ABC NEWS PROGRAMS - Third Quarter, 2014

20/20: FROM HELL

Tuesday, August 19, 2014

NEIGHBORS FROM HELL

- Another politician is taken down by scandal – but this time it is not for infidelity or from financial impropriety but for throwing dog feces onto a neighbor's lawn. San Marino mayor Dennis Kneier was caught in the act by homeowner Philip Lau's surveillance camera. Lau alleges that it was motivated based on Lau's opposition to a proposed dog park that the mayor supported. The incident caused the mayor to resign, but Lau is considering legal action as well. Nick Watt reports.
- What would drive a Port Angeles, Washington man to destroy his neighbor's property with a bulldozer? Jay Schadler reports on the ultimate neighbor nightmare, including exclusive video of the unbelievable act in progress. (OAD: 9/20/13)
- Garrick & Lucinda Krlich don't have a neighbor from hell...they say they have a neighborhood from hell – that the entire town of Hubbard, Ohio has turned against them, including the cops. But why? "20/20" hosts a "Peace and Reconciliation BBQ" where everybody in town comes together. Paula Faris reports. (OAD: 5/2/14)
- Dan Harris follows the story of Andre Barbosa, the man who took over a multi-million dollar foreclosed home on the water in Boca Raton, Florida that made headlines nationwide. Using an obscure law called "Adverse Possession," Barbosa was able to hold prosecutors and police at bay for weeks while frustrated neighbors tried to have him evicted. Barbosa is a member of a group called Divine Province led by James McBride. Harris has a rare interview with McBride. (OAD: 4/12/13)

VACATIONS FROM HELL

- Confessions of a Baggage Handler: Stolen valuables... damaged bags... what really happens to your bag after you check in? Deborah Roberts hears the confessions of two baggage handlers who reveal dirty secrets of their trade, and what you can do to make sure your bag arrives in one piece. (OAD: 3/7/14)
- Hotel Bait and Switch: For years, hotels and resorts around the world have turned marketing into a science, but upon arriving at our vacation in Sunny St. Maartin with a savvy travel expert, we found that sometimes what sounds too good to be true -- actually is. Linsey Davis reports. Horrible Passengers: Nick Watt looks at the contenders for world's worst plane passengers. The competition is stiff. (OAD: 1/17/14)
- Crazy Summer Stunts: It's a popular summer vacation activity – skydiving. But what happens when your chute does not deploy? Matt Gutman talks to a man who fell and lived to tell his story.
- Killer Hotel: Three people died in the Boone, NC Best Western's room 225 in two separate carbon monoxide poisoning incidents last year. The shocking fact is that after the first fatalities, nothing was done to fix the leaky pipe or to cordon off the room. No one warned Jeannie Williams and her son Jeffrey when they checked in to that room...Jeffrey died that night and Jeannie barely survived. Matt Gutman reports. (OAD: 1/17/14)

NY MED

Thursday, July 3, 2014

Expanding their scope, the producers offer a riveting tale of two cities. A documentary series takes a look at life inside the most famous hospitals in America's largest city, Columbia & Weill Cornell Hospitals and the prestigious New York-Presbyterian, and at how cutting edge medicine often makes the difference, although even the best surgeons can find themselves flirting with disaster.

Thursday, July 10, 2014

- Fast-thinking trauma doc Ziad Sifri can't believe his eyes when a 19-year-old plane crash survivor arrives in the ER at University Hospital in Newark. The youngster was a student pilot whose instructor was killed on impact. Besides treating his patient, Dr. Sifri has to manage expectations and fears of the young man's parents. Also at Newark, for the first time a young surgical resident, Neha Goel, must use her own hands to perform a potentially life-saving technique that machines just cannot handle.
- The surgical resident from Episode 201, Ashley Winter, returns to operate on a favorite patient who is suffering with bladder cancer. As a third year urology resident, Ashley is hopeful that chemotherapy will work wonders on the tumor but quickly learns that her patient will need a life-altering surgery. Ashley breaks the bad news to the patient and finds herself overcome with feelings. It raises the question of how emotionally invested a young doctor can afford to become in the outcome of an individual patient.
- Dr. Len Girardi doesn't believe in lost causes. A cardiac surgeon at the top of his game, Dr. Girardi meets a mother of three who was sent home to die when a top hospital decided the tumor on her heart was inoperable. Dr. Girardi tells the patient, "not so," and attempts the surgery that others say is impossible.
- Surgeon Dr. Oz is back in the operating room to deal with a perplexing case of a motorcycle cop who suffers a mysterious stroke while on vacation with his family. Dr. Oz quickly discovers that his patient, Joseph Carratala, has a hole in his heart that will be fatal if it is not repaired immediately. Now, it's a race against time to fix this life-threatening condition and see if Joseph's heart will restart.

- Popular New York Presbyterian nurse Diana Costine can win over even the most difficult patients with her upbeat attitude and infectious smile. Lately, however, the redhead from Milton, Massachusetts has been inexplicably losing consciousness and for the first time, finds herself at the center of the story as a patient. Can the doctors of New York Presbyterian solve this true medical mystery?
- A young couple, in love since the day they met, has big wedding plans. But their future together is thrown into doubt when cardiac surgeon Len Girardi delivers the news that the groom could drop dead at any time if he doesn't have a complex but potentially life-saving operation. Their choice and their journey will terrify and amaze you.
- Trauma surgeon Ziad Sifri thought he had seen it all growing up in war-torn Beirut. But at Newark's University Hospital where he works, patients arrive injured by hammers, box cutters and other household tools showing how personal things can get when family or romantic relationships fall apart.
- Brad Zacharia is an elite neurosurgeon finishing in one of the most demanding fields in medicine. Enter Alexander Harrington, a homeless man who could end up completely paralyzed if some damaged vertebrae in his neck aren't repaired. It's not a problem that Alexander doesn't have a dime to pay for an expensive surgery but that he keeps figuring out ways to delay the operation and extend his stay at a hospital he regards as a fine hotel.

Thursday, July 24, 2014

- It's just another day at Newark's University Hospital. First, Dr. Hugo Razo saves a man dying from a blood clot in his lungs and then hustles across the ER to assist security guards restraining a violent patient. Meanwhile his ER colleague, Dr. Tiffany Murano treats a flirtatious patient with a sports injury and a wife who is just about out of patience. Later, Dr. Murano's good humor runs out when a paramedic gets snippy with her.
- Arriving by ambulance with an aorta about to rupture, a woman in her late 60s tells doctors that she has finally met the "love of her life," a widower who is devoted to her. She fears that if she doesn't make it, fate will have robbed her boyfriend twice. But her surgeon, Allan Stewart, who was enroute to visit his kids, reveals that he is wearing a Superman costume under his clothes. He vows to do a "super" surgery to make this romance last.

- Rita Respass-Brown is a devoted and vivacious mother of three grown children who are not ready to let her go. A loving parent and founder of a school in Florida, Rita has everything she could ever want in life. But with her kidneys failing and 100,000 people on the transplant waitlist, Rita's chances are not good. But an angel might be closer to Rita than she realizes when she learns her son could be a perfect match.
- ER doctor Debbie Yi faces heartbreaking disappointment and opens up, for the first time, about her own personal struggle after a patient experiences a similar traumatic loss. But what Dr. Yi doesn't know is that the future may be brighter than she thinks. In a surprising twist, viewers will rejoice as Dr. Yi saves lives and sees her own deepest wishes come true.

Thursday, July 31, 2014

- At Mount Sinai's Roosevelt hospital, Amy Caggiula might look like a bright-eyed, freshman college student. But this petite ER resident can diagnose anything that walks in the door. Whether she is saving a woman in cardiac arrest or figuring out how to cut a cheap ring off a young lady's badly mangled finger, Amy proves that good things come in small packages. And this take-charge young doctor is not afraid to speak her mind.
- At Roosevelt, Alejandro Berenstein is a world leader in his field, and he'd better be if he is going to be able to help save the two year old daughter of a coast guard officer who could suffer a catastrophic cerebral event if Berenstein cannot alter the flow of blood to her brain. Victoria is a ticking time bomb and the surgery is very risky but it's all hands on deck for this crucial operation. Joining in this effort is pediatric neurosurgeon Saadi Ghatan, who is the ice to Berenstein's fire. But can they work together to save this little girl in time?
- It's business as usual for young Roosevelt resident, Craig Forleiter. He talks a mile a minute but his patients trust him and his superiors believe the charismatic Forleiter has the makings of a top notch surgeon.
- They come in with bullet wounds and tattoos like FTW (F The World) and MOB (Money Over Bitches) but trauma surgeon Adam Fox knows that most of his male patients at Newark's University Hospital are just scared teenagers putting on a show for the street crowd they run with.

Thursday, August 7, 2014

- At New York Presbyterian, Sabrina Mahil, an oral maxillo facial resident in surgery, is summoned to treat a college student with a severely fractured jaw. The young man's mother is understandably protective of her son who is deaf and mute. She can't understand who would punch her sweet boy in the face and is trying to keep her emotions in check.
- ER nurse Diana Costine is stunned when her close friend and fellow ER nurse Marina Dedivanovic shows up in a neck brace and in pain following a car accident. If anyone knows the drill, it should be Marina. But she doesn't receive special favors, and as the hours tick by while Marina waits to get scanned, her frustration mounts to the breaking point. Marina is not prepared for the diagnosis she receives and tears flow.
- At Newark's University hospital, trauma surgeon and mother, Anne Mosenthal, empathizes with a patient's mother who is sitting vigil for her critically injured teenage son. Mosenthal promises to do everything in her power to save the young man's life for a mom who pleads, "Just save my baby."
- Surgeon Oz brings his high school-age daughter Zoe to work for the first time. None of Oz's children have expressed interest in a medical career but now at least Zoe wants to watch her dad operate. The case is especially compelling as a young mother is in danger of a life-ending stroke if her heart defect cannot be repaired. For Zoe, observing this one surgery becomes a life-changing experience for her as well.
- New York Presbyterian neurosurgeon, Guy McKhann, is faced with performing a delicate and complex operation when 28-year old patient, Jesse Andre, shows up with a baseball-size tumor impacting one of the brain's most important arteries. If his scalpel slips, he could leave Jesse paralyzed on the left side of his body. But without the operation, the tumor will continue to grow and Jesse won't survive.

Thursday, August 14, 2014 (Season Finale)

- Robert Campagna is a vibrant architect, husband and father. But he is finding himself out of breath lately so he gets an appointment with a top lung surgeon, Nasser Altorki of New York Presbyterian. Campagna fears the worst because both his brothers died from lung cancer. This case forcefully proves the old adage “always go to the best” as Dr. Altorki makes the right decision every time and delivers an ending that is as thrilling as it is unexpected.
- Removing a ring that is stuck on a patient's finger shouldn't be major surgery. But at Mount Sinai's Roosevelt Hospital, ER resident Amy Caggiula is worried that her power drill could slip leaving the young woman in worse shape than she came in.
- Raisa Durrani, a first year surgical resident at New York Presbyterian, lands in hot water with an attending physician who is angry that their patient was given juice to drink although he was supposed to be on a diet of no food or liquids.
- As the chief trauma surgeon at Newark's University Hospital, David Livingston is a commanding presence who often mixes encouragement with sarcasm in the service of educating his staffers. But underneath his rough exterior, nobody is prouder of his unit, his city and the mission of delivering urgent care to those who need it most. When a young baseball player comes in with a serious injury to his arm following a drunken brawl, Livingston knows that his patient will be on the bench a lot longer than he realizes.

PRIMETIME: WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Using hidden cameras, “What Would You Do?” establishes everyday scenarios and then captures people's reactions. Whether people are compelled to act or mind their own business, John Quiñones reports on their split-second and often surprising decision-making process.

Friday, July 4, 2014

- At a Springfield, Missouri pawn shop, posters of the latest criminal to walk the streets of Missouri adorn the walls, the doors, and lay in a stack near the checkout counter. Actually, she's a WWYD actress who is young, attractive, and she supposedly recently ripped off a jewelry store for $100,000 worth of diamonds. What would you do if you saw this same woman, enter the store and try to pawn off the wares she's stolen?
- A Springfield, Missouri restaurant patron levels disrespectful comments towards his server who has a heavy accent. The customer's discriminatory remarks include, “you are in America, speak English!” Will anyone confront the patron about his behavior?
- While awaiting their food at a Weatherford, Oklahoma restaurant, three loud teenage boys taunt and dare each other to exit without paying. When the check arrives, the teens dash for the door. Once customers realize that the boys are up to no good, will they prevent them from “dining and dashing”?
- A beautiful teen girl is sitting in a Weatherford, Oklahoma rest stop restaurant looking upset, when a trucker sitting across from her asks what's wrong. She explains that she ran away. The trucker tells her that she is so beautiful she could be an actress in California, adding that he is heading that way and would be happy to take her along. Will anyone stop her from going with the trucker and convince her to call home?
- What would you do if you bought sweet tea from a cute young boy and girl, only to have them unexpectedly charge you extra for the cup? Will the real life customers stand up to our tiny con-artists in an Amarillo, Texas park?

Friday, July 11, 2014

- Brides are traditionally queens of the wedding kingdom with grooms taking a backseat in choosing wedding day details. But these days, grooms are getting more involved in planning -- giving rise to the term “Groomzillas.” So what will fellow shoppers at a bridal salon do when they witness a Groomzilla in action, criticizing his fiancé and every dress she tries on for him? And what will happen when bridal dress designer Pnina Tornai encounters the groomzilla?
- How will fellow shoppers react to a woman pretending to be handicapped so she can use a motorized shopping cart, and have others help grab her groceries?
- What will diners do when their waitress is more concerned with her cell phone than her customers? (OAD: 12/10/13)

- A man walks down a sidewalk, checking the handle on every parked car in his path, until he gets to our staged unlocked car. He then leans in, rummages around, and starts to take items from the car. Will anyone confront him on his blatant attempt at theft? What will happen if the thief is African American or a woman? (OAD: 7/19/13)

Friday, July 18, 2014

- What will happen when bystanders witness a nanny verbally abusing a young child?
- At a restaurant, will anyone step in and put a rude waiter in his place after he embarrasses a man on a date whose credit card was declined? (OAD: 12/10/13)
- Will anyone at a liquor store step in and tip off the store manager that a dad is buying alcohol for his underage son, hoping throwing a party with liquor will make the son more popular with the “cool kids”? (OAD: 10/5/12)
- What would you do if you bought lemonade from a young boy, only to have him charge you extra unexpectedly? Will the real life customers stand up to the young “What Would You Do?” con man? (OAD: 9/14/12)

Friday, July 25, 2014

- At a café that displays fine art on the walls with prices displayed next to them, a mother is there with her young daughter who is drawing with markers. When the mom runs to the restroom, the young artist quickly turns her marker from the paper in front of her to the painting on the café wall. What will people do? When mom returns how will people react when she tries to leave without telling the staff what happened?
- Will any bystanders warn drivers that they are about to leave their car with a drunk valet attendant (a “What Would You Do?” actor) who should not be behind the wheel?
- When a waiter/bartender refuses to serve a homeless man, even though another woman leaves money to cover his food bill, will anyone intervene? (OAD: 9/14/12)
- A man walks into a café and orders an incredibly complicated drink, clearly overwhelming the barista. When she hands him the drink, the customer claims it’s not correct and demands another one, becoming very rude and insulting. Will anyone in line for their own coffee defend our barista in distress? (OAD: 6/7/13)
- What would you do if you encountered the meanest, laziest barista you’ve ever seen? She gets your name wrong, she rolls her eyes, she can’t make a latte, and what you ordered is never what you receive. As her customer service becomes worse and worse, will anyone defend our customers’ right for an iced chai latte? (OAD: 6/7/13)

Friday, August 1, 2014

- Will anyone intervene when they see lifeguards killing some time on a slow beach day by doing a round of shots at a bar?
- A boyfriend walks out of a tanning booth radioactive orange, dangerous for the health of his skin, plus, he looks ridiculous. Even so, his girlfriend wants him to go back for more tanning. Will anyone stop him and tell him he looks ridiculous and he needs to stop? Will anyone tell him he needs a new girlfriend who cares about his health?
- What will happen when an artist sketches a bad portrait of a paying customer?
- A bartender is serving drinks to her patrons, while being sexually harassed by her boss. He starts with passing comments, but escalates to getting physical. What if the harasser is a female harassing a male employee? Will anyone step in?
- A young pregnant woman is drinking at a Jersey Shore bar. Does anyone try to stop her?

Friday, August 8, 2014

- It is one of the oldest carnival tricks in the book: a man will ask to guess your weight, height or age for a small fee. If he guesses wrong you get a prize, but if he guesses right he pockets the fee and you leave empty handed. But what if the game took it a bit too far and the “What Would You Do?” carnival worker did not just stop at guessing but actively tried to insult the contestants? Will bystanders stand up and say something?
- Kids being left in hot cars have made national headlines this summer. How will people react when they see/hear a crying baby left in a hot car? Will reactions be different if it is a mom or a dad who left the child alone?

- Will anyone shopping at an upscale clothing store come to the defense of an African American man wearing a hooded sweatshirt who is being scrutinized by a salesperson and a security guard simply because of the color of his skin and his attire? “Shark Tank” star and entrepreneur Daymond John plays the role of the hooded-sweatshirt-wearing man. (OAD: 5/23/14)
- We have all made a wish and thrown coins into a fountain. But what would you do if you saw someone taking money OUT of a Casino fountain in order to continue to gamble? Will anyone step in as the gambler fills their pockets with the coins they collect? (OAD: 6/28/13)
- A young man wearing an American flag t-shirt enters a deli and verbally harasses and threatens a Middle Eastern clerk because of his ethnic background. How will other patrons react? (OAD: 6/14/13)

THE ALMOST PERFECT BANK ROBBERY

A man’s elaborate scheme to bilk hundreds of thousands of dollars from a Bank of America in Seattle could not have been better scripted in Hollywood. The meticulously planned crime was nearly perfect, and a man almost got away with floating down a river with $400,000 on an inflatable inner tube after a brazen broad daylight robbery of an armored truck. But the mastermind missed a critical detail. Anthony Curcio spent the last few years in prison paying for his crime and tells ABC News correspondent Gio Benitez all about it in an exclusive “20/20” interview.

LIVE-IN NANNY

The Bracamonte family from California was a little surprised after they fired their live-in nanny and instead of packing her bags, she just stayed put. The worried parents of three are afraid to leave their home for fear that she would lock them out. They let “20/20” embed in their home while navigating this odd situation. The nanny has her side of the story too. In a Nick Watt exclusive interview, she shares why she continues to stick around.

ZOO NEXT DOOR

We have all heard of nasty neighbors but what if the problem is not human, but animals next door? From too many to too wild, the wrong critters next door can not only impact a homeowner’s lifestyle, but also impact the resale value of the house. Rebecca Jarvis reports.

FROM BEST FRIENDS TO KILLERS

Sixteen-year-old Skylar Neese disappeared from her home one summer night, last seen on surveillance video sneaking out of her window and getting into a sedan. What many thought was a typical case of a teenage runaway turned out to be something much more wicked – Neese was stabbed to death by her two best friends. The police had no leads until a surprising break in the case. Correspondent Ryan Smith interviews Neese’s parents, police and high school classmates to unravel the horrific mystery and murder, and ultimately the surprising suspects.

Some men kill for money and others for love, but rarely is some shrubbery between two houses the motive for homicide. Such was the case of Michael Vilkin, a retiree, whose simmering landscaping dispute with his neighbor, a renter, John Upton, led to an explosive confrontation, resulting in Upton’s untimely demise and the conviction of Vilkin for murder. Matt Gutman sits down with the shooter, both families, the prosecutors, and the neighbors who say the victim himself had a dark side.

THE GIRL IN THE SHOWER

On New Year's Day in 2009, Kelly Osborn's daughter Sheena was found dead in a Bradenton Beach, FL hotel room. When police found her hanging, they quickly classified the death a suicide. But according to Osborn, her daughter had everything to live for and was not suicidal. So she began a quest to get the death classified as a homicide and began her own investigation. David Muir reports on the evidence that was missed and the questions that were never asked.

SLEEPING WITH THE ENEMY

It was a cold case murder that "20/20" put back in the spotlight five years ago, leading to a bombshell decision in court just this week. In 2005, 25-year-old Janet Abaroa was found stabbed to death in North Carolina, her six month-old son left unharmed in another room. Her husband Raven Abaroa said he discovered his dead wife's body after returning home from playing soccer that evening. Raven quickly moved to Utah with his son, and Janet's murder remained unsolved. While in Utah, Raven met and then married Vanessa Pond, a beautiful single mother. It is not long before wife number two feels she is in danger. Eventually, a new cold case detective starts looking for new clues and Raven is arrested and extradited back to North Carolina to stand trial. John Quinones' reports.

STRANGE AFFLICTIONS

- Imagine feeling and acting drunk without ever touching a drink. That's what happens to those who suffer from Auto-Brewery Syndrome. Deborah Roberts reports.
- Tourette Syndrome is a neurological disorder characterized by repetitive involuntary movements and vocalization called tics. Could these tics that cause sufferers much physical and emotional distress, also be the secret weapon of top athletes. Some doctors believe that it can supercharge the brain, giving people with the condition abnormal quickness and heightened reflexes. Elizabeth Vargas reports.
- Selfies... everyone takes them – celebs, politicians, even... the Pope. Last year, "selfie" was Oxford Dictionary's "word of the year." But some are taking the trend a step further. Deborah Roberts reports.
- New York Times writer Joyce Cohen and her husband Ben live in NYC -- one of the noisiest cities in the world. But noise is torture for them – so much that Joyce wears industrial strength earmuffs outside, and her husband can barely leave their small apartment. They both suffer from hyperacusis, which causes terrible, often unbearable pain in the ear. Elizabeth Vargas reports. (OAD: 2/7/14)
- "She feels like she's starving 24/7," says the mother of Hannah Wilkinson, a teenager with a strange affliction called Prader-Willi syndrome. The condition causes an insatiable appetite so severe that pantry cabinets and refrigerators must be locked down. Sufferers of the syndrome are sometimes found eating dog food and even garbage. Mara Schiavocampo reports.

TWO'S COMPANY...THREE'S A CROWD

A beautiful college student loved by two young men. Then, one vanishes. A frantic search discovers his body, face down in a shallow grave in the swamps of Florida. After a two-year investigation, Pedro Bravo was accused of strangling his romantic rival and one-time best friend Christian Aguilar to death and faced first degree murder. For the first time since the verdict just last week, Aguilar's family speaks out about the jealous rage that cost this young college student his life. And the woman at the center of the tragic love triangle, Erika Frimon, also breaks her silence with Matt Gutman.

I KNOW WHAT YOU DID

Seneca County, New York....Two mysterious deaths, 17 years apart, each with a hefty insurance payout for one man. Is Karl Karlsen just really unlucky or the mastermind behind the death of his son Levi and his wife Christina? For the first time, Karlsen's own daughter speaks out about the nagging feeling she held for years that her own father was behind the 1991 arson fire that killed her mother and the 2008 freak accident that killed her brother, when a truck fell off a jack and crushed his chest. David Muir gets the inside story from the lead investigator and the circumstantial evidence that a jury will consider in two weeks at Karlsen's murder trial.

TRUE CONFESSIONS

- The former executive chef of disgraced Virginia Governor Bob McDonnell dishes on what life was like behind the doors of the Governor's mansion. Amy Robach reports.
- "Joe the Mechanic," a 40-year veteran, shares some of the secrets about auto-repair... everything from secret billing codes and ways some unscrupulous shop owners try to hose customers with unnecessary repairs and, in some cases, charge for work they did not even perform. Gio Benitez reports.
- Shaina Azad is a former cosmetic saleswoman who says she has exaggerated the benefits of products to get customers to purchase what she is pushing. Rebecca Jarvis reports.
- Some debt collectors are leaving threatening messages that are sometimes so outrageous, they sound like pranks. But they are very real. And with 30 million people in collection or about to be, there is enormous pressure on the 150,000 collectors – working hard to get back America's unpaid debt. Jarvis reports.
- Coffee – the most valuable traded commodity on earth after oil. The average American worker spends $1,000 on it every year. Have you ever wondered what that beleaguered barista preparing your morning brew is thinking? Nick Watt talks to a bona fide Starbucks barista who spills the beans on what happens when a customer comes to the counter with an attitude.

ROAD TO RUIN

- The Hunt for the Kansas City shooter: This spring, motorists in the Kansas City area had to cope with much more than rush hour traffic – a lone gunman was firing at vehicles on the highway, nine times in all. Once police determined they had a serial shooter on their hands, they deployed a series of sophisticated and controversial investigative techniques to move from a series of random data points to the arrest of suspect Mohammed Whitaker and his green Dodge Neon. Jim Avila reports.
- Hazardous Guardrails?: Brian Ross investigates a major manufacturer of highway guardrails accused of making a design change that has caused these accident cushions to become lethal lances in some gruesome accidents.
- Truckers: In the wake of the Tracy Morgan fatal crash, more questions than ever are popping up about fatigued truckers and the safety of those massive rigs on the road. Matt Gutman talks to a trucker who reveals the pressures companies put on drivers to stay on the road and he shares video of his own dispatchers telling him to keep driving even though he is complaining that he is falling asleep at the wheel. In addition, "20/20" sets up speed trap with the Ohio HP and catches lead footed truckers in the act.
