

FCC File No. BAL - 19991206ABK. It appears that, due to inadvertent oversight, the tower registration was not updated to reflect the transfer of ownership of the Tower.

Immediately upon receipt of the NOV, Learn attempted to access the Commission's ASR database to investigate the registration information and, as necessary, to update it. Due to the federal government shutdown which commenced on October 1, 2013, the ASR database was not functioning. Immediately upon the reopening of the federal government on October 17, 2013, Learn accessed the database and updated the registration information. The Tower is now registered in the name of Learn. See Attachment A.

Learn notes that the Tower is located directly behind the fully-staffed main studio of KLPZ. It is plainly evident that the Tower and main studio comprise the same facility. Visitors to the Tower would unmistakably know to inquire about the Tower at the main studio facility. Furthermore, while, until the recent update, the Tower registration did not list Learn as the registrant, the contact information, such as address and telephone number, in the registration were accurate. Thus, an individual wishing to contact the owner of the Tower based on information in the registration would have reached Learn.

Learn has promptly remedied the issue identified in the NOV and respectfully submits that no further action on this NOV is warranted.
