The above programs were either produced, funded or acquired and scheduled by KET. The list does not take into account the educational programs KET airs during the day and overnight. This list also does not take into account numerous programs fed from PBS, many of which cover the topics above. As noted, many of these programs air at various times throughout the week after their original broadcast on the KET network of channels: KET, KET2 and KET KY (The Kentucky Channel).

KET polled its viewers again in March 2014 to find out what issues in the State were of concern to them. The resulting priority list - with the Environment taking the top spot, followed closely by the Education, Economy and Health - was culled from the results of that poll of over 475 respondents, which took place via online voting and via mail. The priority list differs slightly from previous years in that Education takes over the #2 position from Economy, and a new category – State Government - was added. Viewers will be polled again in March and April 2015 in order to update this priority list and plan productions for future months.

KET has seen a growing interest in programs about health and thus they began a new health initiative in January of 2010. A producer was hired through some grants to tackle the most pressing health issues in the state, including premature births, brain injuries and dental health (Kentucky ranks 49th out of 50 states in terms of the worst dental health). In September of 2012, KET's health initiative morphed into a locally-produced series entitled "Health Three60," which produces three to four one-hour documentaries a year.

In January of 2010, KET launched a new education series called "Education Matters," designed to examine some of the key issues in the state's P-20 education, especially around the new Senate Bill 1 (SB1). This series takes on between six and seven issues each year.

During this last quarter, KET produced a number of programs about Kentucky's representatives in Washington, DC. Bill Goodman conducted one-on-one half-hour interviews with the following leaders:

In addition to gavel to gavel coverage of Kentucky's general Assembly In Session, KET also produced a half-hour nightly wrap-up program called "Legislative Update."

KET aired a number of specials that were provided by independent producers during this quarter. These productions included the "Alben Barkley: Kentucky's First Senate Party Leader," "Festival of Champions 2014," "KMEA Marching Band Championships 2014," "The Rivalry: Red V Blue," "2015 Martin Luther King State Celebration," "2015 Black History Month Celebration," "Thrive: The Kentucky Wine Tradition," and "kNOWMORE Nonprofits."

KET continues using its statewide digital channel, the Kentucky Channel (KET KY), to feature a diverse variety of programming by, for and about Kentuckians. From live legislative coverage in Frankfort, to Kentucky arts and music programs, documentaries about the history of the Commonwealth, and programs about the issues that affect all citizens, from health to the economy, The Kentucky Channel was designed specifically for the viewers of Kentucky. Utilizing KET's program archives and current production projects, along with productions from independent producers around the state, partnering broadcast entities, and a variety of other sources, the Kentucky Channel provides Kentucky programming 24/7.
