A Feast for Ears

~ and Eyes

Symphony Music Director Delta David Gier and SDPB Television Producer Kevin Patten talk about coordinating video with the Symphony performance.

The South Dakota Symphony Orchestra engages the ears and the eyes. “Happy 125th Birthday South Dakota” takes it to a whole new level.

A stunning collaboration by the Symphony and SDPB combines a performance of Beethoven’s Symphony No. 6 with aerial footage of South Dakota. The music guides a birds-eye-view journey over our cities, mountains and plains.

The concert will air on SDPB1 Television on Saturday, Nov. 1, at 9pm (8 MT). The state marks its 125th anniversary the next day.

“We brought the things that we do best together,” says Delta David Gier, Symphony Music Director.

It started with a vision and ended with a tradition. We entered into it knowing we had a great idea," Gier says.

SDPB and the Symphony have partnered before to bring concerts to television. This time, however, SDPB is part of the performance. The video that intertwines with the Symphony performance was shot in 2011 for Over South Dakota, a spectacular high-definition documentary that features an aerial tour of the state.

With this in mind, Gier had the task of picking out the music to go along with the video. What, he wondered, would best fit the character of South Dakota? In the end, Beethoven's Symphony No. 6 fit the bill.

Each of the movements is a picture of life. He added that Beethoven is a traditional choice for any orchestra, but every concert is a chance to explore new things.

Kevin Patten, a Producer for SDPB Television, said putting this project together was anything but ordinary.

When you add in the playback

and syncing of video to a live orchestra performance, it is a big challenge, says Patten. It requires coordinating camera operators, a score reader and a director as well as a video playback system.

The concert, performed at the Washington Pavilion in Sioux Falls in October, kicked off Gier's 11th season as Music Director. Gier has been leading the symphony since 2004. Under his direction, the symphony has won the ASCAP Award for Adventurous Programming for seven seasons.

This season the Symphony is bringing back the Lakota Music Project and the opera. Funding is often a challenge for the Symphony, but this year, everything is falling into place.

The Symphony collaborates with the Lakota community for the groundbreaking Lakota Music Project. SDSO musicians performed alongside a Lakota drumming group earlier in October and they also performed at Crazy Horse on South Dakota's Native American Day

(Oct. 13) this year.

Bringing back an opera was also a great accomplishment for this season. When the economy suffered, the Symphony's opera presentations suffered as well. It is the most expensive performance the symphony puts on. This year, the funding came through.

Wagner's Flying Dutchman takes the stage in February and the lead is played by a Flandreau native, Louis Otey.

Gier looks forward to another adventurous season.

A symphony orchestra is a cultural institution, not just entertainment," says Gier. "The possibilities keep getting more diverse and more colorful.

Sloths, once largely ignored, have become a hot topic of scientific researchers. Sanctuaries and rehabilitation centers are also springing up, as development often displaces these gentle creatures. Nature goes to Panama, Costa Rica and Colombia for A Sloth Named Velcro, a story of friendship between a journalist and a sloth.

NOVA presents an incredible predator in Bigger than T. rex. Almost a century ago, paleontologists found fossil bones from a dinosaur that was bigger than Tyrannosaurus rex. The Spinosaurus fossils were destroyed in a WW II bombing raid. Now, the discovery of new bones in Morocco is reopening the investigation into this epic beast. Follow the paleontologists who are reconstructing this terrifying carnivore, a 53-foot-long behemoth with a huge dorsal sail, scimitar-like claws and superjaws that reigned more than 65 million years ago.

Intelligence analyst Johnny Worricker, who works for MI5, the British internal security and counter-espionage service, is back on Masterpiece Contemporary with two Worricker mysteries. Sun, sand, and CIA are the themes of Worricker's clandestine retirement on a Caribbean island when he encounters a mysterious project. A publicist (Winona Ryder) and a tycoon named Curtis (Christopher Walken) befriend Worricker. Then, the cloak-and-dagger life revives.

The Politician's Husband, a three-part drama, explores the shifting power dynamics in a marriage. Aiden Hoynes (David Tennant), a senior Cabinet Minister, is happily married to Freya (Emily Watson), a junior Minister who has consistently put her own career ambitions on hold for the sake of Aiden's career and their family. When Aiden's career path comes to an abrupt halt as Freya's simultaneously soars, the power balance within their marriage is altered. In his desperation to cling to power, Aiden risks destroying everything he holds most dear.

Former U.S. Senate leaders Trent Lott and Tom Daschle discuss partisanship problems in Congress at SDSU.

Lecture Features Prominent Politicians

SDPB1: Sunday, Nov. 9, 2pm (1 MT)

SDPB Radio: Monday, Nov. 10, Noon (11 MT)

SDPB is featuring the Daschle Dialogues on Television and Radio in November.

The discussion How Much Partisanship is Too Much? Two Former Party Leaders Discuss How and Why to Rebuild Bipartisan Bridges is the first in a planned series of lectures. It features a discussion between former U.S. Sens. Tom Daschle (D-SD) and Trent Lott (R-MS). Veteran national correspondent and SDSU alumnus Chuck Raasch serves as moderator.

The event, held in October at South Dakota State University in Brookings, will air on SDPB1 Television on Sunday, Nov. 9, at 2pm (1 MT), and on SDPB Radio on Monday, Nov. 10, at Noon (11 MT).

Daschle and Lott served as Senate leaders of their respective parties both as majority and minority leaders during the historic 50-50 split in the U.S. Senate from Jan. 3, 2001, to Jan. 3, 2003, and during the attacks of Sept. 11, 2001. They are now affiliated with the Bipartisan Policy Center, a nonprofit Washington, D.C.-based think tank that actively promotes bipartisanship.

The Daschle Dialogues is planned as a series of lectures and talks that will feature nationally relevant figures at South Dakota State to address thought-provoking topics.

SDPB1: Sundays, 4:30pm (3:30 MT)
 SDPB.org/NatureAdventures

It's time for new Nature Adventures. Series hosts Todd Magnuson and Terri Lawrenz begin a new season of exploration, beginning on Sunday, Nov. 2. Season 7 of the educational program takes us across the United States, from California to Florida, and explores parts of South Dakota as well.

Each week, Terri and Todd invite kids and adults to find excitement in the natural world. The program, produced by Caribou Productions in South Dakota, includes great online educational materials at SDPB.org/NatureAdventures. The show is carried on SDPB Television and in several states in the region.

November's schedule includes:

Nov. 2 Marine Mammals of the West Coast includes dolphins, sea lions, seals and whales.

Nov. 9 Wildlife of the Florida Keys visits an important habitat for endangered species. The show looks at Key deer, American crocodiles and the great white heron.

Nov. 16 Exploring the Sonoran Desert: Yuma, AZ looks at plants, animals, history and landscapes.

Nov. 23 A Vacation on Madeline Island explores Wisconsin's Apostle Islands in Lake Superior and the wildlife, scenery and singing sand.

You can watch previous seasons of Nature Adventures on SDPB3 on Saturdays at 5:30pm (4:30 MT).

Sea lions gather on a rocky shoreline in California.

Celebrate South Dakota's Colorful History

125 years ago, South Dakota became a state, on Nov. 2, 1889. SDPB Television celebrates with a special Dakota Life program premiering on Thursday, Nov. 6, at 8pm (7 MT).

The program will look at the stained glass restoration project in the State Capitol Building; a wagon train adventure from Avon to Pierre; a replica Dakota Territory schoolhouse in Vermillion; and the photos from A Day in South Dakota, part of SDPB's yearlong Landscapes of South Dakota project.

Segments include:

Capitol Stained Glass Restoration/Installation – Glass was removed from the Capitol last summer and shipped to Wisconsin for restoration. The panels will be re-installed in time for the 125th celebration.

125th Wagon Train We catch up with a wagon train near Wessington Springs as it travels from Avon to Pierre.

One-Room Schoolhouse A replica of a schoolhouse built in Dakota Territory is nearly completed. Dakota Life followed the progress.

A Day in South Dakota Almost 900 photographs captured our beautiful state and its people on Aug. 19 to show A Day in South Dakota.

Dakota Life examines the people, places and history of South Dakota each month. The half-hour program travels throughout the state to strengthen our knowledge about the state and the bonds between people who live here. This year, the program also features the Landscapes of South Dakota, SDPB's yearlong effort to share many facets of our unique identity as the state celebrates 125 years of statehood.

The program airs several times throughout each month to give viewers an opportunity to tune in. Past programs are available on-demand at SDPB.org/DakotaLife.

End the Year with a Tax-Deductible Gift

SDPB.org/Friends

It's November and time to think about taxes.

Now is the time to make the contributions that will help Friends of SDPB and help reduce your taxes. If you itemize on your federal income tax, don't forget to add in your contributions to the Friends of South Dakota Public Broadcasting.

No matter how much you give a year, be it $40 or $1,000, you can add it in when you itemize. The only limit is that your charitable contributions cannot exceed 50 percent (half) of your adjusted gross income. For details on charitable gifts, call Friends of SDPB at 800-333-0789 or go to SDPB.org/Friends.

There are plenty of ways to make an end-of-the-year contribution. Here are a few.

Check or money order.

Stocks.

Retirement accounts. If you set up your will so that the remainder of IRAs or other retirement accounts goes to a charitable donation, your heirs won't have to worry about the taxes that would have applied to those accounts.

- Donate your car or another vehicle. A 5- to 10-year-old vehicle can support many hours of public broadcasting. A newer vehicle will do even more. Just remember, the tax deduction is based on the amount the vehicle brings in, not on Blue Book value.

Special Gifts

The Friends of SDPB has received several special gifts. Thank you.

Kari Nolte of Castlewood has given a donation in memory of Lorraine Yoder of Aberdeen.

Several people have honored the memory of Wally Pederson of Willow Lake with memorial gifts. They include Linda McGrillies and Frank Alesantrino of Boonsboro, MD; Sharon Michalski of Willow Lake; Wayne and Judy Ronning of Watertown; Roger and Jerone Whirlidge of Willow Lake; Judith Manchester of Morrison, Ill.; Marlin Fjelland of Clark; Harriet Nordhus of Clark; and Richard Pederson of Garden City.

Sylvia Morrison remembered her mother, Elinor Hartpence, with a gift to Friends of SDPB.

Henry and Phyllis Niemann of Clear Lake honored the memory of Karen Hofman of Clear Lake with a contribution.

Karen Westerman of Chancellor remembered Diana McCann with a gift to Friends of SDPB.

Ardeth Rang of Sioux Falls has given a donation in memory of Hope Limmer.

Kim Schultz of Wayne, Neb., made two special gifts. She made a donation in honor of Kerry and Mike Greear of Whitewood "for their generous hospitality and friendship." She made a contribution in honor of Jim Lessard of Spearfish as a thank you "for the delicious dinner and conversation during our June 2014 trip." Thanks to all of them for making and inspiring special contributions.

Friends of SDPB accepts memorial gifts, gifts that mark a special person or occasion and estate gifts. For details on special gifts, call the Friends of SDPB at 800-333-0789.

Congratulations to Dave Foote

SDPB's Promotions Producer Dave Foote earned 2014 Regional Emmy nominations for two promos he created over the past year. They include one that celebrates SDPB's annual High School Achievement series and a general promotion of SDPB's role over the past 50 years. See both promos at SDPB.org/awards.

Congratulations on well-deserved recognition.

Christian McBride is host of Jazz Night.

New Jazz Program Features Multi-Media Approach

Jazz Night in America is the next generation of jazz programming with a multi-media approach.

The new program, on SDPB Radio on Sunday nights at 9pm (8 MT), features storytelling with concert performances. The program airs weekly with one-hour broadcasts and offers an array of 26 live signature videocasts and on-demand video of jazz events at NPR.org (go to programs and select Jazz Night in America). The program also will reach jazz fans through social media.

Grammy-winning musician Christian McBride hosts. As a bass player, composer, arranger, educator, curator and administrator, McBride has been one of the most important figures in the jazz world for 20 years. Jazz Night in America is presented by NPR Music, Member Station WBGO, and Jazz at Lincoln Center.
