WTVN
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WTVN provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- Retirement planning: Officials from the Ohio Insured Retirement Institute discussed how confidence in a secure retirement is declining. They said many people will need to retire later or make steep cutbacks to make ends meet in retirement.
 - Heart health: Representatives from the American Heart Association discussed knowing the numbers for blood pressure, cholesterol, body mass index and blood glucose for overall good health.
 - Small business technology: Representatives from the U.S. Small Business Administration talked about how small businesses with fewer than ten employees make up seventy percent of all private-sector employees. They discussed some of the unique challenges which technology can help them overcome.
 - Health system improvements for kids: Officials from Nationwide Children's Hospital discussed how caring for children is the biggest part of what they do. They talked about how improvements in health systems for kids are providing greater pediatric medicine for primary care to intensive care.
 - Seniors and volunteering: Greg Spierling of the Senior Volunteer Collaborative offered information to those who have reached retirement age but still want to use their talents and acquire new skills while helping others.
 - Health and safety: In special editions hosted by Ryan Gorman and produced by iHeartRadio, reports designed to be a good resource of necessary information to ease the panic about the coronavirus pandemic were given, including discussions on what makes this virus unique. Also discussed was the economic impact of the outbreak and how concerned you should be about your investments.
