Landscapes of South Dakota

South Dakota is a landscape of faces, places, ideas and traditions.

Over the next year, SDPB plans a journey to rediscover our unique identity and shared heritage. With Landscapes of South Dakota, we'll travel the state with SDPB Radio's Dakota Midday and Dakota Digest; tell our stories on SDPB Television's Dakota Life; and present one-minute snapshots of South Dakota's people, places and experiences on SDPB Television and Radio. All of it will be showcased at a special website: SDPB.org/Landscapes.

The project, beginning in June, will uncover what it means to be a South Dakotan as well as what makes our state unique.

"It will be funny, tragic, thought-provoking and more," said Larry Rohrer, SDPB Director of Content. "Since we're marking the state's 125th anniversary this year, this project takes stock of who we are, where we've been and where we're going with the focus on those things that make South Dakota different from other places."

In June, you'll also have a chance to tune into these SDPB programs:

A Defining Moment in History

D-Day – June 6, 1944

Source: American Experience: D-Day
<http://www.pbs.org/wgbh/amex/dday/>

The first brief communique was electrifying – “London, Tuesday, June 6, 1944: Under command of General Eisenhower, Allied naval forces, supported by strong air forces, began landing Allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France.”

The world caught its breath. Not since 1688 had an invading army crossed the English Channel, but now it was happening – Operation Overlord, D-Day, the all-out attack on Hitler’s fortress Europe. The first assault wave hit the beaches of Normandy at 6:30am.

The place of the landing was the best-kept, most important secret of the war in Europe, and success depended on elaborate deception; but it was the individual valor of the men who went ashore in combination with the greatest marshaling of ships, planes and guns ever in history that were decisive. Never was America’s productive might so dramatically employed. The armada reached as far as the eye could see.

Seventy years ago, on June 6, 1944, more than 150,000 men crossed the English Channel and landed in France – beginning a long, deadly campaign to defeat the Nazis.

The Meaning of the “D” – Ever since June 6, 1944, people have been asking what the “D” in “D-Day” means. There is not much agreement on the issue. But the most ordinary and likely of explanations is the one offered by the U.S. Army in their published manuals. The Army began using the codes “H-hour” and “D-day” during World War I to indicate the time or date of an operation’s start. Military planners would write of events planned to occur on “H-hour” or “D-day” -- long before the actual dates and times of the operations would be known, or in order to keep plans secret. And so the “D” may simply refer to the “day” of invasion.

D-Day’s Impressive Numbers – An invading army had not crossed the unpredictable, dangerous English Channel since 1688 – and once the massive force set out, there was no turning back. The 5000-vessel armada stretched as far as the eye could see, transporting more than 150,000 men and nearly 30,000 vehicles across the channel to the French beaches. Six parachute regiments – more than 13,000 men – were flown from nine British airfields in over 800 planes. More than 300 planes dropped 13,000 bombs over coastal Normandy immediately in advance of the invasion.

War planners had projected that 5,000 tons of gasoline would be needed daily for the first 20 days after the initial assault. In one planning scenario, 3,489 long tons of soap would be required for the first four months in France.

By nightfall on June 6, more than 9,000 Allied soldiers were dead or wounded, but more than 100,000 had made it ashore, securing French coastal villages. And within weeks, supplies were being unloaded at UTAH and OMAHA beachheads at the rate of over 20,000 tons per day.

Captured Germans were sent to American prisoner of war camps at the rate of 30,000 POWs per month from D-Day until Christmas 1944.

Tuning in to D-Day – In the pre-television era, Americans got their breaking news from their radios. London-based American journalist George Hicks made history with his radio broadcast from the deck of the U.S.S. Ancon at the start of the D-Day invasion. “...You see the ships lying in all directions, just like black shadows on the grey sky,” he described to his listeners. “...Now planes are going overhead... Heavy fire now just behind us... bombs bursting on the shore and along in

The Escape Artist

Sundays, June 15-22, 8pm (7 MT)

David Tennant stars as a brilliant defense lawyer with a storybook family and a potent nickname, “The Escape Artist,” for his ability to spring the obviously guilty. Then he gets a trial that changes his life forever. This gripping legal thriller costars Sophie Okonedo as the hero’s rival, along with a courtroom full of ambitious attorneys and one very unnerving defendant.

Shaun Evans plays the young Morse in Season 2 of Endeavour

Endeavour: Season 2

Sundays, June 29-July 20, 8pm (7 MT)

Before Inspector Morse, there was the rookie Constable Morse. Shaun Evans returns for a second season with four all-new mysteries as young Endeavour Morse, before he got his signature red Jaguar, but with his deductive powers already running in high gear.

David Suchet is the suave Hercule Poirot.

Hercule Poirot: Season 12

Sundays, July 27-Aug. 3, 8pm (7 MT)

David Suchet returns in his signature role as suave Belgian super-sleuth Hercule Poirot in two new mysteries, The Big Four and Dead Man’s Folly, based on the novels by Agatha Christie. Whether he’s on holiday abroad, taking a countryside break or simply going about his business, Poirot exercises his “little grey cells” by helping police investigate crimes and murders — whether they ask for his help or not.

Breathless

Sundays, Aug. 24-Sept. 7, 8pm (7 MT)

In this stylish and compelling new medical drama set in London in 1961, Jack Davenport stars as a brilliant surgeon who believes he can make a difference in women’s lives.

Kids TV Schedule Revised for Summer

Summertime is upon us. Now that kids are spending more time at home, the summer schedule has been revised to provide more favorites for ages 4-8.

Some of the features include an hour of Curious George at 7am (6 MT) and 2pm (1 MT); an hour of Daniel Tiger’s Neighborhood at 10am (9 MT); an hour of Arthur at 3pm (2 MT); and an hour of Wild Kratts at 4pm (3 MT) — all in the weekdays SDPB1 schedule.

Go to pages 6 & 7 of this magazine for the full list of kids programming on SDPB1 during daytime on weekdays, plus Saturday and Sunday mornings. SDPB3 Television features kids programs on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Tune in and don’t forget to plan plenty of activities away from the TV, too. Check out Buddy’s Healthy Habits at SDPB.org/Buddy for activity suggestions and more.

Bob the Builder

SDPB1: Saturdays
9:30am (8:30 MT)

American Experience Freedom Summer takes us back to the extraordinary summer of 1964. Over 10 memorable weeks known as Freedom Summer, more than 700 student volunteers joined with organizers and local African Americans in an historic effort to shatter the foundations of white supremacy in Mississippi, the nation's most segregated state. Despite violence and murders, they registered voters, created Freedom Schools, and challenged the segregationist state Democratic Party.

the convoys.” His report, including the sounds of heavy bombardment, sirens, low-flying planes, and shouting, brought Americans to the front line, with all its chaos, confusion and death.

An American Noah – Louisiana entrepreneur Andrew Jackson Higgins first designed shallow-draft boats in the late 1920s to rescue Mississippi River flood victims. Higgins tried for years to sell his boats to the U.S. military, but he was rejected repeatedly. At last, the Marine Corps selected the flat-bottomed landing craft for troop landings on Pacific beaches. Higgins, who had paid heavily out-of-pocket to promote his boats, finally landed the government contract – and his factories produced 20,000 of the versatile craft for the war effort – including D-Day.

Paratroopers – Dangerous Mission – The D-Day invasion began with a dangerous attack by American paratroopers. Dropped behind enemy lines to soften up the German troops and to secure needed targets, the paratroopers knew that if the accompanying assault by sea failed – there would be no rescue.

Departing from Portland Bill on the English coast, the 101st and 82nd U.S. Airborne Divisions were dropped on the Cherbourg peninsula. From that point, the 101st was to secure the western end behind Utah Beach and head off an eastern German advance. The 82nd, landing farther inland, was to seize the bridges and halt an advance from the west.

Heavy fog and German guns proved formidable challenges. The pilots were unable to drop the paratroopers precisely as planned.

The 101st Division suffered great losses. Only one sixth of the men reached their destination points. The first regiment of the 82nd Division fared better, but the second suffered heavy supply losses – much of the division was left without sufficient arms. Still, both divisions managed to form smaller improvised squads, and organized themselves to wage a fight. By 0430, the 82nd had captured the town of Ste-Mere-Eglise.

Stories of Courage – Stories of Sacrifice – Stories of Service

Military veterans and their stories are the focus of Stories of Service. SDPB has joined an effort with PBS stations nationwide to offer a multimedia initiative to share stories and conversations that deal with the courage, sacrifice and service of our military veterans.

Check out the schedule throughout the month for service-related programs. Online, go to PBS.org/StoriesofService to tune into personal accounts, historical recreations, investigative storytelling and specials dedicated to our men and women in service. SDPB offers a series of South Dakota WW II veterans' recollections at www.SDPB.org/storiesofservice.

Tune into SDPB2 Television, one of SDPB Television's alternate channels, or go to PBS.org/StoriesofService to catch these specials that air on Friday, June 6, the 70th anniversary of D-Day.

Day of Days June 6, 1944

SDPB2: 5pm (4 MT) & 8pm (7 MT)

To commemorate the 70th anniversary of the Normandy landing, four veterans gather to share their experiences from that fateful “Day of Days.”

Eagles of Mercy

SDPB2: 6pm (5 MT) & 11pm (10 MT)

In the early hours of June 6, 1944, two young American medics parachuted into France, and soon found themselves trapped in a village church. They provided first aid to the first casualties while a savage battle raged outside.

Dick Winters Hang Tough

SDPB2: 7pm (6 MT) & Midnight (11 MT)

Major Richard D. Winters (1918-2011) is one of World War II's most respected combat leaders. Original members of Winters' parachute unit speak of his commitment to his men, his heroism and his legacy as well as the famed attack on Brecourt Manor on D-Day.

TV Shines with Fabulous Specials

Finances, lifestyle, great music and more are coming your way as SDPB Television presents nine days of special programming May 31-June 8.

Nostalgia reigns as programs like 50s & 60s Party Songs, Brit Floyd, Dave Clark Five, 60s Pop, Rock & Soul and The Big Band Years take us back in time.

Contemporary favorites like Daniel O'Donnell, Yanni and Celtic Woman thrill viewers, too.

We'll take you on a fantastic aerial journey over our spectacular state with Over South Dakota.

Our financial, personal and physical health are addressed during the week with experts like Suze Orman, Dr. Wayne Dyer, Ed Slott, Joy Bauer and more. A variety of programs will help us get our finances in order, find the path to personal fulfillment and happiness, and improve our health.

We'll have some great advice for our leisure time too, with travel guru Rick Steves and sewing maven Nancy Zieman.

Tune in for these great programs and more. Check the listings on pages 8-15 for times. And thank you for your support of Friends of SDPB.

Book Club Features Classic 'Dakota'

SDPB.org/BookClub

Join SDPB Radio's Dakota Midday Book Club on Thursday, June 19, at Noon (11 MT) for a special interview with best-selling author Kathleen Norris about her classic "Dakota: A Spiritual Geography."

The book combines stories, observations and prayers that come out her life in tiny Lemmon, S.D. Listeners are invited to read the book in advance of the hour-long interview or get a copy by joining the Dakota Midday Book Club. You can join by going to SDPB.org/bookclub.

Norris' 1993 classic is this year's

South Dakota Humanities Council "One Book South Dakota" selection.

The South Dakota area is home to many fine authors and SDPB Radio focuses on area writers in the Dakota Midday Book Club. The club features authors during Dakota Midday Book Club on the fifth Friday of the month and presents special in-depth interviews, such as the Norris interview, at other times for members of the club.

The club, started last year, has featured authors Darcy Lipp-Acord and Patrick Hicks in special interviews thus far.

Fifth Friday editions of Dakota

Midday Book Club are scheduled for May 30 and Aug. 29 at Noon (11 MT).

Depot, Children's Book, Historic Musicians Showcased

Dakota Life closes its 2013-2014 season with a look at the Fort Pierre Train Depot, a children's book about stuttering and a look inside the annual All-State Jazz Band gathering.

The SDPB Television program for June will premiere on Thursday, June 12, at 8pm (7 MT), with an encore on Sunday, June 15 at 1pm (Noon MT). The show repeats throughout the month to allow views a chance to see it.

Features in June include:

- All-State Jazz Band brings the state's best high school jazz musicians together each year.
- A new life is in store for the original Fort Pierre Train Depot (right).
- A Rapid City leader writes a children's book about stuttering.

SDPB Takes Part in Science Festival

Stop by the third annual It's All About Science Festival for a chance to see SDPB's Science Steve present amazing experiments.

The festival, sponsored by Sanford Research, will be Saturday, June 14, from 9am-5pm at the Sanford Center in Sioux Falls, 2301 E. 60th St. North. The free event offers all ages a chance to learn more about science, technology, engineering, and mathematics at more than 50 exhibits.

Check Out the SDPB App

SDPB has a new app that makes it easier for you to interact with your statewide network.

The free SDPB App will help you connect with live SDPB Radio and stream SDPB programs on your mobile device. You'll be able to find information on the latest SDPB events, kids and family activities; news from SDPB Radio; and programs from SDPB Television delivered conveniently to your device anywhere any time. During the school year, you'll have an efficient way to tune into SDPB's high school achievement events like Football Championships, Chorus & Orchestra or State Basketball Tournaments.

The free download is available in the app store for your Android or Apple device.

Landscapes

Uncluttered horizons to rugged sandstone buttes. River valleys that carve their way across the prairie. It is on this canvas that we've defined what it means to be a South Dakotan. SDPB launches a series on TV, Radio and Online that defines our landscape - places, people and experiences that we share and that make us unique.

Independent

Proud

Adventurous

Traditional
