We hope you will consider running the following public service announcement from July 20th through July 24th:

Pioneer day on the 24th of July falls on Thursday. There will be a fireside that evening at 7 p.m. where you will learn about Thomas E. Ricks, the founder of Rexburg. While crossing the plains as a young man he was shot by Indians and left for dead. When his dad went to recover the body, he found him barely alive. He recovered and later became a Cache Valley sheriff, a missionary, explorer, church leader, railroad builder and more. A college was even named after him. The fireside is sponsored by the Sons of the Utah Pioneers and will be at the Rexburg Center Stake building near the fairgrounds. All are invited. Come to the fireside and enjoy the fun pioneer stories about the beginnings of Rexburg presented by Martell Grover, one of Thomas E. Ricks' descendants.
