Monday & Tuesday: On Mondays and Tuesdays WIHS Journal, Anissa Porticelli will be talking to Gary Schneiber, the CEO of the organization called Roar. He has an extensive background as a spokesperson appearing on CBS Evening News, CNN This Morning & NPR News among dozens of others. He is also an award-winning journalist. He discusses ways to share faith but also to learn about social distancing in today's technical world. You can hear this journal at 3:15 AM, 12:13 PM and 5:49 PM right here at WIHS Live and Local!

Wednesday: On today's WIHS Journal with Paul Kretschmer, you'll hear how the less fortunate and food deprived of Connecticut receive help during the Covid-19 coronavirus emergency. Foodshare in Bloomfield is one of two organizations in the state that provide food to those who lack the means to get it for themselves, also low-income people who have a difficult time making ends meet. Jason Jakubowski is the executive director and will be heard at a news briefing. The WIHS Journal airs today at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm here on WIHS Middletown!

Thursday & Friday: On today's WIHS Journal with Paul Kretschmer, you'll hear some of the explanations that account for the reason why younger children have avoided the Covid-19 coronavirus altogether, or recovered more readily if infected. Dr. Dan O'Brien is our guest to explain that children, being sick with childhood illnesses may develop a more robust system to avoid or kill infections before they harm the child. The WIHS Journal airs today at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm here on WIHS Middletown!

Saturday: It's now the month of April, the time many people think of as the true beginning of spring. The weather turns to rain, interspersed with sunny skies and warmer temperatures. It also means seasonal allergies pestering people who have them. From the Middletown Public Health Department, community educator Lou Carta will discuss seasonal allergies with Dr. Kevin McGrath, a frequent guest from year to year. The WIHS Healthline is produced in cooperation with the Middletown Public Health Department and heard on the first Saturday of each month. Hear it today at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm here on WIHS Middletown!
