

3rd QUARTER PROGRAMS AND ISSUES WDUN 2023

In addition to local newscasts at the top and bottom of each hour 24/7, here are some of the local programs aired to address community concerns.

Issue:

Issues before the Gainesville City Council

Addressed:

A 12 minute program

When:

July 10th, 2023 at 9:06a

Description:

Gainesville Mayor Sam Couvillon joined Martha on The Martha Zoller Show to discuss current issues before the Gainesville City Council and to take questions from listeners.

Issue:

National Defense Authorization Act

Addressed:

8-minute program

When:

July 11th, 2023 at 9:15a

Description:

Congressman Buddy Carter joined The Martha Zoller Show to give an update on where the National Defense Authorization Act stands. Georgia has several military bases that are directly affected by defense appropriations.

Issue:

Recreational opportunities in North Georgia.

Addressed:

6 minute program

When:

July 13th, 2023 at 8:10a

Description:

Morgan Winger of at the Lake Lanier Olympic Park joined Bill Maine on Mornings on Maine Street to discuss the upcoming community celebration called "Beach Bash".

.....

Issue:

Fentanyl crisis

Addressed:

11-minute program

When:

July 20th, 2023 at 9:10a

Description:

Senator Jon Ossoff joined Martha Zoller on The Martha Zoller show to discuss the fentanyl crisis in the country. He shared details of a new bill he has introduced to address the issue.

.....

Issue:

Back to school preparedness

Addressed:

7-minute program

When:

August 4th, 2023 at 7:10a

Description:

Hall County Superintendent of Schools Will Schofield joined Mornings on Maine Street to discuss the upcoming school year. It was the first day of the school year and Schofield updated listeners on programs and improvements in the school system.

.....

Issue:

Georgia's Plant Vogtle and its effect on energy production in the state

Addressed:

9-minute program

When:

August 4th, 2023 at 10:06a

Description:

Public Service Commissioner Tim Echols joined The Martha Zoller Show to talk about Georgia's Plant Vogtle coming on line and what that will mean for Georgia's energy supply over the next two decades.

.....

Becky Martin, head of the Knox Martin Foundation, joined Mornings on Maine Street to discuss two upcoming fund raisers. The Knox Martin Foundation is a local nonprofit that raises money to fund research into treatments for brain cancer.