

QUARTERLY REPORT & PROGRAM LISTS FOR WIUP-FM'S
PUBLIC INFORMATION PROGRAMMING
REPORT FOR OCTOBER NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER 2022

This report was prepared by Dr. Zachary Stiegler, Faculty Advisor for WIUP-FM

In the 4th quarter of 2022, WIUP-FM continued to present a varied schedule of both recorded and live public information programming dealing with issues of national, regional and local interest.

WIUP-FM broadcasts the nationally syndicated news and current events program Democracy Now!, Monday through Friday from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Democracy Now! is a national, daily, independent, award-winning news program hosted by award-winning journalists Amy Goodman and Juan Gonzalez. Democracy Now!'s War and Peace Report provides our audience with access to people and perspectives rarely heard in the US corporate-sponsored media, including independent and international journalists, ordinary people from around the world who are directly affected by US foreign policy, grassroots leaders and peace activists, artists, academics and independent analysts.

During a regularly scheduled public information programming hour – (Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. during the fall and spring semesters, 10am-11am during academic breaks) – WIUP presented an array of programs dealing with issues of interest to both the academic and non-academic communities we serve. These include US Politics, (White House Chronicle) regional environmental news (The Allegheny Front), recent publications in literature, scholarship, and nonfiction (The Book Show), media analysis and criticism (Counterspin, The Media Project), issues focusing on women (51%) and LGBTQIA (This Way Out) populations, as well as current research and public affairs (The Best of Our Knowledge, Scholars' Circle). Descriptions of the nature of each program and the topics covered follows in this document.

WIUP-FM broadcasts a minimum of twenty recorded public service announcements per broadcast day. These announcements benefit local, regional and national public service and information organizations and agencies. The complete audio cart listing of all our recorded Public Service Announcements is included within this document.

In addition to recorded public service announcements, WIUP-FM broadcasts twenty live-read announcements per broadcast day. A listing of the agencies and organizations served by these announcements is included within this document.

THE ALLEGHENY FRONT
4th QUARTERLY ISSUES REPORT
October 1 – December 31, 2022

Episode for December 30, 2022

This week, we're looking back to some of the environmental issues we covered in 2022, like hydrogen. It's been seen as the clean fuel of the future for decades. Now the Biden administration is putting money into it. So, is it finally hydrogen's time? We also hear about towns in Pennsylvania trying to get ahead of climate change, extreme weather and flooding. Plus, the author of a new bird guide for enthusiasts and beginners alike.

Episode for December 23, 2022

We revisit some of our favorite stories about nature, food and environmental champions. 2022 was the 60th anniversary of the publication of Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring," a book that questioned the indiscriminate use of synthetic chemicals and became an instant classic. We talk with a poet whose new collection explores the damage people have done to each other and nature. Plus, we look at life along the Delaware River with an angler witnessing a changing landscape.

Episode for December 16, 2022

Lawmakers in Ohio passed a bill to make it easier to frack in state parks, raising fears of pollution and disruption of outdoor recreation. We also follow up on the massive gas leak at a Cambria County storage site where the company failed to clean up oil and gas brine spilled on the ground. Plus, If you don't know a maple tree from an oak, now is a good time to learn.

Episode for December 9, 2022

This week, we take an in-depth look at a first-of-its-kind wind energy project approved for construction in Lake Erie. We discuss why the biggest barrier to more wind projects on the Great Lakes is public opposition. Plus, residents in Dimock, a small town in northeastern Pennsylvania, will finally have clean drinking water after a fracking company pleaded no contest to polluting their private wells more than a decade ago.

Episode for December 2, 2022

A massive leak at a natural gas storage facility in western Pennsylvania raises a lot of questions. We'll also hear about a genetically modified American chestnut tree that can resist a deadly blight that's on track to be deregulated by the federal government. And testing is crucial on farms and at wildlife centers to make sure that birds are not infected with a highly contagious avian flu.

Episode for November 18, 2022

How the $2 billion in tax credit Gov. Wolf just signed into law benefits natural gas. We'll also hear about a solar farm project for the University of Pittsburgh. Plus, Shell's ethane cracker officially opens. And an environmental reporter blows off some steam during a solo hike. We have news about the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative and a fine for a gas company

Episode for November 11, 2022

As climate change brings more risks to traditional farming, farmers are trying to make sure their crops survive. With the COP27 talks underway, the US and other wealthier nations are working to transition countries like South Africa away from fossil fuels. Plus, we visit an urban farm in Pittsburgh that teaches neighbors how to grow and cook seasonal veggies. And, a Philly hiking group is improving women's wellness.

Episode for November 4, 2022

One company is mining Bitcoin to keep two waste coal power plants running. But what's the climate impact? A new report concludes that coal plants aren't doing enough to clean up coal ash disposal sites that are contaminating groundwater. Plus, an urban farmer in Pittsburgh had to overcome big challenges to clean up her property to start her enterprise. We have news about microplastics in Pennsylvania waterways and funding to help coal communities.

Episode for October 28, 2022

Both John Fetterman and Dr. Mehmet Oz used to be in favor of a moratorium on fracking, but now both support it. But do voters care? The Pa. legislature just passed a $2 billion package of tax breaks meant to support the natural gas industry. Plus, as the Clean Water Act turns 50, some of its protections for wetlands and smaller bodies of water could be limited by an upcoming Supreme Court decision.

Episode for October 21, 2022

Voters in one Ohio county are deciding if wind energy will be built in their community, but experts say their views may be colored by misinformation. We'll hear how the Clean Water Act, which just turned 50, revived the Delaware River. Plus, the garden of a refugee community in Pittsburgh helps sustain its own members and the neighborhood where it grows. And, we report that a new rule in Allegheny County didn't stop air pollution from rising this month.

Episode for October 14, 2022

Fifty years ago, parts of the Delaware River stank, and fish couldn't survive in it. We look at how the Clean Water Act helped to revive this dead river. And, we have the first installment of a new series highlighting Black urban farmers growing food to sustain their communities. Plus, a new collection of climate fiction looks forward to a better world for the environment and for people.

Episode for October 7, 2022

We answer your questions about the impact of Shell's ethane cracker on the region's jobs, property values, and of course, air pollution. Meanwhile, the state health department is funding the University of Pittsburgh to study the impacts of fracking on health, but both groups pulled out of a public meeting about the work. We'll also hear about a nature preserve in Wyoming County that's now one of three new Pennsylvania parks.

THE BOOK SHOW
4th QUARTERLY ISSUES REPORT
October 1 – December 31, 2022

DATE	TIME	SHOW #	TOPIC
10/4/2022	30:00	1785	During this month – and for a quartet of programs – we will be celebrating the form of the short story and those who write them. This week - T.C. Boyle, one of our country’s most beloved practitioners of the short story, joins us to discuss his new collection, "I Walk Between the Raindrops" - characterized by Boyle’s trademark biting satire and resonant wit.
10/11/2022	30:00	1786	Filmmaker and author Rebecca Miller returns to short fiction for the first time since “Personal Velocity” with the arresting, darkly prescient collection “Total: Stories.” From Dublin to Martha’s Vineyard, from the anxious comforts of motherhood to a technologically infected near future that mirrors today, each of the seven stories in “Total” is a world of its own.
10/18/2022	30:00	1787	Andrea Barrett, a Pulitzer Prize finalist, is the author of the new book “Natural History: Stories” The collection connects the lives of the family of scientists, teachers and innovators that she has featured in her writing throughout her career.
10/25/2022	30:00	1788	George Saunders is an American great, a writer who continues to astound, evolve and get deeper. His new book, “Liberation Day,” is his first collection of stories since his National Book Award finalist “Tenth of December” was published eight years ago.
11/1/2022	30:00	1789	Pulitzer Prize-finalist and best-selling author Barbara Kingsolver’s new novel, “Demon Copperhead” re-imagines Charles Dicken’s “David Copperfield” set in West Virginian Appalachia at the beginning of the opioid epidemic.
11/8/2022	30:00	1790	John Irving has written some of the most acclaimed books of our time, among them: “The World According to Garp,” “A Widow for One Year,” “A Prayer for Owen Meany” and “The Cider House Rules.” He now returns with his first novel in seven years “The Last Chairlift.”
11/15/2022	30:00	1791	Celeste Ng is the bestselling author of “Little Fires Everywhere.” Her new novel, “Our Missing Hearts,” is about a mother’s unbreakable love in a world consumed by fear. Bird’s mother was a Chinese American poet who disappeared. When Bird is 12, he embarks on a journey to put together the pieces, aided by an underground network of librarians.
11/22/2022	30:00	1792	Jennifer Egan’s new novel, “The Candy House,” is a sibling novel to her Pulitzer-Prize and National Book Critics Circle-winning “A Visit from The Goon Squad.” It asks big questions about the totalizing and flattening effects of digital culture, privacy, and surveillance. It is a place where people can upload their actual memories, and let other people live in theirs.
11/29/2022	30:00	1793	#1 New York Times bestselling author John Grisham returns to Mississippi for his latest legal thriller “The Boys from Biloxi,” The story of two sons of immigrant families who grow up as friends but ultimately find themselves on opposite sides of the law.
12/6/2022	30:00	1794	Sheila Heti is a philosopher of modern experience, and she has reimagined what a book can hold. In her latest, Pure Colour, she presents a contemporary bible, an atlas of feeling, and an absurdly funny guide to the great (and terrible) things about being alive.

12/13/2022	30:00	1795	Booker Prize-winning author John Banville's new novel "Singularities" tells a playful, multilayered story of nostalgia, life and death, and quantum theory.
12/20/2022	30:00	1796	Bestselling author Nick Hornby is an icon in American pop culture and his latest brings his signature wit and appeal to his first nonfiction book in many years, "Dickens and Prince: A Particular Kind of Genius." In it, he studies the cosmic link between these two unlikely creative geniuses.
12/27/2022	30:00	1797	Emily St. John Mandel is the award-winning, best-selling author of "Station Eleven" and "The Glass Hotel" She returns with a novel of art, time, love, and plague that takes the reader from Vancouver Island in 1912 to a dark colony on the moon 500-years later, unfurling a story of humanity across centuries and space. Her new book is "Sea of Tranquility."

Brian Mier on Lula Election Victory

It’s hard not to imagine the use that a differently focused press corps might make of Brazil’s change of direction.

November 11, 2022

Gene Slater on Housing Crisis, Rakeen Mabud on Inflation Coverage

The affordable housing crisis is not just capitalism run amok, because that doesn't happen without government involvement.

November 4, 2022

Jake Johnston on Haiti Intervention, Jeannie Park on Harvard Affirmative Action

US news media ignore the role US intervention has played throughout Haitian history in order to push for the same sort of intervention again.

October 28, 2022

Noelle Hanrahan on Mumia Abu-Jamal Update

Overt, proud-of-it bias has shaped coverage of Mumia Abu-Jamal's case from the outset, and current mentions suggest little has changed.

October 21, 2022

Julie Hollar and Jim Naureckas on 2022 Midterms

Election coverage should be judged not by how reporters "treat" Democrats or Republicans, but about how they inform and engage the public.

October 14, 2022

Ahmad Abuznaid on Israeli Human Rights Crackdown, Sohale Mortazavi on Cryptocurrency

Growing numbers of people have concerns, not just about uncritical US support for Israel, but also about the shutdown of critics.

October 7, 2022

John Logan on Amazon & Starbucks Organizing

With tens of thousands of workers walking out around the country, the notion that this is somehow not meaningful should be hard to maintain.

This Way Out Radio Episode #1813: The Queerest News of 2022 (Pt.1)

Feature: In Part One of This Way Out's review of some of the queerest news of 2022, we remember attacks in Republican-controlled U.S. state legislatures against LGBTQ youth, especially transgender young people; the murderous shooting at Colorado Spring's Club Q; the queer angle on the year's most reported story, Russia's unprovoked war on Ukraine; and the almost year-long arrest and detention in Russia of WNBA All-Star Brittney Griner; with humor along the way provided by TV satirists John Oliver and Jon Stewart, and from the homoerotic relationship between Skyfall characters and actors Daniel "James Bond" Craig and Javier "Raoul Silva" Bardem (reported by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, JOHN DYER V, ELENA BOTKIN-LEVY, DAVID HUNT, MARCOS NAJERA and TANYA KANE-PARRY; special thanks to REECE JACKSON-WHITTAKER; music FROM MELISSA ETHERIDGE, STEPHEN STILLS, ANNA NETREBKO and THE METROPOLITAN OPERA, and the James Bond Theme conducted By JOHN BARRY).

Dec 20, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1812: DOMA to Respect & "Zeesn Christmas"

The marriage equality decade in the U.S. has come full-circle from the December 2012 Supreme Court hearings on California's Proposition 8 and the federal Defense of Marriage Act to the signing of the Respect for Marriage Act on December 13. A flashback to the Supreme Court's first foray into LGBTQ marriage equality sets the stage for signing the bill that spells DOMA's demise.

Dec 13, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1811: SCOTUS Hears Wedded Bias & The Scarlet Coast

As the U.S. Supreme Court considers a complaint about the right to refuse services for same-gender weddings, Justices Sonia Sotomayor, Katanji Brown Jackson and Elena Kagan examine the dangerous implications, while Justices Clarence Thomas, Samuel Alito and Neil Gorsuch conjure false equivalencies in questioning Colorado Solicitor General Eric Olson and plaintiff attorney Kristen Waggoner; analysis of the case provided by MSNBC's Chris Hayes and GayUSA's Ann Northrop and Andy Humm. gayusatv.org

Dec 6, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1810: U.S. Senate Says "I Do" & Club Q Rocks Queer Youth

The Respect for Marriage Act passes the U.S. Senate with a bipartisan majority after adopting a "religious freedom" amendment debated by Senators Tammy Baldwin, Mike Lee, Cynthia Lummis and Chuck Schumer (our report also features commentary by James Obergefell and GayUSA's Andy Humm and Ann Northrop). The queer youth commentators of OutCasting Overtime reflect on living under the shadow of anti-LGBTQ hate violence (produced by Marc Sophos).

Nov 29, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode # 1809: Capote's "One Christmas" - James Gavin

Truman Capote's autobiographical short story of the season is read by James Gavin, author of the recently released "George Michael: A Life" (recorded for our 2020 Global Queer Read-IN).

Plus: an update on the Club Q mass shooting in Colorado Springs, Colorado. (Our full NewsWrap segment returns after the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday break.)

Nov 22, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1808: U.S. Marriage Respect & AUS Marriage Recalled

The Respect for Marriage Act, introduced by lesbian Senator Tammy Baldwin (D-WI), championed by Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer, passes the U.S. Senate with the support of Republican Senators Susan Collins (ME) and Rob Portman (OH). The amended bill will return to the House, where Senator Dick Durban (D-IL) thinks the bipartisan bill will succeed.

Following a rancorous public survey, the Australian Senate made marriage equality the law five years ago this week. Our coverage of the debate featured Senators Sarah Hansen-Young, George Brandis, Dean Smith and Penny Wong (reported by Sydney correspondent Barry McKay).

Late-breaking bulletin: A mass shooting at a Colorado Springs, Colorado LGBTQ+ bar kills five before the attacker is brought down by patrons.

Nov 15, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1807: U.S. Midterm LGBTQ Report

In a highly polarized political atmosphere and democracy itself in the balance, successful LGBTQ candidates scored a record number of "firsts" as part of a progressive surprise with huge implications for the country and the movement.

Nov 8, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode # 1806: The Big Lie & Early RuPaul

Feature: From Save Our Children to Don't Say Gay, conservative politicians have tried to hide their trans- and homophobia's behind protection of the young — protection from what, exactly? As this month's OutCasting Overtime reveals, their efforts don't protect queer kids from the damage of living a lie, the kind of damage that's most poignant as the holidays – and family gatherings – approach (OutCaster JAMIE intro's OutCaster BRIANNA, produced by MARC SOPHOS, with TWO-added intro music by THE THOMPSON TWINS).

Feature: These days it's all the rage for whacked-out far-right radicals to attack family-oriented drag shows — sometimes even violently. It may seem like a strange place to be in 2022, especially so long after RuPaul's Drag Race became a family fan favorite on TV. RuPaul has been challenging norms for even longer than that. Two years before Drag Race debuted in 2009, Mama Ru stepped off the runway to chat with This Way Out correspondent Dixie Treichel about the life that would eventually lead to international fame (with music from the Starrbooty soundtrack).

This Way Out Radio Episode #1805: Leslie Jordan Tribute

Comedic actor Leslie Jordan is gone too soon, leaving behind a legacy of humor and humanity from Will & Grace to Call Me Kat. Relive some favorite laughs, and hear his tales of the Sordid Lives he lived on screen — and some “sordid lives” in gay Hollywood then and now (interviewed by Chris Wilson, Abby Dees and Rosie Wilby).

Oct 25, 2022

This Way Out Episode #1804: "Paul for Pete"

One bite from the Buttigieg bug, and author Paul Mason Barnes turned into “Paul for Pete: Politics. Theatre. Life. One Man’s Adventures (Or, How I Became A Septuagenarian Fanboy) — and his election activism didn’t stop there (interviewed by Eric Jansen of Out in the Bay Radio and Podcast).

Oct 18, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode 1803: "8"

A timely rebroadcast of excerpts from Oscar-winner Dustin Lance Black’s play based on the transcripts of the 2010 trial that overturned California’s Proposition 8, the initiative that banned marriage equality in the state, starring John C. Reilly, George Takei, George Clooney, Kevin Bacon and Brad Pitt as Judge Vaughn Walker. (Los Angeles Theater Works latw.org)

Plus: White House Press Secretary Karine Jean-Pierre shares her rainbow flare on National Coming Out Day!

Oct 11, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1802: Cheney’s Lesbian “Sisters” & Cartoonish Out-Comings

Before Representative Liz Cheney took on Trumpism, even before her dad was playing President Bush’s Darth Vader, her novelist mom dreamed of pioneering queer “Sisters” (read by Cindy Friedman).

Before Scooby-Doo’s Velma Dinkley came out of the closet, televangelistic gaydar zeroed in on the Teletubbies’ Tinky Winky (featuring Cindy Friedman and Leo Garcia).

Before the Springfield, Missouri City Council was to vote on anti-discrimination protections for LGBTQ people in October 2012, the Brentwood Christian Church’s Reverend Phil Snider gave a shocking testimony.

Plus lesbian-feminist poet-activist Pat Parker performs “For the Straight Folks Who Don’t Mind Gays (But Wish They Wouldn’t Be So Blatant).”

Oct 4, 2022

This Way Out Radio Episode #1801: Masculine Privilege & Iran Redux

A trans masculine teen from OutCasting Overtime discovers that people are a lot nicer when they think you’re a guy (a commentary by Declan, produced by Marc Sophos).

Recalling former Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad’s infamous 2007 visit to New York for the U.N. General Assembly shows that the Islamic regime hasn’t changed much in the intervening 15 years.

4th QUARTERLY ISSUES REPORT
October 1 – December 31, 2022

DATE	TIME	SHOW #	TOPICS
10/5/2022	30:00	1733	On this week's 51%, we sit down with authors Shanterra McBride and Rosalind Wiseman about how to be a better ally, and tackle the tough questions asked in their new book "Courageous Discomfort: How to Have Important, Brave, Life-Changing Conversations About Race and Racism."
10/12/2022	30:00	1734	On this week's 51%, we recognize Breast Cancer Awareness Month and sit down with Dr. Lisa Curcio, director of breast surgery at Northern Dutchess Hospital with Nuvance Health, to learn how to manage our risks, identify symptoms early, and navigate treatment.
10/19/2022	30:00	1735	On the latest 51%, we tune into the induction ceremony for the latest class of the National Women's Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls, New York. We also sit down with bestselling history author Katie Hickman to discuss her new book Brave Hearted: The Women of the American West.
10/26/2022	30:00	1736	Happy Halloween! On this week's 51%, we get in the spooky spirit and swap ghost stories with Leanna Renee Hieber and Andrea Janes, authors of "A Haunted History of Invisible Women." From Lizzie Borden and Sarah Winchester to the victims of the Triangle Shirtwaist Factory fire, Janes and Hieber analyze why women are so prominent in America's "ghostlore" – and what it says about us.
11/2/2022	30:00	1737	On this week's 51%, we recognize Veterans Day and sit down with award-winning journalist Suzanne Gordon to discuss her new book "Our Veterans," examining the veteran experience and how we can better support our servicemen and women.
11/9/2022	30:00	1738	The federal government has approved billions of dollars in incentives for infrastructure and chip-manufacturing projects across the country. On this week's 51%, we speak with U.S. Commerce Secretary Gina Raimondo about how she hopes to use that funding to advance women in STEM and the trades.
11/16/2022	30:00	1739	On this week's 51%, we speak with sociologists Amanda Freeman and Lisa Dodson about their new book "Getting Me Cheap: How Low-Wage Work Traps Women and Girls in Poverty." With hundreds of interviews and years of field work to pull from, Freeman and Dodson depict how women support some of America's most essential, but lowest-paying, industries – all while struggling to make ends meet for their own families.
11/23/2022	30:00	1740	On this week's 51%, activist Laura Kaplan discusses her 1995 book The Story of Jane: The Legendary Underground Feminist Abortion Service, and reflects on its relevance today. Kaplan herself was a member of Chicago's Jane Collective, an underground organization that helped women attain abortions in the years leading up to the Supreme Court's decision on Roe v. Wade.
11/30/2022	30:00	1741	On this week's 51%, we sit down with Grammy Award-winning singer-songwriter Ani DiFranco to celebrate the 25th anniversary of her seminal live album Living in Clip. DiFranco reflects on a career spanning over 20 records and decades of activism on multiple fronts, and shares her insight on the music industry today.

12/7/2022	30:00	1742	On this week's 51%, we take a trip to New York's Hudson Valley and explore the rediscovered artwork of Caroline Clowes, one of the region's first professional female artists from the 19th Century. We also sit down with author Libby Sternberg to discuss her new book, Daisy, a retelling of The Great Gatsby from the perspective of its iconic golden girl.
12/14/2022	30:00	1743	'Tis the season for holiday cooking! On this week's 51%, we speak with Jennifer Clair, founder of the culinary school Home Cooking New York, for some of her favorite holiday meals and preparation tips.
12/21/2022	30:00	1744	For all its tidings of comfort and joy, the holiday season is a difficult time for some. On this week's 51%, we take a look at some ways to combat loneliness this time of year, and therapist Keli Rugenstein shares how parents of estranged adult children can find peace.
12/28/2022	30:00	1745	On this week's 51%, we look back at some of our biggest stories and favorite conversations of 2022.

Scholar's Circle
4th QUARTERLY ISSUES REPORT
October 1 – December 31, 2022

Scholars' Circle – Story of Christmas Truce during WWI in 1914 ; Science of Compassion, a sense of humanity – December 25, 2022

Why did soldiers on the front line (in Flanders on 1914) of one of the deadliest wars lay down their arms and play soccer with the very men they were supposed to shoot?

We'll revisit the Christmas truce of 1914 with Stanley Weintraub, author of, Silent Night: The Story of the World War I Christmas Truce. [dur: 23 mins.]

Then, on the Scholars' panel, we explore the Science of Compassion. What is it and how does it impact society? Can we learn to be compassionate? [dur: 35mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Housing First with Social Services Support to address Homelessness in America – December 18, 2022

Over a half million Americans are currently homeless. What is causing this crisis? And what are the solutions? How do we get the resources to build the housing we need to address the homelessness crisis? We discuss why services to address mental health and addiction are essential to resolving the homelessness crisis. [dur: 58mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Executive powers use and abuse of the “Deep State” – December 4, 2022

Donald Trump versus the “Deep State.” A new book examines this political struggle and the tension between the Presidency and the Administrative State. We explore the implications of this struggle with the authors of Phantoms of a Beleaguered Republic: Deep State and the Unitary Executive. Hosted by Doug Becker. [dur: 58mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Deep Listening to Sounds of Nature; Actual History in American Thanksgiving Story – November 27, 2022

How does deep listening to nature promote biodiversity and a deeper relationship with the natural world?

The American Thanksgiving story is one of cooperation and coexistence between white European settlers and the native peoples. But the real story is much darker. How does this Thanksgiving narrative get the history wrong?

We discuss the history, the memory, and the meaning of Thanksgiving in the contemporary relationship between the United States and Indigenous people. [dur: 24mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Financing US Political Campaigns by Super Rich ; Civil War by Other Means, unresolved politics continues today – November 20, 2022

Americans in polls consistently cite the nature of campaign financing as perhaps the greatest threat to democracy. And increasingly, candidates self-finance. In the LA Mayor's race alone, billionaire developer Rick Caruso spent at least $100 million of his own fortune. What legal issues does this sort of financing raise? What does it mean for candidate quality? In what ways does it challenge and potentially undermine democracy? [dur: 28 mins.]

While the US Civil War ended slavery, it didn't end the political issues that caused the war. What exactly happened in the immediate aftermath of the war?

The political divide in the US from the Civil War persists today. We discuss the history of the period and its impact on contemporary politics with the author of the new book by Jeremi Suri, Civil War by Other Means: America's Long and Unfinished Fight For Democracy . [dur: 30 mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Voter Suppression acts on marginalized communities ; In the name of Majoritarian democracy – November 13, 2022

Since 2020 many states have passed legislation, making it more difficult to vote. Fears of voter suppression in the disenfranchisement of marginalized communities proliferated the 2022 midterms. But were these fears realized? [dur: 42mins.]

When does democracy have a dark side? Our guest says that majorities can and do oppress minorities in the name of majoritarian democracy. [dur: 16mins.]

On this post election week, from our archives we bring you this discussion on the dark side of democracy.

Scholars' Circle – Lula's election win in Brazil ; Ableism invoked upon Pennsylvania Senate candidate – November 6, 2022

Brazil's election of Lula da Silva over Bolsonaro has provided hope that the country will retain its democratic institutions. We discuss the elections and the likely policy changes. [dur: 38mins.]

The campaign of John Fetterman for a Senate seat from Pennsylvania has produced some truly disturbing ableist discourses about the qualifications of persons with disabilities for public service. How is this ableist narrative framing the rights and abilities of persons with disabilities in the United States? What does this mean for persons with disabilities and their capabilities as elected officials? We explore this debate. [dur: 20mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Biography of Judge Frank M. Coffin ; History of 3rd party politics in US – October 30, 2022

Some say that we have entered a new era in Supreme Court jurisprudence in the wake of the Court's recent Dobbs decision, reversing nearly 50 years of law recognizing a woman's right to choose, and that this has ushered in a far more confrontational and political court.

But are both political and legal considerations baked into America's judiciary by design? We speak with the author of a new biography of former First Circuit Court of Appeals Chief Judge, Frank M. Coffin, a former member of congress, former USAID official and jurist renowned for his deep understanding of the politics of judging but was able to do so in a manner that privileged comity, cooperation and respect, even in times of profound political disagreement. Hosted by Tim Fadgen. [dur: 23mins.]

On this election week, we bring you from our archives this panel discussion on third parties in the United States.

Throughout US history third parties have had a profound impact on policy, governance and voter turnout. So why are we still in a two-party system? [dur: 35min.]

This interview was first broadcast in July 2017.

Scholars' Circle – Comments from Latino LA city council members threaten years of Black-Latino Coalition ; Many ways privatization is an attack on civil service roles in the government – October 23, 2022

Los Angeles is embroiled in a city governance crisis, due to leaked audio highlighting the racism of elected city council members. It has demonstrated that race is still a fundamental problem in the city. We explore race in Los Angeles. Hosted by Doug Becker. [dur: 34mins.]

Privatization may undermine safeguards of our constitutional republic. How does privatization amount to what our guest calls a Constitutional Coup? Hosted by Maria Armoudian. [dur: 24mins.]

This interview was first broadcast July 2018.

Scholars' Circle – Dark Money in Politics keeps Voters in the Dark – October 16, 2022

Money can distort politics. And the lack of transparency where this money comes from can further distort politics and invite corruption. Since much of the money in campaign finance is not subject to transparency laws, it has taken the name dark money. This specifically references spending by nonprofit organizations created for political spending. How much has dark money skewed American democracy? What role does transparency in spending play in ensuring the legitimacy of democracies? [dur: 58mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Brazil Presidential Election – October 9, 2022

Brazil is in the midst of Presidential elections. They reveal the partisanship of the nation, with the current right wing President Jair Bolsonaro trailing the former left wing President Lula after the first round. We will examine what the top issues are, what's at stake, and whether Brazil could face political violence or even an overthrow of the democracy with partisan stakes not dissimilar to the United States. How difficult it might be for Lula to govern if he does, in fact, win? If Bolsonaro loses, does he leave the presidency? What is the future of Amazonian deforestation? [dur: 58mins.]

Scholars' Circle – Conflict Resolution in Post Communist Eurasia and Power of ideas to shape Nation States – October 2, 2022

Regions have the resilience to manage conflicts and ensure they do not spread to other countries. Our guest Anna Ohanyan examines the factors that help build this resilience. She is the author of The Neighborhood Effect: The Imperial Roots of Regional Fracture in Post-Communist Eurasia. [dur: 30mins.]

Then, our panel looks at the power of ideas to shape countries, foreign policies, international power structures and the world. [dur: 28mins.]
