1. SEXUAL ABUSE – CATHOLIC DIOCESE OF PITTSBURGH

Topics discussed in this category included discussions on results of a Pennsylvania Grand Jury investigation into alleged sexual abuse by some priests in the Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh over a period of decades

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, August 12, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guest: Bishop David A. Zubik, DD, M.S.Ed. - Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh

Topic: This was the first in a series of significant, but often painful interviews, about the pending, and later released results of a Pennsylvania Grand Jury investigation into alleged sexual abuse by some priests in the Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh over a period of decades. Bishop David A. Zubik, DD, M.S.Ed., initially appeared on the 8/12/2018 program, reacting to an interview that KDKA-TV Investigative Reporter Andy Sheehan conducted with one of the alleged victims of this abuse who was molested twenty years ago by a former wrestling coach and headmaster of a parochial school in Southwestern Pennsylvania. When the program aired, the Grand Jury's findings had not yet been released, but the Catholic Diocese and Bishop Zubik had been made aware of interim findings of the Grand Jury.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, August 19, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Timothy Hale, J.D. - Partner, Nye, Peabody, Stirling, Hale & Miller LLP

Benjamin J. Sweet, J.D. - Founding Partner, Pittsburgh Office, Carlson, Lynch, Kilpela & Carpenter LLP

Bishop David A. Zubik, DD, M.S.Ed. - Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh

Rita Joyce, J.D., JCL - Chancellor, Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh

Topic: For the first time, in the history of this program, a guest appeared in consecutive episodes of the broadcast, Bishop David A. Zubik, DD, M.S.Ed., who requested to be allowed to return to the program, after the long-awaited release of the Pennsylvania Grand Jury report on alleged sexual abuse by certain priests in Catholic Dioceses in Pennsylvania. In our first segment we heard from two attorneys, Timothy Hale, J.D., Partner, with Nye, Peabody, Stirling, Hale & Miller LLP, from Santa Barbara, California, who won large judgements from California courts several years ago in a similar case involving abuse by priests in that state, and Benjamin J. Sweet, J.D., Founding Partner in the Pittsburgh Office of Carlson Lynch, Kilpela & Carpenter LLP, who is representing Pennsylvania clients that are alleged victims of sexual abuse by members of the Roman Catholic clergy in Pennsylvania. In the second segment, Bishop David A. Zubik was accompanied by attorney Rita Joyce, Chancellor of the Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh, to discuss the legal ramifications of the grand jury report, and the role of canon law in the Roman Catholic Church.

2. SUPREME COURT

Topics discussed in this category included a discussion on the retirement of Associate Justice Anthony Kennedy, discussions on a Supreme Court decision regarding government workers who are represented by a union but who decide not to join that union, and a discussion on the Confirmation hearings for United States Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, July 1, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: David J. Hickok, JD - University of Pittsburgh Institute for Cyber Law, Policy, and Security

Bruce Ledewitz, J.D. - Professor of Law, Duquesne University School of Law

Anne Marie Lofaso, J.D. - Arthur B. Hodges Professor of Law, College of Law West Virginia University

Topic: The United States Supreme Court could see major philosophical changes in October 2018, because of the retirement of Associate Justice Anthony Kennedy, a President Ronald Reagan Court appointee, who announced his retirement in July 2018. Former United States Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, David J. Hickton, JD, appointed to his position by President Barack Obama in 2010, and now Founding Director of the University of Pittsburgh's Institute for Cyber Law, Policy, and Security, talked about the legacy of Justice Kennedy and his impact on the Court. In the second segment, Bruce Ledewitz, J.D., Professor of Law at Duquesne University's School of Law, and Anne Marie Lofaso, J.D., the Arthur B. Hodges Professor of Law at West Virginia University's College of Law, discussed the judicial philosophical composition of the United States Supreme Court, and how that could be affected by the appointment of an additional strict constructionist conservative justice by President Donald J. Trump.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, July 15, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guest: Rick Bloomingdale - President, Pennsylvania AFL-CIO

Topic: The United States Supreme Court dealt a setback to organized labor when it ruled – 5-4 – that government workers (such as Mark Janus, a government employee, in the state of Illinois), who are represented by a union, but who decide NOT to join that union, do NOT have to pay to cover the costs of collective bargaining. In the first, of a two-part series of interviews, Rick Dayton talked with Rick Bloomingdale, President of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO, about the Janus Supreme Court ruling, and its impact on organized labor. In a future interview, which will be noted, we talked with a representative of the Commonwealth Foundation, a conservative “think tank” who had a different view on the Janus ruling.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, July 29, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guest: Elizabeth Steele - Director of Policy Analysis, Commonwealth Foundation

Topic: In the second, of a two-part interview series, Elizabeth Steele, Director of Policy Analysis, for the Commonwealth Foundation (a conservative “think tank”), discussed the recent United States Supreme Court's 5-4 Ruling, in Janus vs. AFSCME, in which the Court sided with a government employee, Mark Janus, who opposed paying dues to the public employee union AFSCME (American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees), in the state of Illinois, where he works. The Commonwealth Foundation believes that forced union representation and payment of union dues, is a violation of worker rights. In a previous segment, KDKA-TV Morning News Co-Ancor Rick Dayton talked with Rick Bloomingdale, President of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO, who deplored the Supreme Court Janus ruling. AFSCME represents millions of state, county, and municipal employees, across the country.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, September 30, 2018, 8:30AM – 9:00AM, 30 minutes

Guests: Sara Goodkind, Ph.D. - Associate Professor, School of Social Work, Department of Sociology, and Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies Program, University of Pittsburgh

Rona Kaufman, J.D., L.L.M. - Associate Professor of Law, Duquesne University School of Law

Heather S.Heidelbaugh, Esq. - Partner, Leech Tishman Fuscaldo & Lampl, LLC

Topic: This program discussed the controversial, contentious, United States Senate confirmation hearings for United States Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh, and allegations of sexual assault against him by Christine Blasey Ford, PhD, stemming from a party that both attended while in private undergraduate schools in 1982. In the first portion of the broadcast, we heard the views of Sara Goodkind, Ph.D., Associate Professor, School of Social Work, Department of Sociology, and Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies Program, at the University of Pittsburgh, and Rona Kaufman, J.D., L.L.M., Associate Professor of Law, at Duquesne University School of Law, who both found Ford's testimony believable. In the second half, we heard from Heather S.Heidelbaugh, Esq., Partner, Leech Tishman Fuscaldo & Lampl, LLC, former member-at-large, of Allegheny County Council, and the past, co-chair of the Republican National Lawyers Association, who said that she believed that the testimony of both Goodkind and Kavanaugh was credible.

3. HURRICANES

Topics discussed in this category included discussions on the one-year anniversary of Hurricane Maria that hit Puerto Rico, and a discussion on relief efforts for Hurricane Florence that struck North and South Carolina.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, July 8, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Luke Hingson - President, Brother's Brother Foundation

Ron Alvarado - Chairman, Board of Directors, Pittsburgh Metropolitan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce

Raul Rodriguez-Font, CPA - President, Luis Garraton, LLCF

Fred Ramos - Senior Vice-President, Corporate Communications, Highmark Health

Topic: The devastation from Hurricane Maria in September 2017 continues to plague the American Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and its citizens. In this program, we talked with people who live in Pittsburgh with Puerto Rican roots, and Luke Hingson, President of the Brother's Brother Foundation, about Pittsburgh's deep ties to Puerto Rico (through the late Pittsburgh Pirates Hall of Fame outfielder Roberto Clemente, who lost his life, in a plane crash, in 1972, while attempting to provide humanitarian supplies to people in Nicaragua, who had suffered an earthquake), and efforts by charities and businesses to continue relief to Puerto Rico, almost a year after Hurricane Maria's destruction. Our guests included Brother's Brother Foundation President Luke Hingson, Ron Alvarado, Puerto Rican-born Pittsburgh businessman, and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Area Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Raul Rodriguez-Font, a Puerto Rican native, who is President of Luis Garraton, LLC, a distributor of healthcare products, and Fred Ramos, Puerto Rican native, who is Senior Vice-President of Corporate Communications at Highmark Health, all, of whom were directly involved in the hurricane relief effort from Pittsburgh, including the delivery of humanitarian medical supplies and water to hurricane victims.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, September 2, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guests: Luke Hingson - President, Brother's Brother Foundation

Ron Alvarado - President, Novus Group LLC, Former Chairman, Pittsburgh Metropolitan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce

Topic: The one-year anniversary of Hurricane Maria still leaves many Puerto Ricans without electrical power and necessities: including medical supplies and bottled water. Brother's Brother Foundation continues to play a major role in providing these vital materials to Puerto Rico citizens, who are part of an American Commonwealth, and are technically, Americans. Our guests, Brother's Brother President, Luke Hingson, and Ron Alvarado, President of Novus Group LLC and former Chairman, of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, spoke with Jon Delano about the important work that remains to be done to make Puerto Rico and its people "whole" again.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, September 16, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guest: Col. Andrew "Cody" Short - Commander, Pittsburgh District, United States Army Corps of Engineers

Topic: As Hurricane Florence struck North and South Carolina with vengeance, the United States Army Corps of Engineers' Pittsburgh District, and Its Power Restoration team were mobilized, to go to the affected areas. Colonel Andrew "Cody" Short, talked with Rick Dayton, about their duties, and discussed the vital work of the Army Corps, along the areas locks and dams, to limit the flow of water, and prevent flooding, when the remnants of the hurricane struck Pennsylvania. He also emphasized the critical need for federal funding to continue these vital services.

4. OPIOD CRISIS

Topics discussed in this category included a discussion on programs in Western Pennsylvania counties to help save those who are overdosing on opioids and to assist people in need of recovery, and a discussion to fight opioid abuse and drug trafficking.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, July 8, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guests: Erick Lauper, Ph.D. - Director, Community Health and Leadership, Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP)

Kami Anderson -Executive Director, Armstrong-Indiana-Clarion Drug & Alcohol Commission

Topic: In the growing national crisis of opioid abuse and resulting deaths, Indiana County, Pennsylvania has not escaped its devastating impact. Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP), in June 2018, received a grant from the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency, to help save those who are overdosing on opioids and to assist their programs for recovery. IUP held its Marti Institute, to encourage local people to speak out about their addiction problems, and guests Erick Lauber, Director of the IUP Community Health and Leadership program, and Kami Anderson, Executive Director of the Armstrong-Indiana-

Clarion Drug & Alcohol Commission, told Rick Dayton, how they are making a difference in the fight against opioid abuse.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, September 30, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guest: David J. Lozier, JD - (R) District Attorney, Beaver County, Pennsylvania

Topic: This past week, the U.S. Justice Department announced the awarding of $1,000,000 a year to Allegheny, Beaver, and Washington Counties, to fight opioid abuse and drug trafficking. This comes, as Pittsburgh was designated as a “High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area” or, HIDTA. David J. Lozier, JD – (R) District Attorney in Beaver County, spoke with Jon Delano about how these funds will benefit these communities, and about the extent of the drug problem in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

5. TRUMP ADMINISTRATION POLICY

Topics discussed in this category included discussions on President Trump’s policies regarding diplomacy, foreign and domestic policy, and policy regarding tariffs.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, July 15, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Andrew J. Simpson, Ph.D. - Assistant Professor of History, McAnulty College and Graduate School of Liberal Arts, Duquesne University

Philip J. Harold, Ph.D. - Professor of Political Science, Robert Morris University

Topic: President Donald J. Trump continued to dominate the news on a number of fronts, which this program addressed. The President’s style of diplomacy is far different than anything that the United States has ever seen. It reflects his negotiating skill and style detailed in his own book, “The Art of the Deal”, but leaves allies, and what he perceives to be “competitors”, as opposed to “enemies”, with uncertainty as to how to respond to negotiations. Our guests, Andrew J. Simpson, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of History at Duquesne University’s McAnulty College and Graduate School of Liberal Arts, and Robert Morris University’s Political Science Professor, Philip J. Harold, Ph.D., talked about the pluses and minuses of this kind of diplomatic negotiating.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, July 29, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Michael Poznansky, Ph.D. - Assistant Professor of International Affairs & Intelligence Studies, Graduate School of Public & International Affairs, University of Pittsburgh

Robert Fragasso, CFP, AIF - Chairman, and CEO, Fragasso Financial Advisors, Inc.

Topic: Once again, President Donald J. Trump rewrote the book on both foreign policy and diplomatic relations with his personal diplomacy, often taking the lead in this exercise, rather than relying on a Secretary of State, or other diplomats. In the 21st Century, it is often difficult to determine who are allies, or enemies, or, in the case of the Trump Administration, “frenemies”, when it comes to astute negotiations over trade and nuclear weapons. Michael Poznansky, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of International Affairs & Intelligence Studies, at the University of Pittsburgh’s Graduate School of Public & International Affairs, and Robert Fragasso, CFP, AIF – Chairman and CEO of the Pittsburgh-based Fragasso Financial Advisors, Inc., discussed the political and economic implications of tariffs, negotiations with leaders in North Korea and Russia, and arguments with countries that are considered American allies, such as Germany and Great Britain.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, September 2, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guest: Risa Kumazawa, Ph.D. - Chair, Economics & Finance Associate Professor
Of Economics, Palumbo Donahue School of Business, Duquesne University

Topic: Much of the news has been centered on the current and future impact of tariffs, on foreign goods being exported to the United States, and President Donald Trump's determination to place tariffs on those goods coming into this country to protect American jobs. However, those countries have vowed to retaliate by placing tariffs on goods being exported by American companies to other nations. Dr. Rosa Kumazawa, Chair of Economics & Finance, at Duquesne University's Palumbo Donahue School of Business, shared her thoughts about this issue with Jon Delano.

6. ECONOMY

Topics discussed in this category included a discussion on the low unemployment rate, and a discussion on the strong stock market.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, August 5, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Ethan Lott - Research Director, Pittsburgh Business Times

Christopher Briem - Regional Economist, University of Pittsburgh Center for Social And Urban Research

Topic: With the national and local economy on the upswing, and national and local unemployment at multi-decade lows, why are we experiencing, as novelist Charles Dickens described, in his famous "A Tale of Two Cities", "the best of times, and the worst of times"? Our guests talked about the challenges faced with the impact of technology, shifts in the needs of employers, who is benefiting, and who is being left, behind. Ethan Lott, Research Director for the Pittsburgh Business Times, discussed the findings from a detailed study by the PBT, on the Pittsburgh area's largest employers and thousands of jobs that remain, unfilled, while the University of Pittsburgh's Christopher Briem brought perspective about the local jobs and employment picture.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, August 26, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guest: Jason Laux - Vice-President and Owner, Synergy Group

Topic: In August 2018, Wall Street made history as stocks passed the previous record of the longest "bull market" ever recorded. How will this affect investors, and what does the future hold, including a possible "correction"? Jason Laux, owner, of the Synergy Group, in White Oak, talked with Jon Delano about how the fortunes of Wall Street affect our own portfolio. Laux also discussed what might be necessary to take full advantage of good economic times to prepare us for those that may not be as promising.

7. AMAZON HQ2

The topic of this category was a discussion regarding Amazon's selection of their HQ2 location.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, September 23, 2018, 8:30AM – 9:00AM, 30 minutes

Guests: Augustine “Gus” Faucher, Ph.D. - Senior Vice-President & Chief Economist, PNC Financial Services Group

Doug Heuck - Editor, Pittsburgh Quarterly

Topic: Money Magazine’s Bert Sperling hinted that Pittsburgh would soon be out of the running to become the site of Amazon’s HQ2 Headquarters, with Amazon choosing instead, Northern Virginia’s Oatlands, in Loudoun County, which boasts large amounts of undeveloped area, and proximity to Washington, D.C.’s Dulles International Airport. Our guests talked about the determined effort by leaders in Allegheny County and Pittsburgh to lure Amazon to our area, and what the ramifications would be if Amazon came here, or decided to go to Virginia. Our guests also discussed the state of the local economy, what might be done, to attract other companies to our area, and the general employment picture in our region.

8. MASS VIOLENCE IN SCHOOLS

The topic of this category was a discussion regarding a report from Pennsylvania Governor Tom Wolf’s School Safety Task Force that dealt with the subject of mass violence in schools.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, September 2, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Sarah E. Daly, Ph.D. - Assistant Professor of Criminology, Law, and Society St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pennsylvania

Edward Mulvey, Ph.D. - Professor of Psychiatry, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine

Anthony P. Mannarino, PhD - Director, Center for Traumatic Stress in Children and Adolescents, Allegheny General Hospital, Vice-Chair, Department of Psychiatry, Allegheny General Hospital and the Allegheny Health Network

Topic: As students, teachers, and parents prepared for another school year, there are continuing concerns about the potential for mass violence in schools, especially after last year’s tragic, mass shooting at the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida. Our guests talked about the results of a report from Pennsylvania Governor Tom Wolf’s School Safety Task Force, led, by Pennsylvania Auditor General Eugene DePasquale and education, law enforcement, and political representatives. Our panelists included Sarah E. Daly, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Criminology, Law, and Society, at St. Vincent College, in Latrobe, Pennsylvania, a former teacher herself, and author of “Everyday School Violence: An Educator’s Guide to Safer Schools”, Edward Mulvey, Ph.D., Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh’s School of Medicine, and Anthony P. Mannarino, PhD, Director of the Center for Traumatic Stress in Children and Adolescents at Allegheny General Hospital, as well as the Vice-Chair of the Department of Psychiatry at Allegheny General Hospital and the Allegheny Health Network.

9. GLOBAL WARMING

The topic of this category was a discussion regarding Global Warming.

KD/PG SUNDAY EDITION

Sunday, August 26, 2018, 11:30AM – 12:00PM, 30 minutes

Guests: Paul S. Fischbeck, Ph.D. - Professor, Social and Decision Sciences, Engineering, and Public Policy, Carnegie Mellon University

James Van Nostrand, J.D. - Director, Center for Energy and Sustainable Development, Professor of Law, College of Law, West Virginia University

Topic: Global warming has been called everything from “the gravest threat that Planet Earth faces” to “the greatest scam in history”. Is the truth somewhere in-between? As the battle, as well as the planet’s temperature, heats up on the subject of global warming, our guests, Paul S. Fischbeck, Ph.D., Professor, Social and Decision Sciences, Engineering, and Public Policy, at Carnegie Mellon University, and James Van Nostrand, J.D., Director of West Virginia University’s Center for Energy and Sustainable Development, as well as a Professor of Law, in WVU’s College of Law, discussed the impact of an announcement by the Trump Administration of a major rollback in Environmental Protection Agency restrictions on emissions from coal-fired power plants implemented during the Obama Administration. The political choices that may have to be made will have an economic impact on the economy of states that is fueled by coal production, such as West Virginia.

10. TECHNOLOGY

The topic of this category was a discussion regarding Carnegie Mellon University’s world-class reputation as a major player in technology, including Artificial Intelligence.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, July 1, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guests: Zico Kolter, Ph.D. - Chief Scientist of Artificial Intelligence, BCAI Research Lab, Pittsburgh

Yasser Jadidi, Ph.D. - Global Head of Artificial Intelligence Research, BCAI Reningen, Germany

Topic: Artificial Intelligence is no longer just a subject for a Steven Spielberg science fiction motion picture. It is a reality at Carnegie Mellon University, where Bosch in North America has invested $8,000,000 in partnership with CMU to accelerate artificial intelligence research. Our guests, Dr. Zico Kolter, Chief Scientist of Artificial Intelligence, at the Bosch Center for Artificial Intelligence (BCAI) Research Laboratory in Pittsburgh, and Dr. Yasser Jadidi, Global Head of Artificial Intelligence Research from BCAI, in Reningen, Germany, talked about how the collaboration will boost CMU’s already world-class reputation as a major player in technology.

11. HEALTH CARE

The topic of this category was a discussion regarding the shortage of qualified nurses to care for the baby boomer population.

THE SUNDAY BUSINESS PAGE

Sunday, August 12 29, 2018, 6:30AM – 7:00AM, 10 minutes

Guests: Lynn E. George, PhD, RN, CNE - Dean, College of Health and Wellness, Carlow University

Janice Nash, DNP, MSN, BSN - Program Director, Department of Nursing, Carlow University

Topic: The retirement of baby boomers from the workforce and an aging population (the same age group) that is growing have combined to form the perfect storm, a severe and growing shortage of qualified nurses to care for that population. Carlow University, with its roots as Mount Mercy College, a nursing school, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, to care for the poor, sick, and uneducated, continues to lead the area in instruction for nursing care, including the offering of a Doctorate program. Our guests, Lynn George, PhD, RN, CNE, Dean of the College of Health and Wellness, at Carlow, and Janice Nash, DNP, MSN, BSN, Program Director of the Department of Nursing at Carlow, talked with Jon Delano about the valuable programs in Nursing that are being offered at Carlow, and why Nursing has become quite a lucrative career.
