Monday: The issue on this broadcast was a ministry to Generation Z young people who are looking for answers among the many questions about life they have. The guest was the Reverend Peter O'Neill of Waterbury who has advanced a ministry known as Pray Z. The host was Anissa Porticelli.

Tuesday: The issue on this broadcast was a profile on the World Vision Christian humanitarian ministry and the work providing aid to that ministry from the greater Hartford area. Tim Reeves from the Hartford area provided an introduction to World Vision and how residents in Connecticut can contribute to the ministry. The host was Steve Tuzeneu.

Wednesday & Thursday: The issue on these two broadcasts was drawing members of the Christian community to share the Gospel with friends, neighbors and family in the life of the everyday. The guest was David Rozendal, who has spent some time developing a template that can be applied in most any area. The host was Paul Kretschmer.

Friday: The issue on this broadcast was human trafficking, which is more widespread within the state of Connecticut and elsewhere than casual observation would indicate. Reporter John DiGirolamo reports for the Winter Haven Times in Florida and has found evidence that what goes on in Florida also goes on elsewhere. The host was Paul Kretschmer.

Saturday: The issue on this broadcast was how a man learned how to handle a forge, became an expert in metalworking and transitioned from a ministry with Child Evangelism Fellowship to one that uses hands on work making things to illustrate the Gospel. The host was Gerry Williams.
