Governor Hutchinson will begin the day with a prayer service at the Mosaic Templars Cultural Center at 8:30. That will be followed by taking the oath of office at 10:30, then delivering his inaugural address from the steps of the state Capitol at noon. An open-to-the-public reception will be held inside the Capitol immediately after his address. At 1:30 the Democratic Party of Arkansas plans to deliver a vision for their party's legislative goals from the Old Supreme Court room in the Capitol. Governor Hutchinson's Inaugural Ball takes place in the evening, but the black-tie event is sold out.
