

Winter Weather 1

MEH

1/17 (Thurs PM & Fri AM)

Arctic air is forecast to move into Arkansas this weekend bringing colder weather and snowfall to northern parts of the state. Meteorologist Jeff Hood with the National Weather Service says temperatures will begin dropping Saturday.

News15 0:17 "...the Missouri border."

In the Little Rock area, he says there might be some snow flurries, but no accumulation. Temperatures will be warmer by Monday.

Winter Weather 2

MEH

1/17 (Thurs PM & Fri AM)

A storm system Friday night is forecast to be followed Saturday by much colder arctic air and much of Arkansas could see some snowfall. National Weather Service Meteorologist Jeff Hood says areas along the northern border of the state are expected to get one to two inches of snowfall, while in the Little Rock area...

News16 0:20 "...to lower 20s."

Warmer temperatures are expected to return by Monday.