WTVN
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WTVN provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- Auto care and safety: Officials from the Car Care Council discussed how investing in your vehicle's routine preventive maintenance needs can pay dividends when it comes to both short-term and long-term value. We posted their car-care tips on our iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Childhood cancer: Representatives from the Ohio Children's Cancer Society talked about a tool that childhood cancer survivors have to help them evaluate and manage any health problems that may develop later in life as a result of their original cancer treatments.
- Diabetes management: Charles Farmer, Marketing and Public Relations Director with the Central Ohio Diabetes Association, said that recognizing the symptoms of diabetes can help lead to early detection and treatments, which may help to lessen the complications associated with the disease. Farmer is a member of the iHeartMedia Columbus Market Local Advisory Board (LAB).
- Family finances: Representatives from Money Matters talked about watching key factors, like credit and debt being an effective way to keep finances on track.
- Health awareness: Representatives from Ohio Health discussed steps you can take to improve your understanding of what is going on and what is expected of you at your next doctor's appointment.
- Help for the elderly: Representatives from Central Ohio Senior Life discussed important news for the thousands of Central Ohioans who are disabled enough to need help with everyday activities. They offered information on Direct Support Professionals who help the elderly and disabled live and work in their own communities rather than being forced to live in an institutional setting.
- Hunger: As the number of hungry community citizens continues to grow, the Mid-Ohio Food Bank and Children's Hunger Alliance are looking for innovative ways to feed them. According to staff members from Mid-Ohio Food Bank, volunteer groups are turning to a number of area churches which have stepped up hunger prevention programs.

- Joint health: Local fitness expert Deborah Austin discussed how daily stretching will help keep joints mobile and flexible as well as strengthen muscles and ligaments. We posted more joint health information on our iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Local students and community service: In this annual Christmas edition, local high school and college students discussed their community service efforts during the holiday season and winter break. Also included was holiday music by local artists.
- Medical breakthroughs: Officials from the Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center discussed how medical imaging such as M-R-I has changed clinical medicine. However, they stated imaging is most likely to help the very people for whom it can be risky. We posted their helpful information on our iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Military and Veterans: Members of the non-profit organization known as the Military Family Association talked about how approximately one-third of children from military families reported symptoms of anxiety related to their parents' deployment. They offered information on how to improve support for these families as they serve our country here at home.
- Women's health: Dr. Cheryl King, Chief of Behavioral Medicine at University Hospitals, discussed how women may hide their emotions rather than risk embarrassment. She said that some women who have low desire and associated distress say they often feel guilty, frustrated or inferior because of their sexual problems.
- Workplace diversity: Representatives from Inroads, a corporate internship network for college students, talked about how local business sponsorships are an excellent way to help build a leadership pipeline and create a more diverse workforce.
