

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of January 1-3, 2015

Thursday & Friday: Governor Dannel P. Malloy gave an informal state of the state message at the end of 2014, which aired on this broadcast. It was derived from coverage by the Connecticut Network and took the form of a speech introduced by Paul Kretschmer. The broadcast aired both days at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The subject today is the Radon, an odorless tasteless gas that in high enough concentrations can cause cancer in those exposed to it in their homes. Middletown Public Health Department Community Educator Lou Carta discussed Radon Gas with state health department staffer Lynn Hudak. It airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of January 5-10, 2015

Monday & Tuesday: The subject is trafficking young people in an interview entitled CT Underground-Hope and a Future. Anissa Porticelli spoke with Annmarie Boulay about how traffickers get a hold of young people, use them for the sex trade and maintain control over them. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday & Thursday: The issue of grieving the loss of a spouse is the subject of the two-part program based on the book, "Grieving Hip Chick Wisdom. Guest Elizabeth Berrien talks about how she learned through experience how to get through the loss of a spouse and how she felt led to share her learned experience. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: The reliability of the electric utility system serving Middletown is the subject of a broadcast on C-L & P Reliability. Utility spokesman Mitch Gross spoke with Paul Kretschmer about what the company does to maintain its infrastructure even through major storms and flooding. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The Bible publishing and distribution ministry called Biblica is the subject of this broadcast. It features a conversation with Carl Moeller speaking about the origins of the ministry and the current work with partners around the world. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of January 12-17, 2015

Monday: Today's broadcast focuses on Israel, Prophecy and America. Many Bible scholars expect America to play a role in future events in the Middle East, with some predicting what that role may include. Ron Cornel from Meriden has written about this and is interviewed by Anissa Porticelli. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday & Wednesday: The issue of winter driving safety and tips to stay safe in bad weather is the subject of this interview with Mark Cox. He represents the tire makers of America who make the tires drivers travel on. Tips on buying tires and driving properly on them are covered in this broadcast. The interview airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Thursday & Friday: Governor Dannel Malloy has picked a new general counsel to provide legal advice on executive actions and how to respond to legislation from the General Assembly. Governor Malloy speaks about the duties of the general counsel and how a dependable counsel greatly aids the work of the state chief executive. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The issue of civil rights in India is examined on this broadcast, as the central government appears to favor native Hindu religion and discriminates against most other faith groups. The guest is Noel Bechitti representing Asian Access. The interview airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of January 19-24, 2015

Monday & Tuesday: The Jewish Voice publication is the topic of this broadcast with Anissa Porticelli interviewing Jack Zimmerman. The Jewish Voice maintains a website with news and commentary to the Jewish community, but also welcomes gentile interest. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday & Thursday: The Christian crisis pregnancy center known as “A Better Choice Women’s Center” is profiled. Executive Director Molly Furtado talks about the services to pregnant women, tests available and practical support to the mother and mother to be. Contact information is also provided. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: Gerry Williams conducts an interview with “the Power Team,” a team of athletes who perform physical feats of daring, using that as an introduction to share the Gospel with those who view the Team show. An appearance at Victory Church in Middlefield is coming up shortly. The interview is aired at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: Suicide among military service members is the issue on this broadcast featuring comments by Connecticut US Senator Richard Blumenthal. The senator is considering legislation that would mandate closer attention to service members by medical personnel. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of January 26-31, 2015

Monday: The focus of this conversation an event for the building up of the Christian man called, "Super Saturday." The idea is to introduce men to the concept studying what God has in mind for men, and how to develop skills so men can undertake those responsibilities. The conversation with Edwin DeJesus of Crossroads Community Cathedral of East Hartford airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday: Determining the role of religious faith in daily life is the focus of this broadcast entitled, "Winning My Race: Fulfill Your Purpose." Dr. Keith Mirante explains the spiritual side of men and why it's important to recognize and nourish your spiritual side in order to be a success in life. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm and is hosted by Anissa Porticelli.

Wednesday: The issue of building rapport and support among men by conducting a strong men's group in the local church is the focus of this broadcast featuring Keith Burton. The title is "Ezekiel 37 Men's Fellowship." Tips on building a local men's group are offered and advice on how to approach men are also offered. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Thursday & Friday: This broadcast features a conversation with the hostess of a ministry broadcast for young people called, "the Boundless show." Lisa Anderson explains the program is the outgrowth of an on-line program that now airs on radio and seeks to share the Gospel with those who may not have heard it before. This broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The topic of transportation in Connecticut is covered in a speech offered by Governor Dannel Malloy. The costs of roads, train equipment and infrastructure are all touched on the governor Malloy aired on WIHS at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of February 2-7, 2015

Monday & Tuesday: On this edition of the broadcast the topic is “The Wounded Warrior Project.” The project seeks to assist service members adjust to a new way of life with different skills and objectives after being injured while on active duty. Cindy Parsons is the Connecticut representative for the project and explains what it has to offer in this state. The airtimes are 3:15am; also 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday: Pastor T-C Brantley from Resurrection Ministries in Waterbury discusses personal faith and the significance of the Resurrection in the Christian faith. How this faith differs from others is also explained. Air times are 3:15am; also 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Thursday & Friday: Personal health and how to take care of one’s self is the focus of an interview entitled, “The Three D Life.” Kevin Reese uses common sense illustrations to explain how easy it is to take better care of yourself and minimal expense. The Air times are 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The WIHS Healthline monthly broadcast discusses the operation of Middlesex Hospital in Middletown. Middletown Public Health Department community educator Lou Carta provides a survey of the hospital as explained by James Hite. The air times are 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of February 9-14, 2015

Monday & Tuesday: An evangelical crusade in the greater New York area is the subject of this two-part WIHS Journal, featuring an interview with Luis Palau conducted by Anissa Porticelli. A discussion of what the “New York Fest” consists of, and how volunteers sign up to help out. Aired at 3:15am; also 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday & Thursday: Performing the work of apologetics is the subject of this two part series entitled, “Undefending Christianity.” Paul Kretschmer interviews Dillon Burroughs on his book of the same name. Christians often defend their faith from a defensive posture and Burroughs highlights how the positive aspects of the faith should dominate discussions with seekers. Aired at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: The subject on the broadcast today is “The Deaf Bible,” a publication for those with hearing impairments with additional helps to illustrate points that would depend on allusions to sounds, that would mystify those who are unable to hear sounds. J-R Bucklew is the guest at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm with Paul Kretschmer

Saturday: The subject of slavery in the history of the United States is the subject of new teaching materials being distributed by the US Education Department and heralded by US Connecticut 1st District Representative Joseph Courtney. Aspects of Connecticut’s vote to abolish slavery in the movie “Lincoln,” misrepresented the House vote and these materials correct that record for the public. Aired at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of February 16-21, 2015

Monday: the subject of success in marriage is the subject of this WIHS Journal interview entitled, "Ignite the Passion." Doctor Doug Weiss describes some of the things that married couples can do to sustain their relationship over the long haul with Anissa Porticelli as host. A conference by the same name will be held in the local area shortly. Aired at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday: The subject today is "Courageous Christian Grandparenting," a responsibility that comes when parents are unable to raise their own children due to their own problems, and the grandparents step forward to raise the children. Calvin Harper from the Presbyterian Church of Manchester is the guest, hosted by Anissa Porticelli.

Wednesday: The cost of a college education and what the public sector can do to make higher education affordable is the subject today, with remarks by US House Representatives John Larson from the 1st District and Joseph Courtney from the 2nd District. Legislation to help students is discussed, Paul Kretschmer hosts. Aired at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Thursday & Friday: The issue of personal identity theft is highlighted today in presentations about a recent personal information breach at Anthem Blue Cross & Blue Shield. Governor Dannel Malloy and Attorney General George Jepson describe what the insurer should have done and will do if legislation now tendered is approved. Aired at 3:15; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The work of Christian missions in Bulgaria is highlighted on this broadcast featuring Dr. Kirel Svilenov from the Haggai Institute. The challenges of working in a country often closed to outside ministries are discussed at length. Paul Kretschmer hosts. Aired at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of February 23-28, 2015

Monday: A conference to focus on creation science, as an explanation of the universe is the subject of this broadcast, hosted by Anissa Porticelli. A conversation with organizer Drew Crandall explains what creation science is, how it relates to the Biblical description of creation and why Christians should be informed of it is the content of this conversation. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday: On today's broadcast the subject is substance abuse and how to beat it. Gerry Williams conducts an interview with Dr. Noel Casiano, who will be hosting a conference to help people plagued by substance abuse, sponsored by Youth Challenge in Hartford. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday & Thursday: the subject of this two-part broadcast is the contents of a news briefing on intellectual and disabilities by state senator Beth Bye and representative Gail Lavielle. These two legislators unveiled an agenda of caucus priorities to serve the disabled they hope will be met by legislation during the current session. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: On this broadcast the subject is "Grief Share," a ministry to help those dealing with the loss of a loved one. Grief Share is a website with helps and an on-line forum that both the grieving and local group facilitators can access when recovering from a loss. Anissa Porticelli conducts the interview with Gloria Rainey. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The topic today is an organization known as "Worldwide Christian Schools," an organization that provides guidance, teaching materials and related assistance to those who wish to establish a Christian school in their local area. Dale Dielman describes how this all works to Paul Kretschmer. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of March 2-7, 2015

Monday: The subject on today's broadcast is an activity for Christian young adults called "Swing in Spring." Anissa Porticelli interviews Diane Chreveralla representing Connecticut Christian Singles Network. Faith standards play a role in noting acceptable conduct for single Christians and the Network provides activities that met those criteria. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday & Wednesday: Today's subject is about marriage, the institution of it and what God expects of those who become married. Acacia Slaton is the guest on the conversation entitled, "The Serpent Beguiled Eve." The author described the rationale and content for her book of the same name with Paul Kretschmer, airing at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Thursday: Today's subject is the Shoreline East commuter rail service in southeastern Connecticut and projected improvements. Lieutenant Governor Nancy Wyman and Transportation Commissioner James Redeker describe the current level of service and improvements including more frequent service and additional passenger stations. It airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: The subject to day is, "Every Child Ministries," a Christian missions outreach to the children of Africa. Mark Luckey talks about the work up till now, and project future additions to the outreach in areas waiting for focused attention to the children of the continent. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: On the month WIHS Healthline broadcast, the issue is Leukemia, a disease of the blood and lymphoma, where disease spreads through the body through the drainage system in the body. Middletown Public Health Department community educator Lou Carta discusses this issue with Jennifer McGarry from the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society of Connecticut. Airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of March 9-14, 2015

Monday & Tuesday: The subject of today's WIHS Journal is a women's retreat where Christian writer and speaker Mary Welchel will speak. Welchel is on the ministry staff at Moody Church in Chicago and deals with Christian women's concerns. She also is heard on a short radio feature heard daily and weekly on WIHS. The interview airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday & Thursday: Today's broadcast is a repeat airing of the show highlighting the Role Model of the Year at the Middlesex Chamber of Commerce, Sgt. Joseph Kapaczewski, first aired in January 2015 at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: The subject on today's broadcast is a conversation with Jerry Wiles from "Living Waters" ministry. The ministry provides drinkable water in third world countries by drilling and installing water wells in areas where such has not existed before. It airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: Possible elections reforms in Connecticut are the subject of today's broadcast feature Secretary of the State Denise Merrill. Traditional voting machines and reporting protocols are on the verge of replacement by computer based voting systems that automatically submit election results to local or state elections officials. Merrill speaks of the change that would represent. The talk airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

WIHS Journal Promo for the Week of March 23-28, 2015

Monday: Today's topic is a profile of the Heritage Christian School from Brian Modarelli. In a conversation with Anissa Porticelli, the story of this Christian school is laid out for listeners, detailing why such an education is superior academically and spiritually to that gained in the secular public school system. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday: An event for Christian women is highlighted on this broadcast, feature Tami Weissert. The event is entitled, "SOAR Women's Conference" and will be taking place shortly in Connecticut. Weissert explains to Anissa Porticelli that personal growth in faith is the objective of the conference. Details on how to arrange to attend are also given. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Wednesday & Thursday: On today's broadcast, Dr. Eric Conway describes a description of the comprehensive college education a student may obtain at Morgan State University. WIHS staffer Gerry Williams interviews him. A profile of the school is presented and differences resulting in a superior education for the student are outlined as well. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Friday: Today a repeat broadcast of "Deaf Bible" with J-R Bucklew aired, first broadcast earlier this quarter on WIHS Journal. The focus is on sharing the Good News with illustrations someone who doesn't hear can understand and appreciate in the absence of hearing. The broadcast aired at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: An expanded version of "Bulgaria Missions" aired today with guest Dr. Kirel Svilenov that aired earlier this quarter. The conversation focused on sharing Jesus Christ in a country where Orthodox churches predominate who are not receptive to non-Orthodox missions. The mission agency represented is the Haggai Institute. The program aired at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of March 16-21, 2015

Monday: On today broadcast the issue is prayers for those who are persecuted by ISIS and for those who are in ISIS that they be touched and converted to faith in Jesus Christ. Joan Bethany from Focus on the Family speaks with Anissa Porticelli in detail about these concerns and invites listeners to participate in this prayer campaign. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday & Wednesday: On today's broadcast, remarks to National Guard service members being deployed overseas are heard. Another unit of Guard service members is being sent to the Middle East, and they received sendoff remarks from Governor Dannel Malloy, Senator Richard Blumenthal & Major General Thaddeus Martin. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Thursday & Friday: The topic today is mental illness in a conversation entitled, "Living in the Darkness." Gary Lovejoy, Ph.D describes the isolation that patients with mental health live with, not only from friends but often even from family and loved ones. Dr. Lovejoy encourages family & friends to become better informed, both to understand the illness and be more supportive of the patient. The conversation with Paul Kretschmer airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Saturday: The issue on today's broadcast is Human Rights in the country of Burma, also known as Myanmar. Violations of human rights is so serious that the guest is identified on the air only by a first name not his own. He works for the ministry known as, "Partners World." Descriptions of abuse are offered to demonstrate the credibility of the ministry and its reports. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:15 & 5:10pm.

WIHS Journal Promos for the Week of March 30-31, 2015

Monday: On today's broadcast the topic was personal faith in the conversation entitled, "God's Not Dead." Marshall Dunbar explained some of the ways a believer can show that faith is not merely legend or tales but a vibrant way of life rooted in the eternal God of the world. Anissa Porticelli conducts this conversation airing at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.

Tuesday: Today's broadcast focuses on the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead as testified by the Bible. Pastor T-C Brantley from Resurrection Ministries in the Waterbury area explains the story of resurrection, why it matters and how it applies to the 21st century, over two thousand years after it took place. The broadcast airs at 3:15am; also at 12:13 & 5:49pm.