Debate, Basketball, All-State Band,
Gymnastics, Student Council

We're bouncing into action on the Web and via SDPB Television in March with Girls Basketball, Gymnastics, Boys Basketball, Debate, All-State Band and Student Council events.

Basketball is the big draw for March with the girls tournaments March 12-14 and the boys tournaments March 19-21. SDPB Television will use all three channels to cover the tournaments and SDPB Online will webcast the action live, as well as archiving the games and offering photos, stats and more.

On Saturday, March 14, at 3:30pm (2:30 MT), SDPB1 Television will offer a two-hour highlights show from the girls State Gymnastics Meet that took place in February in Watertown.

SDPB Online will offer photos, info and results for Debate and Individual Events from Harrisburg March 6-7, and the Student Council gathering in Pierre, March 26-28.

Photos and final performances for All-State Band will be available online on Saturday, March 28. A two-hour All-State Band concert program will air on SDPB1 Television on Saturday, April 18 at 8pm (7 MT).

High School coverage is offered in partnership with the South Dakota High School Activities Association.

TAKING AIM AT THE BIG C

Ken Burns Series Uncovers Our Changing Understanding of Cancers and Treatment

No matter where we live, at one time or another, cancer is on our minds. It's the leading cause of death in South Dakota, according to the American Cancer Society. Each year there are an estimated 4,000 new cases and 1,600 deaths in the state.

"Each day on average, 10-11 South Dakotans are diagnosed with cancer and four die from the disease," says Jill Ireland, the American Cancer Society's South Dakota Health Systems Manager.

Although the numbers are high, the death rate from cancer has declined 20% over the past two decades, she adds. There are 14 million American survivors alive today and the number continues to grow. South Dakota is home to more than 40,000 survivors.

Our relationship with cancer – its history and treatment developments – is the focus of a new Ken Burns series, Cancer – The Emperor of All Maladies, that will be featured on SDPB Television beginning March 30. The three-part, six-hour "biography" of cancer covers its first documented appearances thousands of years ago through today's battle to cure, control and conquer cancer. The project aims to reshape the way we see cancer and strip away some of the fear and misunderstanding that has long surrounded it. The series is directed Barak Goodman, and executive produced by Ken Burns, based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning book "The Emperor of All Maladies: A Biography of Cancer" by Siddhartha Mukherjee, M.D.

Episode One: Magic Bullets

SDPB1: Monday, March 30, 8pm (7 MT)

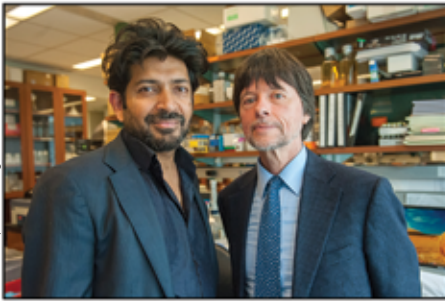

This episode ventures back in time to recount the early efforts to understand and fight the disease; from medieval apothecaries to the first use of radical surgery and radiation at the turn of the 20th century. We're introduced to key figures including Dr. Sidney Farber (the "father of chemotherapy") and philanthropist-advocate Mary Lasker. The episode moves to the present as it tells the moving stories of two children grappling with leukemia, the disease that Farber did more than anyone to conquer.

Siddhartha Mukherjee, M.D., author of the Pulitzer Prize-winning book The Emperor of All Maladies: A Biography of Cancer, and filmmaker Ken Burns.

Episode Two: The Blind Men and the Elephant

SDPB1: Tuesday, March 31, 8pm (7 MT)

Episode Two chronicles the decades between the declaration of the federal government's War on Cancer in 1971 and the breakthrough drugs Herceptin and Gleevec in 2000. This tumultuous period was characterized by a widening chasm between the research lab and the clinic. Shifting ground from childhood leukemia to breast cancer, the episode includes the contemporary story of a patient- a breast cancer surgeon who herself is diagnosed with the disease and must decide how to fight it.

Episode Three: Finding the Achilles Heel

SDPB1: Wednesday, April 1, 8pm (7 MT)

There is now enormous optimism that the "targeted therapy revolution" will rapidly result in the conquest of cancer. But, as more and more is understood about the variety of genetic mutations that underlie cancer and about the cancer cell's adaptability, optimism is fading. The series ends with the moving stories of two patients undergoing the latest therapies, and viewers are left on a note of hope that within a generation many, if not all, cancers will have been converted from fatal to chronic diseases.

Edward Herrmann narrates the series. It was his final project. The actor, known for playing the grandfather in "The Gilmore Girls," died of cancer on Dec. 31.

Herrmann collapsed because of a seizure on the first day he came to work and had to explain to Goodman, the film's director, that it was because he had brain cancer.

"He felt it appropriate that this would be his final project," Goodman told TV NewsCheck.

An extensive website, at CancerFilms.org, offers information for the vast community of patients and survivors, family members, caregivers, scientists, clinicians and other healthcare providers, as well as the public at large. Participants can share their stories at the website, engage with the project on Twitter via @CancerFilm or #CancerFilm, and visit the project on Facebook at www.facebook.com/CancerFilm.

The website features several personal stories, information and previews of the series. It also includes links to a number of organizations that are involved in the fight against cancer.

• Nearly one in two men and one in three women will come face to face with cancer in their lifetime.

• Some 1.6 million new cancer patients will be diagnosed in the United States for 2015. In South Dakota, that translates into 4,000 new cases.

Festival Shares Music, Advice and More

Our past, present and future are on the air as SDPB Television celebrates Feb. 28-March 22 with amazing specials. Check the listings on pages 8-15 for times and go online at SDPB.org to stay up to date with new additions to the schedule.

Rock My Soul (March 3, 7, 8, 13 & 17) inspires with the stars from the world of Gospel. Join the Fairfield Four, the McCrary Sisters, Amos Lee, Buddy Miller, Lee Ann Womack, Van Hunt and Lucinda Williams to celebrate one of the most popular musical genres.

The Music of Ireland with Eamonn McCrystal (March 1, 9 & 15) offers a striking new tenor voice and a wide array of music composed and performed by some of the country's artists, including popular songs from Van Morrison, Jimmy Kennedy and others, as well as haunting traditional pieces.

Celtic Woman celebrates its 10-year anniversary with Celtic Woman Fan Favorites (March 4, 9, 15 & 17). We'll be swept away by the spellbinding songs, mesmerizing voices and dazzling dances of this unique all-female ensemble.

The troubled life of one of America's most popular singer/songwriters is explored in a new special, John Denver: Country Boy (March 3 & 8).

Old musical favorites are back with everything from classical to folk to rock to pop, as well. We'll hear from Bing Crosby; Ed Sullivan; Peter, Paul and Mary; and Lawrence Welk, among others.

Grammy Award-winning R&B artist Van Hunt joins the stars in the Gospel special Rock My Soul.

Advice is on the agenda, including Aging Backwards with Miranda Esmonde-White (March 1, 2, 7, 8 & 21). The fitness guru provides valuable insights on combating the physical signs and consequences of aging. In addition, financial tips from Suze Orman and Ed Slott, dieting help from Drs. Joel Fuhrman and Michael Roizen, sewing with Nancy Zieman, and travel with Rick Steves will help us plan our leisure time.

Tune in Feb. 28-March 22 for great specials, South Dakota High School Achievement events (see page 3) and more. It's all because you support public broadcasting. Thank you.

19 LIFELIKE DINOSAURS!

Nature profiles Ireland's Wild River, the Shannon, Ireland's greatest geographical landmark and longest river. On its journey south, the Shannon passes through rural landscapes, where on little-known backwaters, Ireland's wild animals and plants still thrive as almost nowhere else. For a year, wildlife cameraman Colin Stafford-Johnson lives on the river – on a quest to capture four seasons.

Expand Your Knowledge with SDPB.org

Every year, thousands across South Dakota make use of the extensive resources found at SDPB.org/Learn. There are materials for kids, parents, teachers and lifelong learners from SDPB and PBS.

For example, you can access dozens of great science ideas, including experiments for the classroom or at home. Science materials include science demonstrations from SDPB's own "Science Steve" Rokusek with video lessons, lesson plans for teachers or homeschoolers and activity ideas. In addition, dozens of activities are available at the click of a button from SDPB or PBS Kids shows like Wild Kratts, Sid the Science Kid, Dragonfly TV, Design Squad, and Cyberchase. More mature science buffs can find resources from NOVA and Nature.

One of the most popular features is a series of dissection videos, featuring Science Steve, created to enhance the classroom experience.

SDPB.org/Learn also includes access to teacher guides, aligned to South Dakota content standards, for a number of SDPB productions, and extensive Native American resources. PBS teacher resources can be accessed from the site, too.

SDPB is essentially the biggest educational institution in South Dakota. Through broadcast and web resources, your network is changing the lives of South Dakotans of all ages. Expand your knowledge by taking advantage of free materials at SDPB.org/Learn and while you are there, register for the "Educators Newsletter." Some 2,000 South Dakota educators already have.

Through lifelong learning, public broadcasting fans are ordinary people with extraordinary knowledge.

SDPB's production Oceti Sakowin The People of the Seven Council Fires is among the extensive Native American resources at SDPB.org/Learn.

Check SDPB Radio for South Dakota Talent

South Dakota performers have a showcase on SDPB Radio. Every week, SDPB Radio captures local performers and top touring acts – giving listeners the best seat in the house.

"South Dakota has always had more than its share of quality musicians," says Joe Tlustos, Director of SDPB Radio. "We not only make them available to all South Dakotans, but also provide worldwide exposure for local talents via SDPB.org."

In 2014 alone, SDPB's original concert program No Cover, No Minimum Radio, Saturdays at 11pm (10 MT), produced 37 original hours of live music performances from venues stretching from Sioux Falls to Spearfish. SDPB Radio captured and broadcast 19 full-length classical concert performances from the South Dakota Symphony, Black Hills Chamber Music Society, Black Hills Symphony, and the High School All-State Band & Chorus for Morning Classics with Owen DeJong, weekdays at 9am (8 MT) with local performances on Wednesdays.

Dakota Midday, weekdays at Noon (11 MT), and Rock Garden Tour, on the last Saturday of the month at 8pm (7 MT), regularly feature live performances of local musicians playing folk, rock, country, bluegrass, world and even hip-hop. Jazz Nightly with Jim Clark, weeknights at 8pm (7 MT), dedicates two hours a week to live recordings of our "South Dakota Jazz Stars." And our original weekly two-hour music program On Record, Saturdays at 9pm (8 MT), features new studio releases of South Dakota's best, plus Host Matt Weesner gives listeners a closer connection with enlightening conversations with the music makers.

Tune in and be part of the music.

Tune into Democracy with SDPB's Statehouse

SDPB's Statehouse coverage winds down this month as the 90th Legislative Session finishes its work on Friday, March 13. A final day of action – Monday, March 30 – may take place if the legislators return to consider any gubernatorial vetoes.

Tune into SDPB Television, Radio and Online to keep up to date on the actions of South Dakota's lawmakers.

SDPB's Statehouse coverage is supported by the South Dakota Bar Foundation, plus the Associated General Contractors of South Dakota, Credit Union Association of the Dakotas, Missouri River Energy Services and SDN Communications.

Test Kitchen Takes Mystery Out of Cooking

Tune in for some amazing flavor with America's Test Kitchen Radio on Sundays at 11am (10 MT) on SDPB Radio.

America's Test Kitchen Radio applies the no-nonsense, first-hand testing approach of the popular television show to the wide world of food, dining, and cooking. Each episode features food and cookware recommendations and in-depth interviews.

Topics can range from historic cookbooks to the science behind taste to recommendations for kitchen gifts.

America's Test Kitchen is a real 2,500 square foot test kitchen located just outside of Boston that is home to more than three dozen full-time cooks and product testers. The mission is simple: to develop the absolute best recipes for all of your favorite foods. To do this, the staff tests each recipe 30, 40, sometimes as many as 70 times, until they arrive at the combination of ingredients, technique, temperature, cooking time, and equipment that yields the best, most-foolproof recipe.

Chris Kimball hosts. Kimball has founded magazines like Cook's Illustrated and Cook's Country magazine. He has been host of public television's America's Test Kitchen for 14 years – the program airs on SDPB1 Television on Saturdays at 3pm (2 MT). Kimball has been widely featured on television programs and in print media and is the author of several books about cooking and food.

The extensive website at AmericasTestKitchen.com offers:

- Recipes – From beans to soups, the Test Kitchen shares recipes on a wide variety of foods.
- Equipment reviews – Learn what the Test Kitchen has discovered on bakeware, cookware, kitchen basics, knives, small appliances and tools and gadgets.
- Taste tests – The Test Kitchen staff is trying out new and old products. Their findings are available on the site.
- Science – Try out a variety of tips and learn about what you're eating. For example, gluten is in the news. The Test Kitchen explains just what it is. Or, you may discover why it's better to grind your own hamburger.

Start Your Morning with Best News on the Air

Millions of Americans start their day with NPR's Morning Edition. Thousands of South Dakotans do, too, with SDPB Radio. Here's why:

- Best news program on the air.
 - Top news of the day from the nation and from the world, along with reports from SDPB's staff with top issues in South Dakota.
 - Reporters on the international scene who are on the ground in world's hot spots.
 - Award-winning reporting – locally and on the national and international levels.
- Morning Edition has earned many of the nation's most prestigious awards. SDPB's Morning Edition Host Gary Ellenbolt won three regional AP awards in 2014 and one regional Edward R. Murrow Award.
- Interviews with newsmakers, politicians, academics, artists, activists, and more.
 - News in-depth, in-context.
 - Thoughtful ideas and commentary.

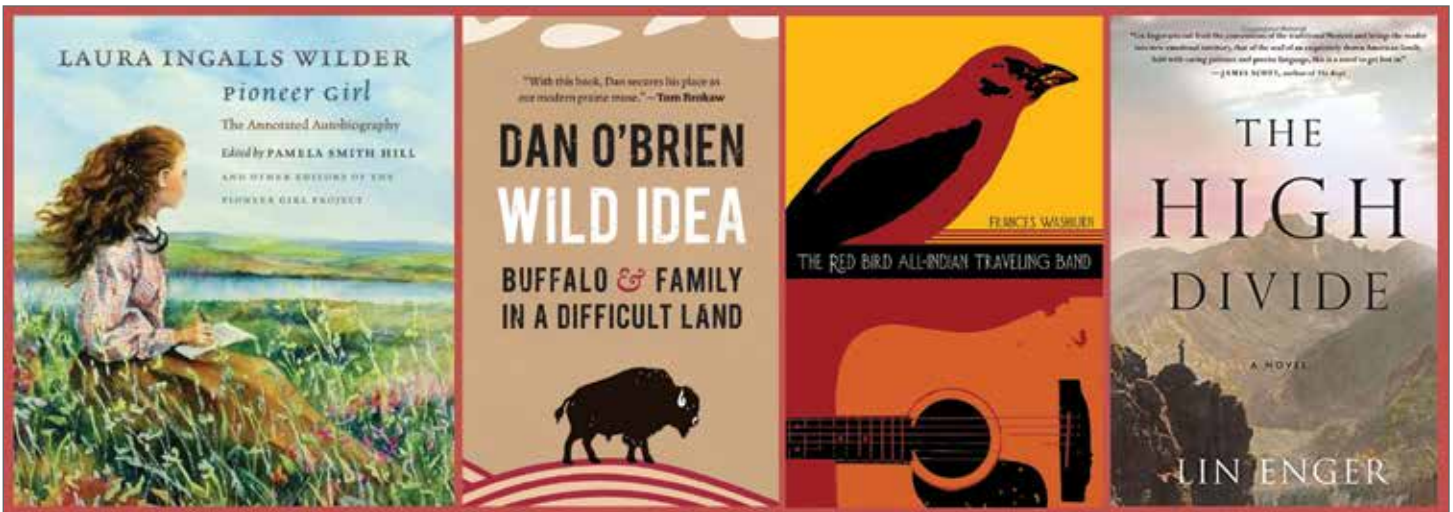

It's radio worth your attention.

Tune in to Morning Edition on weekday mornings from 5 to 9am (4-8 MT), and on weekends from 7 to 9am (6-8 MT).

Morning Edition Host Steve Inskeep reports on a news development as Renee Montagne watches in the background.

SDPB Radio Explores Laura Ingalls Wilder Book

SDPB.org/BookClub

The story of a celebrated author, a daring plan for the future, a look at the past and prairie mystery are on the agenda for 2015 for the Dakota Midday Book Club.

Tune into Dakota Midday Book Club on Thursday, March 12, at Noon (11 MT) as Pamela Hill Smith, editor of Pioneer Girl: The Annotated Autobiography of Laura Ingalls Wilder, talks about the South Dakota Historical Society Press “best seller” in the first Book Club featured interview of 2015. Hidden away since 1930, Laura Ingalls Wilder’s original autobiography reveals the true stories of her pioneering life. The the just-released book is now in its fourth printing.

Four times a year, SDPB Radio’s Dakota Midday Host Karl Gehrke features a regional author and/or story during the one-hour program, which airs on weekdays at Noon (11 MT). About six weeks to two months after you receive a featured book, Gehrke features the author on air, and listeners even have the option of calling in during the program with questions and comments.

The other 2015 features are:

Wild Idea: Buffalo and Family in a Difficult Land by Dan O’Brien

Wild Idea is Dan O’Brien’s account of efforts to raise buffalo with dignity and respect as a sustainable enterprise. It’s also a love story – of family and friends and the often-harsh landscape of western South Dakota. O’Brien is a South Dakota writer, wildlife biologist, falconer and buffalo rancher.

The Red Bird All-Indian Traveling Band by Frances Washburn

The novel moves beyond the stereotypes of Pine Ridge to tell the story of a young Lakota woman who begins her journey to becoming an elder.

The High Divide by Lin Eger

Two boys set out on a quest across Dakota Territory to find their father who has disappeared from the family’s home in western Minnesota in 1866.

The book club is open to Friends of SDPB supporters who donate $300 annually, or $25 per month. When you choose the book club as your thank you gift, you receive four books over the course of a year. You can even become an Evergreen Member, with automatic monthly donations, and your membership in the club will be renewed automatically. Go to SDPB.org/BookClub or call 800-333-0789 to join.

Thank You for Special Gifts to Friends of SDPB

The Friends of SDPB has received several special gifts. Thank you.

Roger and Marilyn Ann Smith of Yankton honored the the 44th wedding anniversary of John and Nancy Sternquist with a special gift. John Sternquist is a member of the Friends of SDPB Board of Directors.

Roxanne Evans of Centerville made a special contribution in honor of London Reppe of Salem.

Matt and Angie King of Wessington honored the memory of Tom Magliozzi, the co-host of SDPB Radio’s Car Talk. He died last year. Magliozzi’s wit lives on in Best of Car Talk, which airs on Saturdays on SDPB Radio.

Jo Young of Rapid City honored the memory of Martin Busch with a gift. Busch, first executive director of SDPB, died in 2011.

Kenneth and Cathy Vogele of Rapid City made a contribution to honor the memory of Rudy Rudel of Rapid City.

Friends of SDPB accepts memorial gifts, gifts that mark a special person or occasion and estate gifts. For details on special gifts, call the Friends of SDPB at 800-333-0789.
