American Foundation For Suicide Prevention

We spoke with AFSP (American Foundation for Suicide Prevention) to hear facts on and prevention of suicide and mental health issues. There is such a stigma surrounding suicide and mental health problems, that people think negatively of those people. In today's time, mental health is more important than ever. With everything we see on social media and watch on television, a person may see their life as "lacking." We spoke with AFSP to show that it is ok to struggle with mental health. It isn't something of which you should be ashamed. We wanted people to know it's ok to ask for help and not feel bad for doing so. During COVID, the spotlight on these issues is more important than ever. People have been stuck in their homes and continue to see people posting on social media with their so-called "perfect" lives. AFSP is doing amazing work to get rid of the stigma of suicide and mental health issues. This benefits the community of Atlanta because it gives a much-needed resource to anyone dealing with mental health issues and thoughts of suicide and those that know someone dealing with these issues.

Each day, thousands of people – people just like you – provide compassionate care to those in need. Our network of generous donors, volunteers and employees share the mission of preventing and relieving suffering, here at home and around the world. They roll up their sleeves and donate time, money, and blood. We learn or teach life-saving skills so our communities can be better prepared when the need arises. We do this every day because the Red Cross is needed - every day. The American Red Cross prevents and alleviates human suffering in the face of emergencies by mobilizing the power of volunteers and the generosity of donors. The American Red Cross, through its strong network of volunteers, donors, and partners, is always there in times of need. We aspire to turn compassion into action so that all people affected by disaster across the country and around the world receive care, shelter, and hope; our communities are ready and prepared for disasters; everyone in our country has access to safe, lifesaving blood and blood products; all members of our armed services and their families find support and comfort whenever needed; and in an emergency, there are always trained individuals nearby, ready to use their Red Cross skills to save lives.

We spoke with Kristen Stancil, the American Red Cross communication manager here in Atlanta about the importance of giving blood and the impact it makes on the lives of people. One fact she really hit on was that one donation can save up to three lives.

Atlanta Community Food Bank

Every year, they work with more than 600 nonprofit partners—including food pantries, community kitchens, childcare centers, night shelters and senior centers—to distribute over 60 million meals to more than 755,000 people in 29 counties across metro Atlanta and north Georgia. They are a member of Feeding America, the nation’s leading domestic hunger-relief charity. Food pantries, community kitchens, childcare centers, night shelters, and senior centers are among the agencies that receive products from the Food Bank. In turn, these partner agencies provide food and other critical resources for low-income Georgians who suffer from hunger and food insecurity.

The Food Bank utilizes more than 1,700 volunteers a month, over 150 staff members, a large fleet of trucks and a 129,000 square-foot facility to procure and distribute food and grocery items received from hundreds of donors.

Their donors include manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, brokers, restaurants, food drives, gardens and individuals. The product is easily accessed by their partner agencies. They place their orders online and arrange for pick up or delivery. Once the food arrives at the agency, it is provided to families and individuals in need.

We spoke with Kyle Wade, CEO of the Atlanta Community Food Bank. Hunger is not an issue we should have to deal with in 2019. As advanced of a society and as wealthy of a nation we are, nobody should wonder where their next meal is coming from. Kyle helped shed light on the benefits they offer to the community.

Back On My Feet

Back on My Feet, a national organization operating in 12 major cities across the US, combats homelessness through the power of running, community support and essential employment and housing resources. Back on My Feet seeks to revolutionize the way society approaches homelessness. Their unique model demonstrates that if you first restore confidence, strength and self-esteem, individuals are better equipped to tackle the road ahead. For all in need, they aim to provide practical training and employment resources for achieving independence; an environment that promotes accountability; and a community that offers compassion and hope.

For all with the capacity to serve – volunteers, donors, community, and corporate partners – they seek to engage you in the profound experience of empowering individuals to achieve what once seemed impossible through the simple act of putting one foot in front of the other. Operating in 12 major cities coast-to-coast, Back on My Feet uses running and community to motivate and support individuals every step of the way from homelessness to independence.

Our success is measured not only by the health impact of miles run, but also by how many individuals obtain education, employment, and housing.

We had Nicole Myers in the studio to talk about the amazing ways Back On My Feet benefits our community. I was absolutely stunned that the power of running has such an effect on moving out of homelessness.

Be Someone

In 2008, Orrin C. Hudson, whose methods were inspired by the game of chess, founded Be Someone, which is a 501 (c) (3) nonprofit organization that uses numerous tools, including the game of chess, to promote self-esteem, responsibility, and analytical thinking among children in underserved communities. The mission of Be Someone is to build character, hope, and inspiration so that kids can set and achieve lifetime goals, realize their full potential, and Be Someone. “Making Every Move Count” refers to the belief that success in chess and success in life require the same fundamentals, including concentration, self-esteem, problem solving skills, and discipline. Be Someone teaches kids the practical skills and techniques to overcome obstacles in life, illustrated through the best and most intellectual visual aid: the chessboard.

We had Orrin Hudson in the studio to talk about Be Someone and how the organization is making a difference in the Atlanta community. Through our conversation, we found that he was contributing to a growing problem in such a unique way. In school, kids are hammered with books, and they learn in such a predetermined way. Through chess, Be Someone is truly engaging with the kids and changing lives. This is a great benefit for the community in and around Atlanta.

Chris 180

CHRIS 180 has been at the forefront of behavioral health and child welfare service delivery since 1981 when the organization was first established as Georgia CHARLEE (Children Have All Rights-Legal, Educational, and Emotional) to fill a gap in services for children and youth with behavioral and emotional challenges who were not thriving in foster homes and needed small, specialized group homes. In 1986, the organization recognized another gap in services and created Georgia’s first independent living program to help youth aging out of foster care. Then in 1992, Georgia CHARLEE became CHRIS Homes representing the core values of Creativity, Honor, Respect, Integrity, and Safety. CHRIS 180 helps children, young adults, and families through mental health counseling at the CHRIS Counseling Center; group homes for abused and neglected children in foster care; adoption services; a Drop-In Center for homeless young adults; permanent supportive housing program for single and parenting youth, ages 17-24, who are homeless or have aged out of the foster care system; in-home programs; and re-entry programs that work to strengthen families. CHRIS 180’s holistic approach enables children, youth, and families to change the direction of their lives and become self-sufficient, contributing adults despite challenging circumstances.

Friends to the Forlorn Pitbull Rescue

Friends to the Forlorn Pitbull Rescue, Inc. is a volunteer-based 501 (c)3 rescue and community outreach organization. Their mission is to promote responsible Pitbull ownership, provide breed education, combat pet overpopulation, fight unfair legislation, find qualified homes for sound Pitbull-type dogs and other dogs in need in Georgia, and help people and animals within the community. Jason Flatt, owner, and founder of FTTFPR has appeared on this show several times. Pitbull's have a stigma attached to them that Mr. Flatt has dedicated his life to changing. His passion has had many bumps in the road by certain legislation. He keeps his rescue dogs in his personal home and takes care of all their needs. He explains his entire process in the interview and benefits our community through education potential dog owners.

GOHS – Child Passenger Safety

Their number one goal is to reduce the number of fatalities and injuries and to provide highway safety data and fact-based analyses that will assist communities and safety advocates in implementing effective programs that will change high-risk driving behavior and increase safety on our streets and highways.

The history of GOHS follows that of highway safety in the USA. In 1966, 50,894 people were killed in motor vehicle crashes in the U.S. and the rate of fatalities per 100 million miles of travel was 5.5. It was projected that, over a 9-year period, the number of fatalities would increase to 100,000 a year if Congress did not do anything to address the problem. Taking heed of these dire predictions, Congress enacted the Highway Safety Act of 1966. This legislation created a unique partnership among federal, state, and local governments to improve and expand the nation's highway safety activities. The Highway Safety Act of 1968 required governors to be responsible for the administration of the federal highway safety program in each state. The governor, through delegation of powers, had the authority to designate a Governor's Highway Safety Representative to administer the federally funded highway program.

We spoke with Robert Hydrick from GOHS about summertime in Atlanta and the precautions that need to be taken to have a safe summer for all. This includes initiatives from GOHS and police that keep people safe that may be driving on busy highways with possible drunk drivers on the road. Mr. Hydrick emphasized the importance of designating a sober driver or using ride-share when planning on consuming alcohol. The Governor's Office of Highway Safety and the Georgia Department of Public Health remind all parents and caregivers that Child Passenger Safety (CPS) Week is the perfect time to make sure their child is riding in a professionally installed car seat or booster seat.

Live Healthy and Thrive Youth Foundation

Live Healthy & Thrive Youth Foundation, Inc. (LHTYF) is a charitable, tax exempt, 501c3 non-profit organization. Their work serves as the conduit to develop a closer affiliation between children of today and the community-at-large through outreach and educational programs. Live Healthy & Thrive Youth Foundation is committed to providing youth with the educational tools they need to live healthier, more balanced lifestyles. What an amazing organization. They are doing so much to help the children in our community.

According to the Centers for Disease Control, obese youth are more likely to have risk factors for cardiovascular disease, such as high cholesterol or high blood pressure. In a population-based sample of 5- to 17-year-olds, 70% of obese youth had at least one risk factor for cardiovascular disease. Obese adolescents are more likely to have pre-diabetes, a condition in which blood glucose levels indicate an elevated risk for development of diabetes. Disease researchers at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC (Centers for Disease Control)) made the prediction that one in three children born in the United States in 2000 will develop type 2 diabetes sometime in their lifetime unless they get more exercise and improve their diets. Approximately 1 in 3 children in the US may have borderline or high cholesterol, according to a new study recently presented at the American College of Cardiology's 63rd Annual Scientific Session. Of these children, 30% (4,709) were found to have high cholesterol (200 mg/dL or more) in line with definitions from the National Cholesterol Education Program.

Teaching kids and their parents about proper nutrition and living healthy lives is so important. For more information about this organization, visit livehealthyandthriveyouth.org

LIVING TREE CHARITIES

Living Tree Charities, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) Nonprofit Organization founded to cultivate & connect community organizations and service minded people. They use their hands, minds, and creativity to cultivate the heart of the volunteer to better impact community organizations. Their passion is for people to know more about themselves individually and to use whatever unique gifts they must impact community organizations and the world around them. They embrace the three C's to better serve the community. Create means working with organizations to create service-related opportunities for volunteers.

Cultivate means to partner with dynamic organizations to cultivate a more meaningful experience. Connect is to connect individuals and groups with local service opportunities that merge their talents with their passions to serve. They envision a world where every organization and individual will discover their ability to make a difference by serving and utilizing their talents to strengthen communities across the globe. Chris Gamble, Development Director for Living Tree Charities, spoke with us about his passion for this type of service. He wanted to create an organization that helps place individuals in charities according to their interests.

Meals on Wheels

Meals On Wheels Atlanta (MOWA) was founded in 1965 to support seniors struggling with poverty, food insecurity, and social isolation. Over more than 50 years, they have grown from a small soup kitchen to an organization serving 347,000 meals each year throughout the Atlanta area. They have also expanded their program offerings to respond to other critical needs in our community. They now offer multiple services to support both older adults and veterans, including home-delivered and congregate meals, home repair services, and an emergency food pantry. We spoke with the CEO and Hillary Baker about the benefits of meals on wheels and how they benefit our community. They do amazing things for senior citizens; they repair homes and make some delicious pecans. Those proceeds go right back to helping feed the community.

SafeRide America

Their mission is to pro-actively prevent all types of impaired driving and to assist children that have been orphaned or injured by impaired driving crashes. By offering to drive people AND their cars for them for about the same price as a taxi addresses goal #1 and their “pay us later” policy for SafeRide Service addresses goal #2.

Yes, they do charge a fee for their designated driver services, but will provide a service, no questions asked, if someone does not have the money to pay for our designated driver services. All they ask anyone to do if they do not have money for the fee is to simply “pay us later”.

You can repay them with your time as a volunteer, paying for your fare later, and/or tell others about their services.

We had Michael Ryne in the studio to discuss this safe alternative to get you home. Even with the rise of ride-share services like Uber and Lyft, some people want the convenience of having their vehicle with them during a night out. The mission of SafeRide is for people to have that convenience with an option to them home safely.

Sandy Springs Fire Department

Sandy Springs Fire Department has a state-of-the-art first response system for medical emergencies. Below are links to learn more about the services provided to the community. The Sandy Springs Fire Department offers several programs to share fire prevention strategies and provide safety education through enjoyable interactive activities. They love to celebrate children’s birthdays, too!

We spoke with Chris Campbell, Community Affairs office for the Sandy Springs Fire Department about safety tips for preventing fire and staying safe. Most people think they will not be a victim of a fire. We use so many products, especially around the holiday time, that make us more susceptible to this danger. Whether it be trees with numerous lights, fireplaces, wood-burning stoves, heaters, etc., we must take the necessary precautions of having all these inspected before use. We thank the fire department for their willingness to come in-studio and share this safety tips with the community.

Suicide Prevention

GCAL is the 24/7 hotline for accessing mental health services in Georgia. The Georgia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities (DBHDD) provides treatment and support services to people with mental illnesses and addictive diseases, and support to people with mental retardation and related developmental disabilities. For more information, go to the Georgia DBHDD website.

The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline is a national network of local crisis centers that provides free and confidential emotional support to people in suicidal crisis or emotional distress 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. They are committed to improving crisis services and advancing suicide prevention by empowering individuals, advancing professional best practices, and building awareness.

Toys For Tots

Local Toys for Tots Campaigns are the heart and soul of the Marine Toys for Tots Program managed by dedicated United States Marines and local volunteers. Your Local Campaign is the best source of Toys for Tots information on how to give and receive support in your community. The Marine Toys for Tots Program has been delivering a message of hope to less fortunate youngsters since 1947. We spoke with Cherrie Carney about the specific problem T4T is having this year. Besides the regular struggles of 2020 that so many are facing, the lack of toy donations is putting a real hurt of this year's T4T campaign. Cherrie also mentioned that they lack storage space for the toys that have been donated. They need a corporation willing to donate a space for T4T to store their toys. This is important for the community of Atlanta because there are so many children in this city that would not have had a Christmas if it were not for T4T.
