Late action from congress to fix the AMT may delay the ability to file a return and delay your refund. Roughly, three million taxpayers will have to wait until February to get their refunds from 2006 and millions more will have to wait until February to file new returns. All because the IRS will not be able to process new AMT paperwork. Congress put a one-year freeze on the alternative minimum tax last week shielding many middle and upper-middle income taxpayers from first exposure to the tax.
