

Date (Month)	Reporter	Category	Segment
7/1/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Health	A DeKalb food bank is trying harder to serve its Spanish-speaking clients
7/6/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Illinois colleges are forced to reform developmental education this year
7/12/2022	Juanpablo Ramirez-Franco	Environment	J.B. Pritzker recently signed a law limiting the ways PFAs can be disposed of, but the volume of the chemicals is a problem
7/13/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	Rockford hosted its first fringe festival over the weekend
7/19/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	How bus driver shortages affected parents last school year
7/21/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	NIU is offering its first esports scholarship
7/21/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	Saturday was the grand re-opening for Culture Stock in Aurora
7/26/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Schools are rethinking safety after the Uvalde shooting
7/27/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	A Sycamore coffee shop had its first monthly community art showcase Sunday
7/29/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Politics	Illinoisans are getting a break on the state gas tax -- it's political!
7/29/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	A DeKalb organization is offerig classes for seniors to learn how to use smart phones and computers
7/29/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	A community-organized event featuring DeKalb school board members handed the microphone to students to ask what they thought could make school better.
8/2/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	An Aurora poet reflects on her writing journey
8/3/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	DeKalb school leaders say police can no longer fine students for in-class behavior
8/4/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Last year, Illinois school districts reported 659 unfilled special education positions.
8/8/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	A Naperville woman saw the need for a specific type of publication in her community, so she created it
8/10/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	A community college is upgrading their program to help get new truck drivers on the road
8/12/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	A new report sheds light on how COVID-19 has impacted students over the past three years
8/15/2022	Vani Subramony	Arts & Life	Every year a party occurs yearly celebrating a pungent and unique dish
8/15/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Arts & Life	A recent DeKalb High School graduate and first-generation student is leaving for college
8/16/2022	Peter Medlin	Arts & Life	Ukranian students recently visited Rockford, their sister city
8/19/2022	Susan Stephens, Spencer Tritt, Dan Libman	Arts & Life	The Under Rocks team goes LARPing
8/23/2022	Juanpablo Ramirez-Franco	Environment	At least 25 destructive species are inching closer to the Mississippi River Basin
8/23/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Health	More Illinoisans have access to healthcare under a new Medicaid expansion program
8/24/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Did initiatives aiming to diversify AP classes work?
8/26/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Some researchers say we should stop using the phrase "teacher shortage"
8/31/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	A northern Illinois art festival has been around for 12 years but for some it's brand new
9/1/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	DeKalb School District hired their first ever director of Diversity, Equity & Inclusion
9/1/2022	Mari Gardner Lara	Politics	Healthcare advocates in northern Illinois stress there are various avenues for receiving care regardless of income and immigration status
9/5/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Illinois graduates talk about student loan forgiveness
9/9/2022	Yvonne Boose	Arts & Life	A Huntley octogenarian is using her art to highlight women's rights
9/12/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Arts & Life	Soccer is more than a game for players in the 10th season of the Sycamore-DeKalb Soccer League
9/12/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Banned Books Week is coming up later this month & the number of books challenged and banned from school libraries has skyrocketed in the pass year.
9/21/2022	Peter Medlin	Education	Starting this school year, every public high school in Illinois is required to teach a unit on media literacy
9/22/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Health	DeKalb police and residents are reacting to a number of violent crimes over the past month
9/27/2022	Maria Gardner Lara	Arts & Life	DeKalb city leaders share ideas about addressing a recent wave of crime.