The man will serve 15 months in prison and his wife is on probation for 2 years. This is an update to the story. It lets viewers know the sentence the couple faces.

UDOT Fatalities (aired 1/21/2014 @ 7pm, 2:00 minutes) – The Utah Department of Transportation released statistics for highway fatalities in the state. In 2013, 219 people died on Utah roads. 152 of those people were driving a car, and 71 of those in the car were not wearing seatbelts. That means nearly half of the people who died did not buckle up. Transportation officials said seat belts were the number one contributor in fatal crashes, and wanted to remind the public to wear seat belts. The Utah Department of Transportation was also looking to get the seat belt law in the state changed—making it so drivers who are not wearing seat belts could be pulled over. Right now, people can't be pulled over for not buckling up unless they are under 18 years of age.

Teacher Abuse Plea (aired 01/24/2014 @ 7pm, :45) – A former teacher and coach faces up to 20 years in prison after pleading guilty to sexually abusing a student. Prosecutors are appealing a judge's decision to use the state's definition of negligence in the case against Cheryl Kidd. This story updates viewers to the case, and why it's not moving forward.

E Cigs for Sex? (aired 2/20/2014 @ 7pm, :30) – A man is behind bars accused of trying to use e-cigarettes to lure minors into sex. Police say 49-year-old Charles Randall Redwen tried to talk a boy into having sex by offering him e-cigarettes. This story updates viewers to this case, and the charges Redwen faces including sexual exploitation of a minor and seducing a minor by internet or text.

Brigham City Doctor (aired 2/25/2014 @ 7pm, :30) – A Brigham City Doctor convicted of illegally prescribing pain medicine lost out on his chance to take his case to the Supreme court. The court denied Dewey Mackay's "evidence challenge." This story updates viewers on the case and lets them know he will still be serving out his 20 year sentence for causing the death of a man who overdosed.

Diem Sentencing (aired 2/25/2014 @ 7pm, 15 seconds) – An Orem Man who plead guilty to beating his step-father to death will learn his fate today. Strider Diem pleaded guilty to reduced charges in the case. This story updates viewers on the case and lets them know he faces up to five years in prison.

Driving to Hospitals (aired 2/26/2014 @ 7pm, 2:00 minutes) – An alarming amount of people with heart attack symptoms are coming to the hospital in a car. According to a study from Utah's Mountain Star Network, 96% of patients at one hospital in Utah County drove themselves or got a ride to the hospital when they thought they were having a heart attack. It was 80% of people at another hospital in Salt Lake. Doctors say most of those people should be arriving by ambulance. In our story, experts warned that every second counts when it comes to a heart attack and urge the public to call 911 rather than get their own ride to the hospital. Doctors say paramedics have all the equipment they need to help a heart attack patient. They can arrive to a home a lot faster than it would take for a person to drive to the hospital. It could also be potentially dangerous on the roads if someone is driving with a medical condition.

Dating Violence Report (aired 2/27/2014 @ 7pm, 2:00 minutes) – A new survey from the Utah Department of Health shows one in every four high school students who dated in Utah last year experienced some sort of abuse. Those numbers have the health department and other violence prevention experts worried—and they’re now working to educate students. The health department is releasing a “relationship tool kit” they hope to get into every school across the state. Our story also gave some warning signs that a person is in an abusive relationship. Experts say the biggest obstacle in these situations is getting kids to talk about it. Many times they don’t realize they are being abused.

Fotu Sentencing (aired 2/28/2014 @ 7pm, :30) – The man accused of obstructing justice in a triple murder investigation will be sentenced today. Davis Fotu plead guilty to the charges against him. Police say Fotu was inside a Midvale home when David Fresques went room to room shooting and killing three people. This story updates viewers on the case.

Yellowbear Arrest (aired 3/6/2014 @ 7pm, 40 seconds) – Police arrested a man in West Valley early this morning who was wanted for parole violations. 29-year-old Tyson Yellowbear had a brief standoff with police before coming out on his own. Police tracked him to a house. Yellowbear was wanted for parole violations on a homicide, from a drug deal in 2006. He will also face charges for a restricted person possessing a gun. This story updates viewers to an early morning confrontation with police.

Give Trucks Space (aired 3/14/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – Salt Lake City Police are rolling out a new campaign to make drivers more aware of commercial trucks. The campaign is called “Trucks Need Space” and police hope they will save lives by getting the word out. Through the campaign, police want drivers to be aware that the stopping time for a large truck is much greater than a passenger vehicle. Police are seeing more cars cutting trucks off in traffic, which can often have fatal results. Truckers say if other drivers follow simple driving rules, it can help everyone avoid accidents. Salt Lake City police encourage the public to visit their website and pledge to drive more carefully around big commercial trucks.

Millerberg Sentencing (aired 3/18/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – The man found guilty of causing his babysitter’s fatal overdose, then hiding her body, will be sentenced today. Eric Millerberg will learn his fate in an Ogden courtroom. This story catches viewers up on the case and lets them know the latest.

EDUCATION

Teachers Take Gun Class (aired 1/3/14 @ 7:00pm, 1:25) Dozens of Utah teachers used part of their winter break to earn their concealed weapons permit. Organizers of the classes say they created the teacher focused seminars to help keep schools safe. Opponents say arming teachers sends the wrong message to students.

Preschool Funding (aired 1/16/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – The Salt Lake County mayor wants the legislature to put up some money for a program to help poor children read. If the proposed program got funding, Salt Lake County, United Way and the Granite School District would take kids who are poor and score low on tests and put them in a preschool. Goldman Sachs would pay the costs for schooling upfront. And if the kids are doing well enough by third grade, taxpayers would then pay the money back to Goldman Sachs. Mayor Ben McAdams claims educational success would eventually save taxpayer money. But some groups don't like the plan, and will fight it before the legislature.

Tuition Protest Dollars (aired 01/23/2014 @ 7pm, :25) – A University of Utah student says he paid his tuition bill with two-thousand one-dollar bills to protest the rising cost of college. Undergraduate in state tuition rates have more than doubled in Utah over the past 10 years. This story lets viewers know about one students creative way to protest.

Charter Schools (aired 2/17/14 at 7pm for :30) - The Salt Lake Tribune reports that Representative Rich Cunningham says that charter schools can build wherever they want and it's hard for cities to regulate the schools. Others say that Cunningham is just siding with a wealthy land owner who lost some land to a charter school because the school needed a canal built through his property. Cunningham says he wants to change the rules so that Utah cities have more control over the schools.

WJ Parents (aired 2/19/14 at 7pm for :45) - Some parents in the Jordan School District are worried that the district is considering closing down a school that's been around for more than 30 years. The parents gathered to come up with a plan to stop the closure. After voters turned down a bond proposal that would have paid for new schools, the Jordan School Board formed a committee recently to see how best to use their school buildings to solve a big overcrowding problem at some schools.

School Buses (aired 2/19/14 at 7pm for :30) - One school district is toying with the idea of using cameras on school buses to catch traffic law violators. The Daily Herald says the Alpine School District has a camera installed on one bus. It can get a picture of the car, plates, and face if someone tries an illegal pass. They say the goal isn't to get money from tickets but to keep kids safe.

Elizabeth Smart Supports Child Sex Education Bill (aired 2/19/2014 @ 7:00pm, :50) - Elizabeth Smart testified before a House committee about the importance of educating kids on sex abuse. Smart said that many kids don't know they have an option to say no to their abuser. The committee approved the bill, and sent it to the full house for consideration.

Good Parent Teacher Conferences (aired 2/20/14 @ 7pm, 2:30) - Heidi Hatch interviewed Paula Logan, the Principal of Butler Middle School about what parents can do to prepare for Parent Teacher Conferences. Butler recommended several suggestions, such as setting goals and coming up with a list of questions for your child's teacher before the meeting.

Lockhart Plan (aired 2/20/14 at 7pm for :45) - During the legislative session, Utah house speaker Becky Lockhart had a plan for Utah schools to buy every kid a tablet or computer, but Governor Gary Herbert said it would cost too much and the plan had to be scaled back. The plan failed to get votes and the bill died.

District Split Bill (aired 2/25/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – South Jordan city is exploring the idea of breaking away from the Jordan School District. But, it may not happen if a new bill passes during the legislative session. HB84 would make it harder for cities with money to separate from cities that don't have as much cash. The bill states that if a city finds that in a five-year projection it would bring in 105% or more of the money needed for their schools, they would legally not be able to break away from its district. The bill already passed committee and does leave the door open for school districts to split up, but the school board would have to say they want to get rid of their schools and give up some power. South Jordan city leaders are actively trying to defeat the bill.

Online Classes (aired 2/26/14 at 7pm for :30) - The State Office of Education says a new study shows that online classes for some Utah students are falling short. The Salt Lake Tribune says the report shows many students from charter schools only take a few classes at a time but the school gets state funding as if they are full time students. The audit showed two offending charter schools in particular - Harmony Education Services of Provo and My Tech High Inc. of Spanish Fork.

Spritz App (aired 3/11/2014 @ 7pm, 2:00 minutes) – Technology developed in Utah could transform the way people read and learn. A small start-up, called "Spritz," claims their product can make people read faster. Our story showed viewers how this app works. In the app, you read individual words that are flashed in front of you instead of reading line to line, page to page. You can change the pace of words per minute you read. The people behind the technology say they're heard from people with learning disabilities like dyslexia, ADHD and even stroke victims that the technology has been a huge success for them.

Tuition Hike (aired 3/13/14 at 7pm for :30) - - The University of Utah is getting a 6% tuition hike starting the next academic year. University trustees approved the increase. The tuition hike will raise salaries, increase academic advising and help with maintenance. The university is also increasing the number of scholarships it will offer next year.

Skip School Bill (aired 3/14/14 at 7pm for :30) - Utah lawmakers passed a bill to let kids who skip school off the hook as long as they keep up their grades. The bill exempts parents from truancy court if the student is 16 or older and has a 3.5 GPA or higher. The bill's sponsor says court is a school's last resort. Schools will still be able to enforce their own penalties, like keeping students with poor attendance from graduating.

Swallow Dangers for Kids (aired 02/07/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) – It is inevitable that your child will likely swallow something they shouldn't and in most cases, it's harmless. However, doctors say they are seeing more cases of kids swallowing objects that are dangerous. Doctor Thomas Sutton is a pediatric gastroenterologist at Utah Valley Regional Medical Center. He says the most common items kids will swallow include coins, toys and toothpicks. He is also seeing an increasing number of children swallowing batteries. The chemicals inside batteries can eat through the tissue of a child's GI tract, another concern for doctors are magnets. Items like marbles and parts of toys will likely pass on their own; however, coins, batteries and sharp objects need to be removed immediately by a physician.

Kids & Caffeine (aired 2/10/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – A new study shows that almost 75% of kids have caffeine every day. Experts with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention were surprised to learn that much of that caffeine comes from coffee and energy drinks. They say that's concerning, because coffee and energy drinks can contain much higher amounts of caffeine than soda and iced tea. The American Academy of Pediatrics says caffeine has no place in a child's diet because it's a mild stimulant and can be potentially harmful. Caffeine could also have emotional and physical side effects for kids like anxiety, panic attacks and even high blood pressure.

If the baby fails the test they will be sent to a specialist for more testing.

The Potty Watch (aired 02/21/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) – Potty training is something many parents dread. First, you have to figure out whether your child is ready. And when they are ready, where do you begin? Every parent has stories of success. We spoke to one busy mom who uses a potty watch with her 2-year-old son, Korver. Korver Kennedy is one of 4 children and potty training hasn't been so easy for mom Melanie. She uses a potty watch as a reminder. The potty watch is a watch that you can buy at the store. You set a timer and when the music starts playing, it's time to run your child to the restroom.

First Lady & Vending Machines (aired 2/25/14 @ 7:00pm, 1:20) - Michelle Obama and the Secretary of Agriculture spoke out against vending machines in America's schools. Together they proposed limiting the calories, fat and sugar of items sold in schools. Opponents argued that healthier foods will cost more and that could leave some kids who don't have much money with nothing to eat.

Gay Marriage & Advocates (aired 2/28/2014 @ 7pm, 35 seconds) – A group of Same sex couples spoke at the Capitol building, after they say Utah's Attorney General set policy to deny their adoption rights. This story lets viewers know why the group says they're being denied adoption and the latest in the division on Gay Marriage rights in Utah.

Preterm Births (aired 03/07/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - Pre-term births are the leading cause of newborn deaths in the U.S. A collaborative study between Intermountain Medical Center and the University of Utah has identified a new approach to preventing pre-term births. Statistics show nearly half a million babies are born prematurely every year in the United States. Doctor Sean Esplin is a maternal fetal medicine specialist at Intermountain Medical Center in Murray. He was one of the authors of a study that looked into whether doctors could prevent premature births. Progesterone is a hormone that is naturally produced during pregnancy. This study showed that injections of progesterone early in pregnancy reduced the risk of having another preterm birth by about a third.

Driving Test Bill (aired 3/10/14 at 7pm for :30) - The state legislature considered a new bill requiring a new driving test. The bill would have Utah teens take a final written exam before they get behind the wheel with a driver's license. Representatives say the test will focus on how to avoid fatalities on the road. The bill passed unanimously in the house, then went to the senate for a vote on this day.

Sex Abuse Bill (aired 3/13/14 at 7pm for :30) - A measure aiming to prevent child sex abuse by creating an awareness program in Utah schools went to the Governor for his signature. The bill lets schools choose whether to teach students what to do if they are abused. The measure has the backing of former kidnapping and sexual assault victim Elizabeth Smart.

Vaginal Births After a C-Section (aired 03/14/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) – Statistics show that most women who had a cesarean delivery can still have a natural delivery with future pregnancies. We spoke with Angela Anderson, the director of the Intermountain Nurse/Midwifery program at Intermountain Medical Center. She says a vaginal birth is a safe option for most women who have had a prior cesarean delivery. If a woman is interested in having a natural delivery after a c-section, she should discuss it with her primary care physician.

Food Packaging Sensors (aired 3/17/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – Expiration dates on food may soon be a thing of the past. Scientists have invented a smart tag that can help families know when food has gone bad in the fridge. It's estimated the average American family throws out more than $2,000 of food every year. But new smart tags could help keep that number down. The gel based and temperature sensitive tags are put on the packaging and change color over time—showing the rate at which food goes rotten. The inventor of the tag hopes it will help keep parents from throwing out valuable food and wasting money.

Utah Taxes (aired 3/19/14 at 7pm for :30) - There is big news for Utah's tax paying families. The website "Wallethub" places Utah at number 14 for lowest taxes in the nation. The news gets better if you figure in cost of living - then Utah has the 10th lowest taxes. According to the site, Utahns pay just over six thousand dollars a year on average in taxes.

ENVIRONMENT

Utah Growing (aired: 1/1/2013 @ 7pm, :20) – According to new census data, Utah is one of the fastest growing states in the country. Over the past year, Utah's population grew by 46,000 people. This story tells viewers how fast our state is growing and possible repercussions for the future.

Dead Eagles (aired 01/07/2014 @ 7pm, :30) – Utah Wildlife officials say the number of bald eagles killed by the West Nile Virus has climbed to 40, and five more birds are in rehab. This story lets viewers know how many birds have gotten sick and what's killing them.

Volcano Fears (aired 1/9/2014 @ 7pm, 2:00 minutes) – A super volcano is located under Yellowstone National Park. Researchers at the University of Utah discovered that the molten rock reservoir under the volcano is a lot bigger than people thought. When the volcano erupted two million years ago, it was 2,500 times more powerful than the Mt. Saint Helens volcano back in 1980. Scientists say the magma under the volcano located in the park is two and a half times larger than once thought. Heat from the magma drives Yellowstone's geysers, like Old Faithful. The super volcano has erupted three times, and scientists don't know when it will happen again. But they say they will see it coming, and that Utah will experience hundreds of earthquakes when it does happen.

Oil Shale (aired 1/15/14 at 7pm for :30) - A new company is trying to move into the "oil shale" business in Utah. The Salt Lake Tribune says that the British company Tom Co Energy filed to mine on state land in Uintah County. The company expects to start mining shale in a few months. They say they will use a new method for getting the oil that they say is more environmentally friendly.

Bald Eagle Findings (aired 1/20/14 at 7pm for :30) - The National Wildlife Health Center has released their findings into what has killed more than 50 bald eagles in Utah. Experts say migrating "eared grebes" are what have been passing the West Nile Virus onto the bald eagles. According to the salt lake tribune, up to 20,000 grebes died last year and officials believe eagles feasted on the infected birds.

No Water (aired 1/21/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – In January Utah water officials stated that this year's snowpack in Southern Utah is not ideal. Officials say the snowpack for Southwest Utah has dropped to 67% of normal. Statewide, snowpack is at 75%. Without more snow, there won't be enough spring runoff to recharge reservoirs. Dry weather also made the water levels in Lake Powell unpredictable. Experts say some late winter storms could salvage the season.

Exercise During an Inversion (aired 1/23/14 @ 7pm, 1:20) - Doctors claim the inversion makes outdoor exercise in Utah a hazard. We interviewed a Sports Medicine specialist who said a good way to avoid the inversion is to exercise in the mountains where the air is cleaner. He also suggested skipping runs every few days, in favor of an indoor activity like swimming or weight lifting.

Stericycle Study (aired 2/14/14 at 7pm for :30) – A new health study shows elevated cancer rates in the area surrounding the medical waste incinerator, Stericycle. This facility has sparked heated debate among community members who believe the incinerator is emitting harmful pollutants into the air. According to the new study, the elevated cancer rates probably has nothing to do with Stericycle but residents say the study is further proof that the facility needs to go.

Clean Air Bills (aired 2/19/14 at 7pm for :30) - Lawmakers have their own view of their work done on clean air during the legislative session. The Utah House's bipartisan "clean air caucus" says Utah lawmakers approved a record number of bills in an effort to tackle the state's air pollution issues. They also say lawmakers approved 4.7 million dollars aimed at improving air quality.

Pollution Laws (aired 2/19/14 at 7pm for :30) - Utah advocates are calling for more laws to cut pollution and are handing out grades to lawmakers. The groups graded Governor Gary Herbert and state legislators for their efforts to address air quality during the 2014 legislative session. The governor earned a "B" and lawmakers in the house earned a "B-" but the senate got a "D". They say the governor and house made some moves for cleaner air but gave the senate the "D" after a measure to strengthen state regulators' power failed to get a vote.

Driving Tax Credit (aired 2/25/14 at 7pm for :30) - A new bill offering an income tax credit if you buy monthly transit passes during bad air months was introduced to the state legislature. The bill offered credits for buying transit passes through January, February and July - the months when inversions and pollution are usually the worst. The credit would be 25% of the cost of passes, up to $50.

Drought Help (aired 02/25/2014 @ 7pm, :25) – Governor Gary Herbert is asking the Federal Government for more help during drought season. Herbert pressed President Obama on the topic during a meeting. This story lets viewers know what their lawmakers are doing about water issues.

Mussel Infestation (aired 2/25/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) The dropping water level at Lake Powell has revealed an alarming discovery—thousands of invasive clams are attached to canyon walls, the dam and other structures. These clams could end up costing taxpayers millions of dollars. The Quagga mussels colonize on its body so it builds up layer after layer in water pipelines, and eventually clog the pipeline. Water officials say to try and prevent that, they will use chemicals in the pipeline to try and kill the clams.

Hive Pass (aired 3/6/14 at 7pm for :45) - The sale of UTA's new "hive pass" is off to a great start, but only people in Salt Lake County can get their hands on it. Riders get an all access pass for less than a dollar a day. There has been a big push from some to get more people on public transportation to help keep the air cleaner.

Wildfire Season Worries (aired 3/6/2014 @ 7pm, 1:30 minutes) – Wildfire officials in Southern Utah are planning for what could be a very active fire season. Their main worry is dry conditions because of a lack of snowpack. In Southwest Utah, the snowpack has dipped to just 47% of normal, so firefighters are preparing now for possible wildfires this summer. The rains last fall also resulted in a bumper crop of invasive grasses in the lower areas, providing supercharged fuel for fires. Fire officials may put fire restrictions into place as early as mid-May. They are asking the public to get prepared and make sure there is defensible space around their homes.

DIVERSITY

Trayvon Martin Mom (aired 01/10/2014 @ 7pm, 35 seconds) – The mother of slain teen Trayvon Martin will speak at the University of Utah in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day. She'll be speaking about racial profiling. This story lets viewers know where and when they can listen to her speak.

Massachusetts Recognize Marriages (aired 01/17/2014 @7pm, :30) – The State of Massachusetts says it will recognize same sex marriages that were performed in Utah before the hold. This story lets viewers know that another state is willing to recognize those marriages even though Utah is not.

Utah Attorneys Update (aired 01/17/2014 @7pm, :30) – Utah will spend $300,000 dollars to bring in a team of three outside attorneys to help defend the state's same sex marriage ban before the Federal Appeals Court. Gene Scaerr has been hired to lead the team with help from John Bursch and Monte Neil. This story updates viewers to who will be representing Utah in the case.

Same Sex Marriage Appeal (aired 01/20/2014 @7pm, 40 seconds) – Lawyers for Utah's same sex couples are asking a Federal Appeals Court to deny the state's request for more time in preparing Utah's defense of its same sex marriage ban. This story is an update to the latest in the state's same sex marriage ban.

Governor Herbert on Same Sex Marriage (aired 1/23/14 @ 7:00pm, 1:00) 2News reporter Rod Decker interviewed Governor Gary Herbert about same sex marriage. The Governor reaffirmed his support for traditional marriage and said 2004's Amendment 3 proves a majority of Utahns feel the same way.

Dueling Rallies (aired 1/28/14 at 7pm for :30) - People held two different and dueling same sex marriage rallies at the capitol. The Salt Lake Tribune reported same sex marriage supporters would get together for "a rally for equality" on Utah's Capitol steps. Those who support the ban on same sex marriage in Utah would follow that up with a rally of their own inside the capitol later in the evening.

New Utah City (aired 2/21/14 at 7pm for :30) Holladay is the 20th Utah city to pass an ordinance that bans discrimination in housing and employment based on sexual orientation or gender identity. The Salt Lake Tribune reports that the ordinance passed in a 5 to 1 vote last night.

Arizona Bill (aired 2/26/14 at 7pm for :30) - A bill in Arizona that pitted religious freedom against civil and gay rights is now vetoed. The bill would have allowed businesses to refuse service to gays based on religious grounds. Corporations and businesses threatened to boycott the state of Arizona because of the law. Similar legislation is being considered in several other states. Lawmakers in Ohio recently withdrew a similar bill.

Gay Adoption (aired 2/27/14 at 7pm for ::30) - A group of same sex couples spoke at the capitol building. They say Utah's attorney general set policy to deny their adoption rights. They say as they file for adoption Attorney General Sean Reyes is filing memorandums in each case asking the judges to deny couples the right to adopt. Utah law says that legally married couples can petition for adoption and individuals can petition for adoption by themselves, but couples not legally married cannot petition for adoption together.

Capitol Rally (aired 3/5/14 at 7pm for :45) - Hundreds of people supporting a statewide anti-discrimination law rallied today at the state capitol. The group also honored 13 protesters who were arrested three weeks ago. More than 200 supporters gathered at the capitol to support the bill that would protect citizens against jobs and housing discrimination. Republican senator Steve Urquhart sponsored the anti-discrimination bill. He said gays and their allies will work for it and it will eventually pass.

Ordain Women (aired 3/9/14 at 7pm for ::45) - A group called 'Ordain Women' says they will ask to be let inside the men only LDS priesthood meeting next month. A spokesperson says they expect about twice the number of people as the last time they tried. The group wants the LDS church to reorganize their hierarchy to include women in more of the top positions. The LDS church already said the group will be turned away.

Gay Marriage Court (aired 3/12/14 at 7pm for :30) - A federal judge will hear arguments on a lawsuit to get Utah to recognize the marriages of the 1,000 same sex couples who were legally married last year. The lawsuit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of the couples. Last month the ACLU filed for the state to officially recognize the same sex marriages while the lawsuit continues.

New Marriage Group (aired 3/17/14 at 7pm for :30) - A former U.S district attorney asked Utah officials to reverse the state's ban on gay marriage. Brett Tolman co-chairs "Utah Unites for Marriage", a new group advocating for gay marriage in the state. They presented their case to the state. The Denver based 10th circuit court of appeals will hold a hearing on the case April 10th.

Gay Marriage Advocate (aired 3/18/2014 @ 7pm for :30) – A former U.S district attorney asked Utah officials to reverse the state's ban on gay marriage. Brett Tolman co-chairs "Utah Unites for Marriage", a new group advocating for gay marriage in the state. They presented their case to the state. in and ask. They had a group of people on phones throughout the show to take calls and answer people's questions. They also had experts available in each segment to talk about why Intermountain Healthcare was there and give a little bit of generic weight loss and nutrition advice.

Gym Intimidation (aired 01/16/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - For many people, the hardest part of working out is not the cardio or spin class; it is walking into the gym. Exercising has many benefits and it is important to exercise on a regular basis. However, fear is keeping many people from going to the gym. One reason for that fear is the atmosphere of the gym can be intimidating. Experts offer the following advice to help you overcome gym intimidation: have a plan of attack before you show up to the gym; research movements and classes ahead of time; ask the staff for help; go with a friend or a group of friends.

Pregnancy and the Flu Season (aired 01/17/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - The common cold and the flu are both making their rounds in Utah. In fact, the Utah Department of Health says more than 400 people have been hospitalized in Utah from flu related problems. Doctors warn that pregnant women may be more susceptible to getting sick this time of year. They say if you are pregnant and do get sick, the most important thing you can do is rest. If you have mild symptoms, try to avoid taking medications. However, Doctor Tanner says there are many medications that pregnant women can take to help relieve symptoms for a cold or the flu. But be sure to talk to your doctor or pharmacist.

Exercising and Inversions (aired 01/23/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute) – Doctors say exercising in inversions can be risky to your health. If you need to run or workout outdoors, they say you should head to Park City or up the mountains to get exercise. They say you can snowshoe instead of run. You can also take your workouts to the gym or a local running track.

Volunteers Needed for MS Study (aired 01/23/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - Researchers are asking for volunteers for a study that could unlock the mysteries of Multiple Sclerosis. Multiple Sclerosis is a disease that attacks the central nervous system. Doctors say it is very common in young adults in Utah. Currently, there is no cure for Multiple Sclerosis but doctors say there is hope. Researchers at the University of Utah are trying to determine if there are markers of MS that can be discovered before symptoms of the disease even surface. They currently need volunteers to participate in the study.

Twin Tested: Intermountain Healthcare Visit (aired 1/23/14 at 7pm for 2:30 minutes) - Brooke and Brittany Graham are twins who work at 2News and one of them fainted on air during a skiing segment in December. They both went to the medical center and got tested for what makes them faint on the ski slopes. This was for people who may have the same problem and were wondering what is happening to them. One of the twins got an MRI and discussed it with a specialist.

Importance of Folic Acid (aired 01/31/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - A lot of recent studies are questioning the effectiveness of multivitamins. Some experts claim they are a waste of money. However, there is one vitamin that should not be overlooked if you are pregnant or are planning to become pregnant. Studies looking into the effectiveness of folic acid have been proven time and time again. Experts say folic acid can help prevent birth defects such as spinal bifida. If you are thinking about becoming pregnant, you should take at least 400 micrograms of folic acid every day. A great source of folic acid is prenatal vitamins. Prenatal vitamins also have other nutrients that are proven to be both safe and effective.

Sleep Problems May Stem from Structure of the Face (aired 02/06/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute :30) - Millions of people suffer from sleep problems. In fact, experts say there is evidence to suggest that the large percentage of the population is not even getting 6 hours of sleep. We know that factors such as weight and caffeine can cause sleep problems. Sleep problems can cause health problems as well. One doctor told us that one factor of sleep problems may be the shape of your face. For example, if you have a long, skinny nose, you may have trouble breathing air while you sleep and that can cause sleep apnea. Treatment for sleep problems can vary depending on the person. In most cases, doctors will have you use a CPAP machine. The machine will help keep the airway open while you are asleep. If you are having trouble sleeping, the best advice is to see your doctor.

Harp Music Can Help Patients Heal (aired 02/13/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - Medicine and harp music have a history together that dates back to the ancient Greeks. According to Greek mythology, the Greek God Hermes played an instrument similar to a harp to sooth anger and stress. Modern day studies show that harp music can very therapeutic and even promote healing. At Utah Valley Regional Medical Center in Provo, guests are welcomed with the sounds of the harp as soon as the walk through the doors. Volunteers play the harp for patients and visitors in the lobby of the hospital. The harp was donated to the hospital through the Utah Valley Healthcare Foundation. Volunteers are on hand to play the harp 4 days a week. The hospital hopes more volunteers will play music throughout the week. The music not only helps patients, but it also helps the staff at the hospital.

Eye Infections (aired 02/20/14 at 7pm runs 1 minute 15 seconds) - Conjunctivitis is one of the most common infections among children and adults. Conjunctivitis, or pink eye, can be caused by either bacteria or viruses. Pink eye was trending online last week, after television host Bob Costas contracted the infection apparently while in Russia covering the Winter Games. We spoke to Doctor Randy Carter with the Eye Institute of Utah. He says like a common cold or flu bug, eye infections are very contagious. Doctor Carter says you should also treat the infection no differently than if you have a cold. You should stay home and rest. You also wash your hands regularly. If your kids have conjunctivitis, they should also remain at home until the infection is gone.
