WTVN
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WTVN provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- Adoption: Staff members from Central Ohio Adoption Service discussed technology that is being used to speed up the adoption process. They said it is a secure and searchable network for adoption professionals, which is designed to provide adoption agencies with one central database that connects them to other organizations. They said the goal is faster connections between expectant mothers and adoptive parents.
- Disaster preparedness: Volunteers from the American Red Cross discussed being prepared for disasters with survival kits and a plan of action. We posted disaster preparedness information on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Elder care: Gail Johnson of Central Senior Life talked about how an organization called Direct Support Professionals helps the elderly and disabled live and work in their own communities rather than being forced to live in an institutional setting.
- Eye health: Meg Collins of Prevent Blindness Ohio talked about how 80 percent of people in America aged 55 or are unaware of a leading cause of vision loss, which is age-related macular degeneration. We linked to their online information from the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Foster care transition: Kelly Vzyral, Assistant Director for Government Relations for the Ohio Association of Child Caring Agencies, talked about the tough transitions young people face when aging out of foster care and gave information about the programs and services available.
- Healthy hydration: Scott Smith of Central Ohio Runner talked about healthy hydration as the running season gets underway. He said that considering water makes up about 60 percent of your body weight, washes toxins out of your system and carries nutrients to your cells it is a good idea to be mindful of that before training and running a race.
- Military and veterans: This edition was a special presentation about iHeartMedia's initiative Show Your Stripes, which is committed to help find employment for our nation's veterans. We reported on how many veterans face another battle when they return home---the struggle to find a job. We included information about an upcoming job fair for veterans hosted by the 7-unit iHeartMedia Columbus cluster.

- Parkinson's disease research: Kendra Miller of the Parkinson Foundation discussed how scientists constantly strive to discover new and better treatments for Parkinson's disease. She also talked about the upcoming Parkinson's Unity Walk that will help fund these efforts. We posted the registration information on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Senior eye care: Representatives from the Ohio Optometric Association talked about how seniors aged 65 and over may qualify for a free eye exam and screenings for glaucoma and age-related macular degeneration through new programs at the Ohio Senior Health Center.
- Seniors and prescription costs: Staff members from the Central Ohio Area Agency On Aging discussed how older adults can make better health care decisions by finding out about ways to manage their medicines and prescription costs. They offered information on keeping medicine records and lowering medicine costs and we posted it on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Seniors and technology: Staff members from the Central Ohio Career Resource Center talked about how they provide free services for older adults who want to learn more about using social media and other communication tools such as text messaging and even email. They offered information on getting started, plus privacy and safety information and we posted it on the WTVN iHeartMedia Communities page.
- Teacher support: This edition was a special feature produced by iHeartRadio to highlight the efforts of teachers who made a positive difference in the lives of their students and how listeners can make a difference in the lives of teachers. Various interviewees discussed how the public can deliver even more success for classrooms, schools and communities.
