1900s, to the 50-year ban on girls tournaments, to today’s top high school teams. We’ll discover that the story of girls basketball in South Dakota is also the story of how a woman’s place in the world has evolved. In the end, we discover that “play like a girl” is a compliment. These competitors are skilled, athletic and tough.

Sanford Underground Lab / Student's Experiments – Lead

Scientific research continues in South Dakota. The DUSEL at Homestake is under construction and the state works to provide educational opportunities for young scholars. The Davis-Bahcall scholarship program began in 2008. Now ten students are selected each year to study physics for a week at the Sanford Lab in Lead, a week at science labs in Europe and three weeks at Princeton in the United States. Scholars in South Dakota and across the country hope that this effort will help encourage students to consider a career in science.

Interviewees: Governor Mike Rounds, Dr. Peggy Norris, Sanford Lab, Dr. Andrew Alton, Instructor, Travis Hoon, Scholar/2009 participant, Sarah McMahon 2008 scholar/participant, Mandi Durch, Scholar/2009 Rini Kasinathan, Scholar/2009

Segment Three-

Casey Tibbs – Ft. Pierre

Casey Duane Tibbs was born March 5, 1929, 50 miles northwest of Fort Pierre, South Dakota, in a log cabin on the family homestead on the Cheyenne River to John F. and Florence M. (Leggett) Tibbs. He attended rural school at Orton Flat. At 14 years of age, Casey started riding in rodeos in South Dakota. By 15, he was trailing bucking stock from rodeo to rodeo for Bud Anis and had moved on to nationwide competition. The Casey Tibbs South Dakota Rodeo Center is a historical museum devoted to the sport of South Dakota rodeo; the history and its stars. Growing out of friendly competition among cowboys and ranchers during spring round-ups and cattle drives, the sport of rodeo in South Dakota is legendary. With an extensive collection of the memorabilia and collections of icons Casey Tibbs, 9 times World Champion Saddle Bronc Rider and Mattie Goff-Newcombe, the spectacular trick rider of the 1920s, this museum will provide a historical view into the rich culture which has made rodeo such an important part of South Dakota history.

Segment One--Hunters Helping the Hungry

The South Dakota Sportsmen Against Hunger program has done great things in the last 15 years. They have raised over 255,217 pounds of game meat available to the needy in SD, enough to make 1,020,868 meals. Food Banks have a real need for the game meat, especially now. The program follows a hunter all the way to the end process to a meal at a shelter. Contact "SD Sportsmen Against Hunger"- Jeff Olson

Producer: Chad Andersen

Segment Two--Eureka Kuchen Factory

Eureka Kuchen Factory was established in 2001 by two talented ladies. The store is located in Eureka, South Dakota in front of the Eureka Lake. Eureka is a small, rural town of about 1200 people, mostly of German-Russian descent. It is a town proud of its heritage, its people and its delicious food! The Eureka Kuchen Factory is the best kitchen in the state featuring many unique Kuchens and other German specialties! The bakery specializes in KUCHEN, but they make German dough specialties like cheese buttons and strudels which are only available in house. The kitchen can mail kuchens, plachendas, kraut strudels, pfefferneuse and chocolate chip cookies, caramel candies, and homemade noodles. KUCHENS are 10" in diameter which is enough to have 12 slices for any festive dinner. The factory also makes personal-sized kuchens, the "K-FOR-ONE", sold in baker's dozen, available in all flavors as the large kuchens. Store owners are Maria Luz Alandy and Hulda Opp.

Producer: Melissa Sievers

Segment Three--The Great South Dakota Wine Festival

Every year, Valiant Vineyards winery hosts the event. Local wineries from around the region come to share their newest wines, and the public is welcome. There are also lots of foods to try and wine making demonstrations. There are also wine tastings and wine makers available to answer questions. Guest Eldon Nygaard.

Segment One--Storm Chasers!

Imagine videotaping lightning strikes that turn an instant into minutes of video? That's what former B-1 Bomber pilot and Ph.D. student Tom Warner of Rapid City does when the weather gets good—or bad—depending upon your definition. Warner used to fly the SD School of Mines' old armored, single engine T-28 into thunderstorms with a planeload of instruments. He says the plane would sometimes get hit by lightning, leaving a scorch mark on the aircraft.

Producer: Joel Rische

Segment Two--Ice Climbing

Hills Area Ice Climbing -it's like rock climbing but instead they climb the ice that overhangs mountains. Spearfish Canyon has some of the best frozen waterfalls to climb. Our crew tags along on an ice climbing lesson and see the technique, as well as the beautiful scenery that explains why people love this risky sport.

Producer: Kayla Roberts

Segment Three--Dancing Divas

There is a Dance Troupe in Sioux Falls like no other. The Dancing Divas are all over the age of 60, and they aren't square dancing- These ladies are tapping and performing jazz routines all around the area. They practice hard and make quite an impression wherever they perform.

Sement Two--All-American Girls Baseball League Pitcher Agnus Allen – Sioux Falls

Agnes Allen, Pitcher Outfielder, RH - she joined the All-American Girls Professional League in 1950 played her rookie season with the Springfield Sallies - and while on tour had the honor of pitching in Yankee Stadium. She signed with the Kalamazoo Lassies in '51 and relied on her fastball to stymie opponents' batters...Allen played a total of 3 seasons with Kalamazoo before the league of women baseball players folded. The right-hander pitched 75 games and had a 23-31 career record, mostly for the last place Lassies.

Producer: Kevin Patten

Segment Three--Kelly Lane, Kayaker – Rapid Creek

Kelly Lane is a Black Hills whitewater kayaker who has Parkinson's disease. Kelly still paddles big whitewater in difficult Black Hills streams despite his trouble with coordination and movement. Kelly is seen as a father of the local sport - he has helped to bring many people into the kayaking and he also helped found "Black Hills Paddlers" who are now fundraising for a whitewater park on Rapid Creek in Rapid City. A group of us will be paddling some of the hardest creeks in the Hills this spring with Kelly - Including Dark Canyon on Rapid Creek and Whitewood Creek below deadwood - Class 4 to 5 rapids. Interviews with Kelly before, during and after the creek runs would be cool.

Segment One—Harvey Dunn: What Lies Beneath

South Dakota native Harvey Dunn's successful career as an artist and teacher spanned two world wars and the Great Depression. Now, many years after his death, technology has revealed some lost works by Dunn - lost because they were painted-over by the artist himself. The South Dakota Art Museum in Brookings is about to reveal some of those lost works in an upcoming exhibit.

Segment Two—Harry's Story

After retiring, Harry Moshier, Sr. of Sisseton took up his old hobby again: painting. Five years ago Harry decided to capture some of the rich history of northeast South Dakota in his paintings. He painted many towns and typically would turn his sets of paintings of the towns into calendars and then sell them to the town and donate all the profits to the local Boy Scout troop. Harry was asked by Sisseton's Stavig House Museum committee to paint on location during their annual Stavig House celebration. He did, and it was a big success. After that, the Sisseton Schools adult education staff asked him to teach an art class for adults. Eventually Harry agreed and that was a big success as well. After the first session of classes the students and Harry started an art group and called themselves the "South Dakota Artists of the Prairies." The group is now 54 members strong. They have exhibited their work at a couple art shows around the area and now sell their work through an art gallery in Sisseton.

Segment Three—Bearly Carving

Rick Wieczorek of Sturgis uses a chainsaw to carve different animals. His bears are especially popular and sell well at the many art fairs, festivals and shows that he and wife Vicky enter and attend. Wieczorek also demonstrates his craft at the shows and always draws a lot of interest from spectators.

Segment Four—Flower Art

Marie Ann Robinson of Clark, South Dakota grows all her own flowers and creates pressed flower artworks from them. She has exhibited and sold pieces throughout the Midwest, and has done commission work for clients as far away as Thailand. She teaches many classes and has gained recent attention for her pressed artwork depicting Mt. Rushmore

Segment One—South Dakota Kayak Challenge

This year, the annual kayak race covers 76 miles of the Missouri River between Yankton and Sioux City on the federally managed Missouri National Scenic Riverway. Tim and Kim Cowman of Vermillion talk about kayaking, competition, and the river ecosystem. Tim works for the U.S. Geological Survey and has a lot to say about the singular nature of this last 'wild' stretch of the Missouri.

Segment Two—Aberdeen Swimmer Michael Andrew

NCAA competition is still years away for or Aberdeen swimmer Michael Andrew but the 10-year-old is already drawing national attention. Andrew, who swims for the Aberdeen Aquaholics, has set six national age group records - and now owns every South Dakota individual short-course mark for the 9-10 division. Michael set his first national record - the 50-meter freestyle - in January at the Midwest All-Star Invitational in Lawrence, Kansas. He has since boosted that record, while adding marks in the 50-meter breaststroke, backstroke, butterfly and 100-meter individual medley, which combines all four strokes. Michael comes from an athletic family. The story of their mutual athletic dream begins in South Africa and passes through Europe before settling in Aberdeen.

Segment Three—Throwback Throwdown: The Sioux Falls Rollerdollz

This group of high-energy skaters is one of a handful of regional teams bringing back the 1950's spectator sport. They have a lot of fun and work hard at the sport, but they also find the time to stay active in the community. Last year, their fundraising efforts brought in nearly 40-thousand dollars for local charities.

Segment One—Hunting Preserved

A look at how two South Dakota agriculture operations are supplementing their income by raising pheasants and cultivating under-utilized ag land as wildlife habitat. The story begins at a pheasant farm in the Ipswich area and ends at a Wakonda-area hog operation that refashions itself into a hunting lodge every fall.

Segment Two—Hunter's Paradise

A profile of Maggie Lindsey, an avid hunter who happens to be the Educational Programs Coordinator for the South Dakota Department of Game, Fish, and Parks. Dakota Life follows Lindsey on a pheasant hunt south of Winner and learns about safe hunting, habitat preservation, the outdoor spirit, and the importance of caring for the land.

Segment Three—Kids, Bows, and Rock and Roll

Dakota Life travels to Yankton for an outdoor skills camp for kids. The camp is hosted by Ted Nugent, rock musician and outspoken outdoorsman. Nugent believes hunting and outdoor pursuits can keep kids off of drugs and alcohol.
