WTVN
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WTVN provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- After-school programs: Staff and volunteers from St. Stephen's Community House discussed their winter programs and services offered for school-aged children including tutoring, organized physical education activities and arts and crafts.
- Arthritis and joint health: Susan Davis, Executive Director of the Arthritis Foundation of Central Ohio, talked about keeping joints healthy could be a matter of listening to your body and taking the right steps if something is wrong. She offered a wealth of information about chronic joint symptoms and we posted it on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Black History Month programs and activities: Staff and volunteers from the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Arts Center talked about the programs and family activities scheduled during Black History Month and year-round.
- Disaster relief volunteering: American Red Cross Development Director Jeremy Steele discussed disaster relief services. He said that when a disaster strikes people want to rush out and help. He said that was fine, but he added that people can be most helpful if they give relief organizations like the American Red Cross time to prepare for volunteers. He also said that every person in a disaster area increases demand on critical resources such as food, water, sanitation and medical facilities. He stressed that the solution is to register in advance.
- Energy conservation: Representatives from the Ohio Energy Council told about how consumers can find ways to lower energy bills as energy prices move higher. They said that citizens can save money and energy and help the community become energy independent. They offered energy-saving tips and we posted them on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Fraud crimes prevention: Representatives from the Ohio Crime Prevention Council discussed how most people think of violent crimes when they think of crime victims. They said that frauds, identity thefts and financial schemes victimize thousands in our community and millions nationwide each year. They offered information to help ensure that people have the opportunity to be heard and be provided assistance to further their recovery process. We posted the information on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.

- Health care careers: Lisa Moore, Community Development Director for Ohio Interim Healthcare, talked about news stories predicting a serious shortage in nurses estimated at 800,000 by the year 2020. She said that presently registered nurses constitute the largest health care occupation, and is projected to create the second-largest number of new jobs among all occupations. We posted job-search information she provided to us on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- News for homebuyers: Representatives from the Ohio Real Estate Council discussed that the recent changes in the real estate market with stabilizing prices and appreciation, along with increased inventory are encouraging. They said more inventory means more choices and room to negotiate, plus less pressure on buyers to make hasty decisions.
- Preparing for retirement: Representatives from the Ohio Institute for Certified Public Accountants talked about how recent news stories suggest that many people are headed for rough retirement years and may not be able to maintain their current standard of living. They offered information to help set goals and establish priorities along with understanding investment options. We posted their information on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Protecting your finances: Joan Coughlin, Executive Director of the Ohio Better Business Bureau, offered information to help people to watch over and guard their financial information. She said that there are Better Business Bureau-recommended services that can potentially avert identity crimes and we posted the information on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Saving on health insurance: Janet Hughes of the Ohio Department of Health discussed how people are increasingly looking to save on health insurance while getting some much-needed tax breaks. She said one way to make insurance more affordable is with a Health Savings Account (HSA), which she said is a high-deductible health insurance plan that's coupled with an IRA-style savings account. She offered information on this type of plan and we posted it on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Small business advice: Carol Wilkerson, Regional Manager of the Small Business Administration, said that for businesses, competition means figuring out how to reach more customers, keep costs down and stay one step ahead of others in the industry. She offered information on places to go for advice on staying competitive and we posted their online information on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Timely child vaccinations: Ohio Department of Health representatives continued an earlier discussion on getting children vaccinated in a timely manner. They said that in the wake of child deaths from the flu (two Ohio children died several days before this interview), it is important that every child receive all recommended immunizations so that they are not at risk for acquiring or spreading illness to other children and the entire community.
